Band Uniform Fund Raising Contest Now On

Dec. 20 is a red letter day in Roseburg.

It marks the end of the month-long drive now under way to raise money to buy new uniforms for Roseburg High School band members.

Prize in the fund-raising contest, conducted by Band Booster and Indian Club members, is a foreign-made car. It will be presented to the winner the night of the 30th at the half time of the basketball game which pits the Harlem Clowns against a local all-star exhibition game.

The drive to outfit the band members is one involving adults alone. They hope to boost the $2,300 on hand to $6,000. That is the amount estimated necessary to purchase 100 uniforms. The uniform price is $60 each.

The car to be awarded will be on display in downtown Roseburg, according to Indian Club Secretary-Treasurer Bill Garrison. He added that the band uniform design and color would be selected later this month by students and adults.

Garrison was enthusiastic about the success of the uniform campaign. He pointed out that about 2 1/2 weeks remained before the Dec. 30 target date and said everyone was eligible to enter the event.

Dixon-Yates Group Sues Government For $3,534,778

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Dixon-Yates power group Tuesday sued the government for $3,534,778 for expenses in connection with the now-cancelled contract for a private power plant in the Tennessee Valley Authority area.

The suit was filed by the Mississippi Valley Generating Co. in the U.S. Court of Claims.

E. H. Dixon, president of Mississippi Valley Generating, said in a statement:

"We commenced this litigation with every confidence in its result."

Dixon also is president of Middle South Utilities Inc. which together with the Southern Co. set up Mississippi Valley Generating to build a 107 million dollar generating plant at West Memphis, Ark.

The purpose was to supply power to the TVA system to replace power used elsewhere by the Atomic Energy Commission. The retroactive contract was cancelled last summer and on Nov. 23 the Atomic Energy Commission announced it would not pay Mississippi Valley Generating for money already expended.

AEC, in taking this stand, said Adolphe H. Wenzel "while having a conflict of private interest, acted as one of the principal advisers to the government in the negotiation of the contract."

Wenzel, New York investment banker, acted as a Budget Bureau consultant. Democratic critics of the Dixon-Yates contract he contended play a dual role. His firm, the First Boston Corp., later served Dixon-Yates as financial agent.

Miss Hayworth was granted a divorce from singer Haymes Monday by a Roman court.

Miss Hayworth arrived here early in October with her two daughters, Rebecca and Yasmin. Yasmin since then, has lived with her father, Aly Khan. Miss Hayworth's former husband.

Witness Credits Col. Liles With Saving His Life

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (AP) — "I feel Col. Liles was responsible for saving my life by persuading the Koreans to take me from the caves."

An Army court Monday heard this testimony from an Air Force veteran called as a defense witness at the court martial of Lt. Col. Paul V. Liles, 39-year-old Birmingham, Ala., career soldier, being tried on charges he collaborated with the Communists while a prisoner of war in North Korea.

William R. Hanneman, now a Donners Grove, Ill., salesman, was one of seven defense witnesses who testified Monday.

Hanneman told the court he was shot down while on a bombing mission over North Korea and after spending 20 days in a 5x10 hole at Pyangyang was moved to a cave near Pyangyang where other prisoners of war were held.

Most of the prisoners were ill, he said. The caves were damp and lacked food, water and medical facilities.

Hanneman said Liles finally persuaded the Communists to move him from the caves to a POW camp where prisoners were quartered in buildings. The transfer saved his life, the witness told the court. He said all but one of the POWs left in the cave died.

Color Television Station Scheduled For Portland

PORTLAND (AP) — Purchase of one million dollars worth of equipment for a new color television station in Portland was announced Monday by Gordon Orput, president of North Pacific Television Co., Portland.

The plans also include merger of North Pacific—owned by KING Broadcasting Co., Seattle, and a group of Portland businessmen—and Pioneer Broadcasters Inc., operator of Portland radio station KGW.

North Pacific would be the surviving and controlling corporation. Present shareholders in both companies would continue as shareholders in the new firm, Orput said.

The two firms have filed application with the Federal Communications Commission asking approval of the merger.

The new station, which would operate on channel 8, should be completed before July, 1956, Orput said. It would be Portland's fourth television station.

Committee Can Employ Bureau To Make Study

The interim committee will pay the bureau $3,500 for the study.

In other opinions, Thornton ruled that the Oregon National Guard cannot engage the services of an architectural firm which has an employee who is an officer in the guard.
