Sec. Quarles Says Russian Possession Of Long-Range Missile Doesn't Alter Issue

WASHINGTON — Secretary of the Air Force Quarles says Russian possession of an intermediate range, 1,500-mile missile, "would not materially affect the balance of power" between the East and West.

Quarles also called "highly misleading and highly damaging to our whole position" statements that ballistic missiles will be an ultimate weapon against which there can be no defense.

The air secretary made the statements before a House appropriations subcommittee earlier this month. The subcommittee released portions of his testimony Saturday.

Quarles' comments on the intermediate range missile followed up statements by some Democratic members of Congress that the Russians already had test-fired such a weapon.

From another quarter, Mayor John B. Hynes of Boston said Friday night the Russians have developed an atomic missile of such force as to render obsolete the United States' civilian defense set-up.

Hynes said an "extremely grave" situation had been outlined at a conference he attended in Washington among mayors and Pentagon leaders.

The House subcommittee made public an edited version of Quarles' testimony together with a statement by Chairman Mahon (D-Tex.) which said there has been "confusion as to the true facts" of the missile race.

Quarles did not say directly whether or not U.S. military authorities believe Russia already has an intermediate-range missile.

Anastas Mikoyan, the Russians' first deputy premier, told the 20th Congress of the Soviet Communist Party at Moscow in a speech made public Friday night that his country possesses atom and H-bombs as well as "the means of bringing these bombs on planes or rockets to any spot on the globe."

University Seniors Left Stranded In Columbia

PORTLAND — Three University of Oregon seniors, stranded on Lemon Island in the Columbia River by a group of freshmen, were brought to shore by a sheriff's deputy Friday night.

The three, Jerry Farrow, 21; David Talbot, 23; and Earl Culbertson, 21, were reluctant to talk of their experience. However, it was learned that the three had been snatched separately by a group of freshmen at Eugene Friday noon, blindfolded, driven to Portland, and left on the island at about 6 p. m.

The three were lightly clad and the temperature had fallen to near the freezing mark when their calls were heard by a yacht club caretaker who summoned officers.

Fall Creek Box Plant Destroyed By Fire

FALL CREEK — Fire early Saturday leveled the Fall Creek Box and Manufacturing Co. plant here at a loss estimated by one of the owners at $150,000.

The adjacent Fall Creek Lumber Co. mill, under the same ownership, escaped damage. Fall Creek is about 15 miles southeast of Eugene.

Fire crews from Eastern Lane Fire Patrol and from Springfield came to the assistance of Eugene firemen in battling the blaze, which broke out in the center of the plant, about 1:45 a. m.

Army Engineers Slate Bids For Access Road

PORTLAND — The Corps of Engineers will invite Feb. 20 for construction of an access road and other work at the Signal Point recreation area at Lookout Point Reservoir.

Col. Jackson Graham, Portland District engineer, said the Lane County board of Commissioners has tentatively agreed to take over maintenance and administration of the area following its construction.

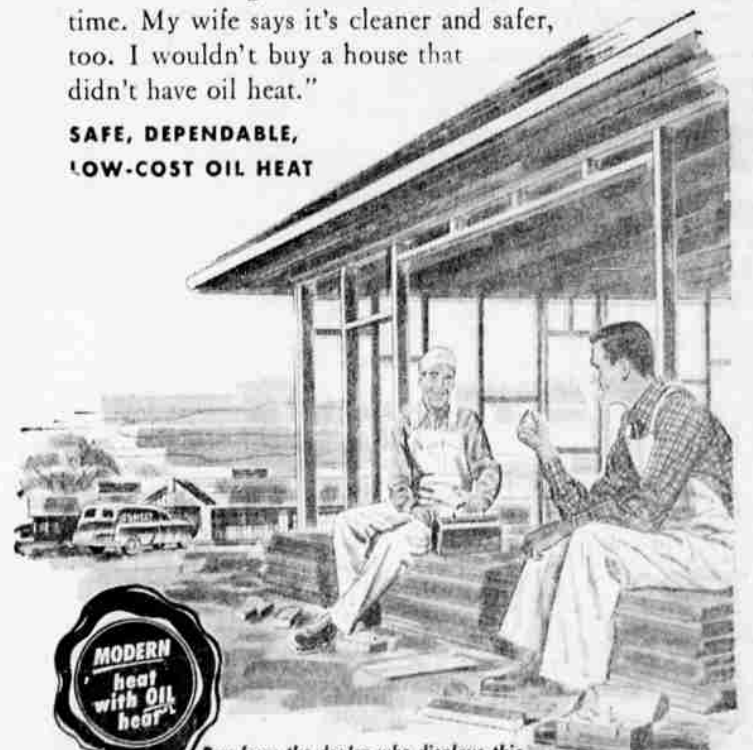

A parking area, boat launching ramp and a water well are planned. Lane County is to provide picnic tables, stoves and other recreational facilities.

"I've lived in houses with all kinds of heat and, believe me, I know. Oil heat is cheaper. With oil our fuel bills are lower and we get real even heat all the time. My wife says it's cleaner and safer, too. I wouldn't buy a house that didn't have oil heat."
