VFW Making Arrangements For Encampment In June

The rumblings of preparatory machinery started in Roseburg this week for the 35th encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Dept. of Oregon, and the 28th annual encampment of the VFW ladies auxiliary.

The two joint encampments are scheduled June 27, 28, 29 and 30 in Roseburg. Between 900 and 1,000 delegates and members are expected to attend. It is the biggest convention yet scheduled here.

Stanley Tripp, Corvallis, past national aide-de-camp and chairman of the Dept. of Oregon encampment advisory committee, arrived here this week to begin work on the VFW encampment advertising program. He is contacting businesses for advertisements in the encampment program book. He is also here to assist the local posts in setting up the convention.

Tripp said Monday that several national officers will attend the convention and probably the national chief of staff, Timothy Murphy, from Washington, D.C. He said Gov. Elmo Smith will either attend or be represented.

It was reported that encampment meetings from now on will be held the first Sundays of each month at 1:30 p.m. at the Veterans Memorial Building on Garden Valley Road.

County encampment chairmen were also listed. They are: General chairmen, Harry Dayton of Riddle and T. F. Lester McCord Cut And Bruised In Auto Mishap

Lester McCord, 43, Roseburg, received minor cuts and bruises shortly after noon Monday when his Austin car was struck by a log truck about three miles east of Roseburg on the North Umpqua Highway, state police said.

Police said McCord was stopped in traffic waiting to make a left turn into the Roseburg Shingle mill when a truck driven by James Miles, Idleyld Route, Roseburg, hit the left rear of the car.

The car was turned end-for-end and knocked upside down in a ditch, police said. No citations were issued.

Driver Injured

Sheriff's officers Monday reported Raymond Davidson, about 45, Reedsport received a broken shoulder in a spectacular accident on Highway 38 about three miles east of Reedsport early Sunday.

A deputy reported the Davidson car went off a high grade and rolled down a boulder-strewn embankment. The car rolled and bounced about 100 yards and ended up close to the Umpqua River. The vehicle was a total wreck.

Miraculously, two passengers, Ronnie Crafton, 20, and Art Brown, 19, both of Reedsport, were only shaken up and bruised, police said.

Council Cancels Airport Lease, Extends Bus Permit

night's meeting. Mayor Barker chided the council sharply for postponing a decision. He said three franchises had been hanging for far too long a time and "we shouldn't keep these people on the string."

Councilman Ken Ellison retorted that a great deal of work had gone into negotiations for the telephone franchise and that all the council members should be on hand when the final decision was made. Councilman Sidney Moon added that at least the chairman of the finance committee (Luoma), which had negotiated the franchise should be on hand.

Barker tossed back that it was possible that two or three other councilmen might be missing at the next meeting. Nonetheless, the council voted to adjourn the meeting until April 2 at 7:30 p.m.

The council also postponed a decision on a bus franchise. It had been proposed at the committee-of-the-whole meeting that the city advertise for interviews from any parties interested in taking the bus franchise. The transportation committee was then to screen the applicants and come up with a recommendation for the April 9 meeting. The council was about to approve this action when J. H. Abeln, operator of the city's only bus, jumped up to object. He said that it would be necessary for him to renew his city and Public Utilities Commission licenses by April 1. This, he said, would mean the April 9 date would be too late for him.

The council then agreed to adopt the proposed course of action but to change the dates. Requests for interviews must be received before the first council meeting in May and a franchise decision will become effective July 1. This means Roseburg Transit Co. will operate under the "gentlemen's agreement" until the July date. It has been without a franchise since September.

ties. They were tossed from the private car while it was enroute from Huntington W. Va., to Washington last Thursday evening.

In Washington, a physician said one of those who became ill after drinking the ginger ale is "pretty sick."

He added: "We think he'll get better but we can't be sure for a while."

His patient is Charles Hertig, a mechanical service employe who made a test run last week on the private car and became ill in Washington. He is in a hospital there.

Hertig's physician said chemical tests are being made to determine nature of the illness.

Council Okays Transit Rate Increase In City

The Roseburg City Council Monday night approved a request by the Roseburg Transit Co. to raise its rates at least until July 1.

On that date, the council expects to have either decided to cancel the franchise with the company or give it to another company. (See other story.)

The new rates will mean bus riders will pay a straight 15 cents per ride for adults and 10 cents a ride for children between 5 and 12 years old.

In other action the council:

1. Let a contract to Shell Oil Co. for supply of city gasoline for the next year. The company won with a bid of 21.47 cents per gallon including discount. Other bidders were: Standard Oil Co., United Tire Store, Signal Oil Co., Texas Co., Richfield, Tidewater Associated, General Petroleum and Union Oil Co.

2. Waived the bond for a new ladies sportswear shop to be operated at 820 SE Cass Ave. by Valerie and Ruby Harness.

3. Approved calling of a public hearing on exchange of property between the city and Fred Hamilton. Hamilton requests the vacation of part of Burke Avenue near the Southern Pacific Railroad track for easements over two areas owned by Hamilton adjoining the west right-of-way of Southeast Short Street. No hearing date was set.

4. Approved a date of April 23 for a public hearing on rezoning of property along West Harvard Avenue. The area proposed for rezoning includes property along the avenue from Highway 99 west to West Fir Street. The City Planning commission proposes that the zone follow property lines. It would be changed from residential to business. At present, the business zone extends only 100 feet north of the avenue with a 15-foot setback. The proposed area to be rezoned includes Douglas Community Hospital and a tract of land on the hospital grounds which Dr. Roy Hanford has requested for a possible site of a clinic or doctor's office.

5. Approved a resolution commending the Roseburg Chamber of Commerce for staging of Timberjack Days last weekend.

Adult-Youth Crusade For Recreation Talked

a building 60 feet x 100 feet where students could meet and dance. Today that structure is a part of a planned recreation program which costs an estimated $40,000 yearly.

Bengston is hired by the city, which budgets $25,000 annually for municipal recreation. He is a full time employe and is assisted in the summer by college students as swimming and events supervisors. Bengston estimates the program costs $15,000 for salaries with the balance for expenditures.

Following the meeting, Bengston told The News-Review he personally thought a metropolitan park district, encompassing the county, was the real solution in the area.

He was bombarded by eager questioners, following his comments. Grants Pass set up its current system at the beginning of 1954, Bengston said.

The deep-voiced man urged the planners to carefully consider building design and location, in addition to financing.

Haystead requested the representatives to return to their groups and determine: (1) Interest in a community center, and (2) What the organization believes the center should contain to meet needs of the group. A pooling of such needs and recommendations will be made April 9 when another public meeting has been called. Time and place will be announced later.

Possible locations for the center drew considerable comment at the session in the high school library. Haystead said investigation revealed the Roseburg Armory would not be vacated for two years (when a new Armory has been constructed). Many seemed to think the possibility of placing a center on the 125 acres of surplus land on the VA grounds declared surplus by the government should be investigated, if the city of Roseburg acquires the property. All talk was speculative.

Resident Bob Simmons, 837 SE Watson St., Roseburg, voiced many opinions as he commented: "I've felt for years that Roseburg is sadly in need of a big community building."

Mrs. Worth E. Davis, 374 W. Lilburn St., Roseburg, commenting on location, observed: "I remember when the Roseburg High School location was considered 'far out' — how it's in the heart of town."

Represented were: Fullerton Dads Club, Douglas County Realty Board, Roseburg City Council, Fraternal Order of Eagles, Roseburg Junior Woman's Club, Lions Auxiliary, Elks, Emblem Club, Jay-C-Ettes, Zonta Club, AAUW, Roseburg Woman's Club, Culinary Local 293, IOOF, Moose, Lookingglass PTA, Tenmile Dads Club, Camp Fire and the Roseburg City Planning Commission. Clubs not represented will be notified of all happenings, by the planners.

Grand Jurors Find No Graft Evidence In State Offices

SALEM (AP) — The Marion County Grand Jury, reporting that charges were based upon "hearsay and rumor," said late Monday it found no evidence of widespread graft and corruption in state institutions.

Al Richardson, who resigned a short time ago as food administrator at the state prison, had charged that there was.

But, said the jury report, "We found that Mr. Richardson's charges were based not upon personal knowledge but upon hearsay and rumor. Many witnesses were unable to give names or dates, and some allegations concerned instances that occurred many years ago."

The investigation included the questioning of 60 witnesses and visits to various state institutions to look into the statement made by Richardson, soon after he filed for state treasurer, that "a fermenting morass of corruption and graft exists in our state institutions."

The jury said that charges of incompetence, poor management and details of the handling, preparation and distribution of food were concerned with policy "and therefore outside the province of this grand jury."

However, the jury took note of "many allegations of abuse" concerning the practice of food being supplied to certain employes and officials at institutions, and recommended that this practice be abolished.

A recent committee report on the feeding of people at state institutions was endorsed by the jury. It had reported many improvements in the past 10 years. Richardson was a member of the committee which had made that report.

Hermann Field, Former Prisoner, Returns To U. S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Hermann Field, former Cleveland architect who spent five years as a Polish prisoner, returned unannounced on the liner Queen Mary Tuesday after an absence of nearly seven years.

He said that his brother, Noel, another principal in the long mystery of the "disappearing Fields," is a "pretty sick man" in Budapest, Hungary.

When asked whether Noel still is a prisoner, Field replied "that's anybody's guess." He said he writes to his brother occasionally to "keep the lines open."

Field, 46, was accompanied by his London-born wife, Kate, and two sons, Hugh, 12, and Allen, 10.

Noel Field, a former U. S. State Department official, and his wife dropped out of sight in May, 1949, in Communist Czechoslovakia. Hermann was arrested three months later in Poland while searching for his brother.

The Poles released Hermann in October, 1954, after, he said, he spent five years in a cellar as a prisoner of the Polish security police. Noel and his wife, Herta, were freed by the Hungarians a month later, but they decided to stay in Hungary and requested political asylum.

Hermann Field received $50,000 from the Polish government as compensation for his imprisonment, and $1,500 more for medical treatment during convalescence after his release.

Dave Beck Given Power To Deal With Union Rift

HONOLULU (AP)—Teamster President Dave Beck is armed with full power today to try to smooth over a dispute that threatened to blow his giant union out of the AFL-CIO.

Beck said the power granted him unanimously by the teamsters Executive Board meant a controversial $400,000 loan to the International Longshoremens Assn. would not go through.

But he said the teamsters will continue to work closely with the ILA, which was thrown out of the AFL in 1953 as racketeer-infested.

A full-day meeting of the board's quarterly session in a Waikiki penthouse left the chunky, 61-year-old president in apparent full command of the nation's largest union.

Besides handing the hot ILA issue to Beck, the resolution gave him sweeping power to:

1. Clean up corrupt elements in teamsters ranks, especially in New York and Minneapolis.

2. Launch a huge organizing drive under his personal supervision aimed at bringing a quarter-million new members into the teamsters.

The meetings end today.

PLAN FOR NEW CHURCH—The Rev. Amos Schmidt, left, a member of the board of directors of the Northwest District of the Lutheran Church, and the Rev. R. C. Zagel, right, St. John's Lutheran Church of Sutherlin, minister in charge of arrangements for the new church, were in Roseburg recently surveying for a new mission to be established in the Roseburg area. The new church will be called the Bethany Lutheran Church. Plans are to begin church services Sunday, April 8, the place will be announced later. Future plans are to purchase a site, erect a church building and to call a resident pastor, according to William Miller, temporary chairman of the group. The church will be a sister church to St. Paul's Church now in Roseburg. (Paul Jenkins).

Sen. Symington, Harriman, Truman Listed As Democrat Hopefuls In New Maneuvers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sen. Stuart Symington and Gov. Averell Harriman gained new support yesterday as possible candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Neither is now an active candidate.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, who is, followed a slightly less strenuous campaign trail yesterday in California, where he is campaigning for votes in the June 5 primary.

He will clash there with the other currently active candidate, Adlai Stevenson, the party's unsuccessful standard bearer in 1952. Kefauver won their first direct test, in Minnesota a week ago.

The boost for Symington, a Missourian, came in the form of an endorsement by that state's Democratic committee. Adopted unanimously, the resolution made no reference to Symington as a "favorite son." The resolution is subject to approval by the Democratic state convention.

Harriman, governor of New York, was boomed by Frank E. McKinney of Indianapolis, a former chairman of the Democratic National Committee during the Truman administration.

"If and when he announces," McKinney told newsmen at Indianapolis, "he will find that he has quite a militant group backing him in the states west of the Alleghenies."

Harriman, vacationing at Hobe Sound, Fla., declined comment.

An aide to the New York governor said at Albany there has been no change in Harriman's status as a "not active" candidate. Harriman had been quoted Saturday as saying he is "available" for the nomination, but the spokesman said the governor denied using the word "available."

McKinney said he had presided at a March 4 meeting in Denver, at which people from some 14 states were represented.

"It was a conference solely in the interests of Gov. Harriman," McKinney said. "Now, there has been talk in the papers that this was somewhat tied up with stopping Stevenson in Minnesota. That is not true."

McKinney said also that former President Truman, a personal friend, asked him several weeks ago to "spike . . . any movement for me for president." He quoted Truman as saying he would not be a candidate under any circumstances.

The New York Times spoke today of a possibility of a move to draft Truman for the Democratic presidential nomination.

A Washington dispatch to the Times said the Stevenson-Kefauver fight has led to "genuine talk of possible dark horses."

Library Board Making Survey For Comparison

Patrons of the Roseburg Public library have been asked to help out in a comparison map survey.

The request comes from members of the Douglas County Public Library board. Some Roseburg residents have said the new county library would be inconvenient to use. Now the county board believes it has devised a comparison which will discount the comment.

A map of the Roseburg area has been placed in the city library. Library users have been requested to stick a shiny red pin in the map, at a point where their home would be located. One pin is given each family or single patron.

After the county library has started operation, a second map study will be made.

Librarian Muriel Mitchell estimates that about 200 pins have gone into the map since it was put up about a week ago. It will be in place for another two weeks. The pins are furnished by the county board. Patrons are requested to ask for one, should a librarian not ask them to participate in the comparison study.

Presidents Of Three Nations Hold Talks

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) — President Eisenhower, Canadian Prime Minister Louise St. Laurent and President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines of Mexico opened a wide ranging survey of world problems and U.S. foreign policies Tuesday in their North American summit conference.

The Mexican and Canadian leaders looked to Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles for a full exposition of American policies, including moves in the Middle East crisis.

U. S. officials indicated Eisenhower and Dulles were prepared to cover the globe during the one scheduled business meeting of the White Sulphur Springs session. Other gatherings have been or will be mealtime talks.

The good neighbor meeting got going Monday night on the basis of dinner table exchanges.

Roseburg Board Slates Meeting

Roseburg school board members will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. to consider the "feasibility" of resubmitting a school construction bond issue to voters.

If the board decision is "yes" Wednesday, it will decide also whether or not to set up a separate election date or ask residents to ballot on the bond issue and the 1956-57 budget simultaneously.

The meeting will be held in the superintendent's office at Central Junior High School. The special board session is public.

Tuesday, Supt. M. C. Deller pointed out that "regardless of the board's decision, a need for housing still exists." He said housing could be provided in several ways: Building, using specialized areas such as libraries, cafeterias and corridors or "double shifting" if the situation became severe. The superintendent said he doubted the shifting would be necessary. Another possibility in handling surplus students would be increasing the teacher load.

District 4 instructors now have an average of 25.1 pupils in each class in grades 1-12, Supt. Deller said the number ranged from 19 pupils per class in sparsely-settled areas to 36 in Green and Riverside.

Services Attract 160 On Monday

Monday night services of Holy Week, sponsored by the Roseburg Ministerial Assn. at the First Christian Church, drew a crowd of about 160 people.

Dr. J. George Taylorson told the congregation in his opening remarks that the theme for the nightly services this week will be "Calvary." He said "Calvary is really contemporary. The spirit that made the cross possible is often manifest in humanity today. But in the light of Calvary, our differences are not so great as we think."

Tonight at 7:30, the service will be enhanced by a choir made up of local ministers. A minister will be at the organ and another will direct. A ministerial quartet will also sing.

Dr. Taylorson's topic tonight is titled "God's Companion." Services will continue nightly at 7:30 through the week.

Benson Hits Congress Delay On Farm Measure

The Senate-House group planned to go back into closed door efforts Tuesday afternoon to draft the omnibus bill.

The conference action came on the heels of a message from Secretary of Agriculture Benson saying each day's delay in congressional enactment of the soil bank program is costing farmers "badly needed income."

"Time is running short," he said. "Already it is so late that it would be difficult to put the soil bank fully into operation so as to help farmers this year."

Benson made his remarks in a statement submitted to the House Agriculture Committee. That group is making a study of the Senate's farm bill while a Senate-House conference committee tries to iron out differences between the measures passed by the two branches of Congress. The conferees called morning and afternoon sessions Tuesday in a drive to send a compromise to President Eisenhower by the end of this week.

The omnibus bill passed by the Senate last week carries provisions for the soil bank as well as provisions which would boost—against the administration's opposition—price support levels for a number of crops and dairy products.

Under the soil bank, farmers would be paid to hold some of their land out of production until present farm surpluses are reduced. The House bill, based on a return to high-level fixed price supports for basic crops, contains no such plan, but the House is generally expected to accept the idea.

Benson had been invited to appear before the House committee Tuesday but Chairman Cooley (D-NC) canceled the invitation. Cooley said he did not wish to give the secretary opportunity to use the committee as a forum for doing additional "missionary work" in behalf of administration proposals.

The House committee is sharply at odds with Benson over his insistence that the present flexible price support system be continued.

Conceding Cooley's right to cancel his appearance before the committee, Benson sent copies of his statement to the group and made it public.

"Remedial farm legislation has been placed high on this administration's priority list," Benson told the committee.

He reminded the congressmen they have had the Eisenhower recommendation since Jan. 9, reviewed the proposals in the White House message, and restated administration objections to price support features of the Senate bill.

The meeting will be conducted by Mrs. C. E. Bielman, Sutherlin, district director.

Census Being Taken In City Of Winston

Winston officials hope the special census now being conducted in the city will add to the local treasury.

Four enumerators started counting noses in the city Monday. The census is being taken to see if Winston's share of refunds from the liquor and gasoline taxes should be expanded. The refunds are based on city population, according to Recorder H. J. Kleve.

The census has been approved by the State Census Bureau, reports correspondent Mrs. Ted Peterson.

Last time a census was taken in Winston, in 1953 when the city was incorporated, the population was 1,960.

Census enumerators are Mrs. Howard Newton, Mrs. Walter Stack, Mrs. Clyde Murray and Mrs. Howard Bird.
