

College, Pro Teams Shop For Coaches

By JOHN CHANDLER
Of The Associated Press

Northwestern University and the Philadelphia Eagles were shopping around today for head football coaches after a fresh round of hiring and firing in both college and professional ranks.

Getting the ax at Northwestern was Lou Saban, along with four assistants, while the pro Eagles handed walking papers to Jim Trimble and three aides, Kenneth (Jack) Mollenkopf, Purdue line coach, was promoted to head coach.

At the same time Maryland's Jim Tatum said that reports that he would leave College Park were getting to be a "damned joke."

Tatum has been mentioned as successor to Trimble, and another report had the Maryland head coach going to North Carolina to replace George Barclay.

Stu Holcomb, who left his job four days ago as Purdue University head coach to become athletic director at Northwestern, fired Saban, 34, on the first day in his new job yesterday.

Also released were line coaches Bud Svendsen and Nathan Johnson, end coach George Steinbrunner and backfield coach Al Pesek.

"I feel that it is in the best interests of the athletic department that we make a change in our football coaching staff and that the new coach be free to name his own staff," Holcomb said.

Northwestern, for the first time in history, failed to win a football game this season, but tied Illinois 7-7 in the final game.

Among those mentioned as successors to Saban were coaches Dal Ward of the University of Colorado and Ara Parseghian of Miami (Ohio) University.

Mollenkopf, 50, was a star end at Bowling Green (Ohio), and came to Purdue in 1947 with Holcomb.

Trimble, 37, said he was "stunned" at the action of the Philadelphia front office, although he had read recent reports that he would be fired.

"I can say with all honesty that I have worked harder in this past football season than at any other time in my coaching career," he said.

The Eagles won four games, lost seven and had one tie in the National Football League this year.

TAKES BABE'S PLACE
NEW YORK — Johnny Podres has taken Babe Ruth's place as the second youngest southpaw to pitch a World Series shutout.

A check of the records shows that Bill (Lefty) James of the 1914 Miracle Braves of Boston was 22 years, 7 months when he beat the Athletics with a two-hitter, 1-0.

Podres was 23 years, 4 days when he blanked the Yankees, 2-0, with eight hits in the deciding game of the 1955 Series. Ruth, baseball's home run king, was 23 years, 7 months when he shut out the Cubs for the Red Sox, 1-0, on six hits in the 1915 Series opener.

Waite Hoyt, born in Brooklyn but a pitching star for the Yankees, is the youngest right hander to hurl a Series shutout. He was 22 years, 1 month in 1921 when he pitched a two-hitter to beat the Giants in the Polo Grounds, 3-0.

DOGONE GOOD
MIAMI, Fla. — Florida looks for a record winter season if the season's first pari-mutuel wagering is any criterion.

The first night of greyhound racing attracted 12,380 patrons who wagered $302,064 on the program, a new state record for one night of betting on the dogs.

The admission price was hiked from 25 to 50 cents this season.

San Francisco Again Picked Nation's Best

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The University of San Francisco Dons head eastward tomorrow for the national No. 1 college basketball team.

In the first regular season poll of The Associated Press, San Francisco grabbed 60 first-place ballots and on the basis of 10 for first, 9 for second, etc., rolled up 910 points.

A total of 100 sports writers and sportscasters turned in ballots, and although North Carolina State received only four firsts, the Wolf-pack got heavy support to take over second place with 640 points.

N.C. State displaced Kentucky, second in the preseason balloting. Kentucky, which was defeated by Temple Saturday 73-61, skidded from second to No. 12, while Temple moved into the No. 11 spot.

San Francisco, easy winner of three straight, and boasting a victory string of 29 games in a row, won the NCAA championship last season, and was voted the nation's No. 1 college team. The Dons fly to Chicago tomorrow and meet unbeaten Marquette Friday in the DePaul Invitation Tournament. Duquesne, No. 6 in this week's poll, plays DePaul Friday. The two winners meet for the championship Saturday.

Utah, winner of two games from Arizona, moved from fifth in the preseason calculations to third place this week.

DOUBLE TROUBLE
ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo. — Everett (Skeeter) Diehl, 14, suffered both bullet and buckshot wounds in the leg when accidentally shot by a 30-30 rifle bullet.

Diehl was mistaken for a deer by a member of his hunting party. The high powered rifle bullet struck a 410 shotgun shell in the youth's pocket and exploded it.

PLEASE DON'T SHOOT
OGALLALA, Neb. — Jack Lanigan, hearing a rustling along the wall of his hardware store, discovered a live hen pheasant crouched in an open cabinet among the shotgun shells.

The bird had flown in from the country where pheasant shooting was in full swing and sought refuge where the shells were the thickest.

FOREWARNED
ESCANABA, Mich. — A three-point buck leaped 30 feet to its death through a door of the post office at nearby Masonville. No one could explain the incident—except that it happened on the eve of the bow and arrow deer hunting season.

UCLA Bruins Working Hard For Roses Battle
LOS ANGELES — The Bruins of UCLA are hard at it for the Rose Bowl game against Michigan State.

They crammed a lot into two hours Monday, sharpening up their own offense, running some new stuff Coach Red Sanders has cooked up for the Big Ten representative, and defending against MSC plays.

The defense was geared to the type of attack Michigan State showed against Michigan and Notre Dame. The Bruins obtained films of these games from the Spartans and gave MSC pictures of their games against Stanford and Southern California.

Shaw Home, Expects To Play Next Year

He said that he isn't scheduled for military service until after February, 1957. As expected, he plans to play football again next year but said he hasn't made up his mind about playing professional baseball next summer.

He was accompanied by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Shaw, who saw him play professionally for the first time at San Francisco Sunday.

End Of A Dream: Lulu Perez Quits

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK — There was a day when Lulu Perez dreamed of becoming featherweight champion of the world. Monday night he stood in a shower with head hung low and announced his retirement from the ring.

"Everybody tells me it's time to quit," said the 22-year-old Brooklyn youngster after his 42nd fight. He had taken a bad beating from Italian Paolo Rosi, losing a unanimous decision in 10 rounds at St. Nicholas Arena.

"Everybody tells me," he continued. "What do you think? guess it's time. I could get hurt. No use going on. Where does it lead?"

In the dressing room, his manager, Andy Gregory, was telling reporters that it was "the kid's last fight."

"He just hasn't got it anymore," said Gregory. "This is the end of the trail. I've got him under contract and he'll never fight again."

Dr. Alexander Schiff of the New York State Athletic Commission seconded the motion. He said he would so recommend in his report.

For a "Kid" only 22, Perez has run through quite a career. A little over a year ago, in June of 1954, he was heading for a shot at champion Sandy Saddler, but was knocked out by Percy Bassett. Only last January he lost another elimination bout for a promised title bout, dropping a decision to Carmelo Costa.

Starting in October, Perez moved into the lightweight division, winning one, losing to Johnny Gonzalez in Madison Square Garden and now losing to Rossi, a man the commission wouldn't approve as a Dec. 23 opponent for Frankie Ryan.

Perez wasn't on the floor Monday night but he was rocked and hurt on three different occasions. The punches he used to duck were hitting him on the chin. The punches he used to land were cutting only the air or landing on gloves.

And that is the story of Lulu Perez—washed up as a fighter at the age of 22.

When Nashua won Hialeah's 1955 Flamingo Stakes it started him on his way to a record—seven $100,000 victories in one year.
