Palo Alto Entry Best Show Dog

A black cocker spaniel, Champion Gail's Ebony Dan D, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Roy O. Nelson of Palo Alto, Calif., was adjudged best in show dog at the Umpqua Kennel Club's first point show held Sunday at the County Fairgrounds.

The winner was selected over five other group winners in the finals after he had made the best showing in the sporting group. Derek G. Rayne of Carmel, Calif., judged the finals.

Group championships were won by dogs from both in and out of Oregon. There were two winners from Springfield and one from Tigard. Three other group titles went to California, Washington and British Columbia entries.

Other group winners included the following: Champion Mattie's Quercus CD, was judged best among the hound breeds and owned by Mrs. Evelyn L. Bassett of Woodinville, Wash.

American and Canadian Champion Charbeneau's Pretty Boy, owned by A. H. Campbell of Port Coquitlam, B.C., Canada, judged winner in the working breeds group.

Winner of group four (Terrier Breeds) was an airedale terrier, Hilltop Happy Jack, owned by Walter C. Hammon of Springfield.

The toy breeds title was won by a pekingese, Champion Le-Ta's 1-Ku, owned by Ruth Springer and Doris Johnston of Tigard.

A second group winner from Springfield was Champion Lowes Oregon Delegate, winner in the non-sporting group. He is owned by Fred and Lois Leve.

College of Idaho goes to Williamette Monday night for its third game in four nights and with the Northwest Conference basketball lead at stake.

An upset by Willamette would boost Linfield to the top—providing Linfield can overcome last-place Whitman in a game at McMinnville.

Linfield twice knocked over College of Idaho last weekend, 89-51 on Friday and 75-64 Saturday, to move within a half-game of the defending champions.

NO HELP, PLEASE!—Guard Al Perry (20) of the Washington State Cougars seems to be having trouble dribbling the ball, what with Tony Psaltis (12) of Southern California reaching over and holding his arm in game at Los Angeles. Other USC players are Larry Hauser (31), Ken Pearson (26), No. 10 is Bruce Olson of the Cougars. USC defeated Washington State, 76-55. (AP)

Considerable elation developed locally following some noteworthy accomplishments at the State Tournament last weekend.

The biggest splash was when Parley Dilworth zoomed into first place in Class C singles with a classical 6-9. (Remember, that's a scratch score.) His lines were 221-221-207, a very consistent effort.

DILLY went through the entire set without an open frame, which in itself, is one for the book. He also wound up "which in the money" in All Events with a competent 1585. All this followed a "9-3 scratch —687 gross in the Albany "3-Game Classic," on the way up to the City of Roses. This latter set included a 276 line — (scratch), with 9-in-a-row.

John Bell also hit a 654 gross at Albany. While Al Fish landed in third in "B" All Events, right behind Adam Hipp, who was still in second. Al and Doyl Pressnall were temporarily in 12th in "B" Doubles too. Another ex-Roseburger is making a fine showing, our old friend Bob Hagedorn. So the "Big Ten's" are finally showing up some Roseburg athletes.

NO LOCAL TEAMS this week, but next week, Feb. 18, will see the Hardtoppers, Ken Bailey's Insurance, Roseburg Alleys, and United Reds make their bids. The first girls' tennis will roll at McMinnville Feb. 25, when Roy O. Young Insurance, Emery Foley, Hanley & Post, McKay Drugs, and Sun Studs will address the maples.

Jones Insurance of Myrtle Creek is sporting a nifty lead in the girls loop, with a 14-12 record for second spot developing. Nita Nichols showed the way last Tuesday night with a 262 line, and Del Mix had a swell 540 series. Joan Cornutt and Sylvia Anderson had identical 503 sets.

IN THE RAILROAD department, Velda Ellison converted the 2-4-10, quite an accomplishment. Eunice Johnson and Barb Wittens pickled the 3-7, Corrine Stewart and Carmen onovan had 5-7s, and Betty Booher a wide 5-8-10. Triplicate efforts failed for Eleanor Parr with a pair of 132s, Irene Doty with 115s, Lucy Shepherd 129s, Doris Hutton 127s and Sue Siekman with 114s.

The men folk had their ups and downs, too. The two nearest were Gene Lincoln's 149-148-148, and Fred Palermo's 157-156-156 and Bob Harrison's 168-167-167. Dilly had a pair of 203s, Ted Myers 178s, Bill Herriott, (who became a bridegroom Friday night), 152s, Ted Buettner 162s, Stan Cornutt 146s, Jack Hayman 129s, Mary Pope 128s, Ray Davie 141s, and John Burt had a 172 sandwich.

Chief Lane one of 130 and John Todd a 117er. Ted Sowards had a stepper 135-145-125.

CHUCK HOPKINS was steamed up Monday night, snaring a 243-186-189—618 in the Town League, and 189-207-203—396 in the City. Another lousy line was a 243 by Bob Spear, to the Hoppy's big one, Orville Blake had a pair of plus 200s for a 508, P. Patt had 'em for a 564. Gus Spakovsky for 611, Bob Smith for 580 and Jerry Wiltrren for 605. But the sweetest set of the week was Colan Hansen's 214-221-209 for a double 635. And, by the way, Dan has a near terrible accident, when an oil stove

DYING ART

Great Britain Revives Craft Of Worm Picking

By JAMES F. KING

LONDON (AP) — The lure of the American market has led to the revival of an ancient craft in Britain — worm picking.

Emil Kekich, commercial attache at the U. S. Embassy in London, became interested when the Wholesale Bait Co., of Hamilton, Ohio, appealed for 25 million lobworms.

A decade ago Britain was a big supplier. The industry fell into decay with changing economic conditions and stepped-up labor costs.

Tom Taylor, a fishing tackle dealer in Nottingham, declined the order, explaining:

"Worm picking is a dying art. They stretch them or break them, and then they are no good for keeping."

Canny Scots in Aberdeen, however, heard about the rich American market. Jim Crookshank, long ago well known in the worm picking fraternity, came out of retirement to accept the challenge.

"We reckon a good picker can gather at least a thousand or more a night," Crookshank said. "Packed in moss, we intend to put them on a plane for America within 12 hours."

Red Heads Scheduled In Oakland Exhibition

The barnstorming All-American Red Heads will play the P&L Loggers of Oakland in an exhibition game Tuesday night at the Oakland High gym starting at 7 p. m.

This is the second appearance of the Red Heads. Earlier they met and defeated the Glendale Town Team.

Their lineup includes such well-knowns as manager and playing coach Red Mason, 5-8 Marie Reynolds from Okla., 5-11 Esther Taylor from Oklahoma, 6-0 Mable Brady from Tennessee, 5-9 Jo Ann Foster from Louisiana, 5-9 Jo Ann Barnes from Arkansas and Jackie Krutinger from Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

The Oakland VFW team will play an unnamed opponent in a preliminary game.

ECONOMY SIZE MILE

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — You can look for some new records in the distance runs on the University of Nebraska's indoor running track.

Tape measure scrutiny shows the mile run as laid out on the field house oval in 1924 has been seven yards too long.

Proportionately to distance, the quarter milers, half milers and two milers have been putting up with the same kind of handicap.

Adjustments are being made to correct the distances.

As soon as possible. Averages as of Feb. 19 will be posted at the alleys right after that date. Early entries will be corrected for Feb. 19 later.

STOP—Gary Shivers, a Texas, 35 course, has his own ideas on how to guard the Goodyear Wingfoot goal. Shivers is a 6-9 product of the University of Houston and Goodyear could use guns to stop AAU opposition's average of 84 points.
