Economic Value Of Pears Said Ever-Increasing

Pears have an ever-increasing economic value. That's the opinion of B. I. Freeman, secretary-manager of the Washington-Oregon Canning Pear Assn. He has called a meeting of all pear growers in the area for tonight at 8 in the Douglas County extension offices in the courthouse.

Freeman said earlier this week, en route to Medford, that he would explain the current movement of Bartlett pears, the canners demand for the coming season and crop prospects on the West Coast.

"There are no overproduction problems this year," he said. Reason for this, he said, is a big freeze of pears earlier this year in Washington.

Court Upholds Conviction Of Dr. Sheppard

COLUMBUS Ohio — The Ohio Supreme Court has upheld the wife-murder conviction of Dr. Sam Sheppard. His only recourse now to gain freedom is the U.S. Supreme Court.

Ohio's highest tribunal, in a 5-2 majority opinion yesterday, dismissed the hopes of the 32-year-old Cleveland osteopath for a new trial.

Sheppard got the news through the "grapevine" at Ohio Penitentiary, where he is serving a life sentence for the July 4, 1954, bludgeoning slaying of his 31-year-old pregnant wife, Marilyn.

Dr. Sam, as newspapers had referred to him during his sensational trial, has steadfastly maintained his innocence.

Sheppard's appeal mentioned 29 alleged errors made by the trial court.

The Supreme Court said no two of the three contentions. That a change of venue should have been granted because of widespread publicity in Cleveland about the murder.

Whooping Crane No. 32 Arrives

NEW ORLEANS — A tiny bird who doesn't like to rush things Friday became North America's whooping crane No. 32. After almost two days of pecking, the whooper finally popped out of its egg. Its brother or sister, whooping crane No. 31, only took four hours to crack through the shell Tuesday. The usual pecking period for new-born cranes is 14 hours.

Langley Claims Governor Smith Went Too Far

PORTLAND — Dist. Atty. William Langley asserted Thursday that Gov. Elmo Smith went too far when he placed Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Thornton in charge of Multnomah County criminal prosecution.

The governor last month issued an order directing Thornton to investigate reports of vice and corruption in Portland and later supplemented it with an order intended to authorize Thornton to take over the district attorney's role before a grand jury.

Langley filed a complaint in circuit court saying the governor's order conflicted with the law under which it was drawn.

The complaint quoted subdivision 4 of section 180.070 of the state laws as saying "The power conferred by this section . . . does not deprive the district attorneys of any of their authority, or relieve them from any of their duties to prosecute criminal violations of law and advise the officers of the counties composing their districts."

Langley further said there are 35 prisoners in jail facing charges not related to the vice investigation and said these and other cases need handling.

Leftist Editor, Another Man Killed In Holdup

NEW YORK — Two gunmen who killed a leftist editor and another man in the Polonia Social Club Thursday night eluded a concentrated police search Friday.

The police ruled out politics as a motive and centered their hunt on criminals known to have specialized in robbing card games.

Walter Nogos, 60, wounded by the two masked men who attempted to hold up the club, was questioned at Bellevue Hospital for a possible description of the intruders.

Nogos, operated on for removal of a bullet from his abdomen, was reported in poor condition.

Killed were Thomas Dombrowski, 46, editor of the weekly Glos Ludowy (People's Voice), and Frank Grodzki, 45, New York City.

Dombrowski's newspaper was banned from street sale by the Detroit City Council several years ago, the Council saying the paper was Communist.

Dombrowski testified in April 1952 before the House Un-American Activities Committee in Washington. At that time he was described as "high in the hierarchy of the Communist party" by Charles Potter, then a representative from Michigan and now a U.S. senator.

Dombrowski was listed as chairman of the Communist party of Hamtramck in 1945, and ran for Congress on the Communist party ticket in 1946.

OSC Education Grads Find Teaching Jobs Plentiful This Year

Elementary and secondary teacher graduates from Oregon State College this June find themselves eagerly sought after for jobs at salaries averaging about $4,000 a year.

Mrs. Kathryn Smith, director of teacher placement at OSC, reports she has received a daily average of 20 requests for teachers from grade and high schools and colleges since July, 1955. The job listings come mainly from Oregon and California schools, but they have been received from most states in the nation, Canada, South America and other foreign countries.

During March, Mrs. Smith received the year's monthly high of 2,103 job listings.

The smallest starting salary offered this year by any school to an OSC graduate with a bachelor's degree and no experience was $3,500. But the average is closer to $4,000 with the top near $5,000. A master's degree usually means another $200 added to the starting salary, she said.

Elementary schools are most in demand for teachers, the files show, with high schools close behind. This year's graduates are also being sought by colleges.

Biggest demand in the high school education field is for persons who can teach more than one subject.

About 255 students will graduate from OSC this June with bachelor's degrees entitling them to state teacher certificates. Sixty-four will graduate in elementary education under the four-year program established in 1954. The remaining are in secondary education.

Both fields are expected to have larger senior enrollments next year. S. E. Williamson, director of supervised teaching at OSC, predicts the secondary program will have about 250 seniors in 1957 and the elementary program, about 195.

They said they had discovered "various conflicts within the agreement and the working rules." They said they requested changes only so there "could be no misinterpretation."

They said at no time had they refused a request for the wage increase. They had objected, they said, to "lack of opportunity to study our inclusion in the health and welfare plan."

"In our case, with only one hold-carrier, we estimate it would require an additional unnecessary expense to take care of the bookkeeping for just one man. We feel if the union wishes to engage in such a program, it should do that bookkeeping itself so that the cost can be reduced and not passed on to the customer through the small contractor," they said.

R. L. Myers said the union had asked for a 10-cent an hour increase in wages and a 10-cent an hour increase for health and welfare. He said the requested contract was for two years starting May 1.

The picket began walking in front of the building being constructed Monday. The building will house a dry cleaning establishment being financed by Morris Corderman.

They will also vote on a five-year position now held by Harry Steele of Toketee. So are the two candidates for the job are John Connine and Bert Allenby.

Petitions for filing for either position may be obtained from Mrs. Marybelle Beckley, clerk. The last date for filing is June 11.

Baptist Church Reaffirms Local Autonomy Stand

KANSAS CITY — The Southern Baptist convention reaffirmed by overwhelming vote Friday its historic stand that local churches are fully autonomous, but it refused to repudiate a North Carolina Supreme Court decision that gave control over church property to a minority.

The issue was raised by the Rev. James W. Bulman, East Spencer, N.C., who said the court ruling on a congregational split at Rocky Mountain, N.C., two years ago had created confusion on the convention's position regarding majority rule.

Dr. Louie Newton, Atlanta, Ga., chairman of the Resolutions Committee, told the convention his committee recommended restatement in full of a 1928 declaration of local autonomy but "we do not interpret it to be the responsibility of the committee or of this convention to pass judgment on the decision of the North Carolina Supreme Court or any court, or upon the decision of the North Carolina Baptist Assn., or any other Baptist body."

Bulman sought to amend the resolution to reinstate the repudiation clause. This was rejected by a standing vote.

Ruling Of Court Upholds ICC Ban On Slow-Routing

PORTLAND — The Interstate Commerce Commission ruling which bans slow-routing of railroad lumber cars was upheld by a federal court Thursday.

The order halts the practice of routing a loaded car by slow freight toward the east while brokers attempt to arrange the sale of the loaded products.

This merchandising practice had been in effect in this region for 20 years, some 63 small lumber companies and brokers from the West Coast said in a complaint asking that the ruling be abolished.

They also said the new order would put some of them out of business. They contended that the order was not valid because no emergency existed at the time it was issued.

However, three federal judges who heard the case, decided that the order was legal. They vacated a temporary restraining order which had been issued April 7 to halt enforcement.

Another Candidate Files For Director Of Glide District

Supl. Byron Evans of Glide school district reports that another candidate has filed for election to a two-year term on the Glide school board.

The latest candidate is Everett Sraedrich of Toketee Falls. His only other opponent so far is Watson Talcott. Voters will choose the two-year member at the June 18 election.

They will also vote on a five-year position now held by Harry Steele of Toketee. So are the two candidates for the job are John Connine and Bert Allenby.

Senate Votes To Convey Vets Property To City

BIH 8123 as "more restrictive than necessary in that it merely authorized a conveyance for park purposes with a provision for reversion in case not so used and contained reservation of mineral rights."

He said: "Inasmuch as city and state donated land in the first instance, Roseburg was entitled to outright conveyance from the federal government without such restrictions. . . . He said he had recommended such an outright conveyance to the Senate committee. He continued that the Senate committee recommended authorization of issuance of quitclaim deed to Roseburg and the Senate had adopted it. He said the Senate action "provides much greater benefits in this land for the city."

Apparently, the greater latitude for the city will have little immediate significance. City Manager Farrell said it had been stipulated "all along" that the property would be used for park purposes.

Planning Change Is Announced By Youth Center

A change in planning has been announced by directors of the Roseburg Youth Center, Inc.

A lease option on a vacant warehouse on the corner of Rice and Jackson streets in Roseburg has been given up by the corporation, according to secretary Mrs. Charles Brown.

Originally, the directors and youth of the area had hoped to purchase the site for use as a youth center. That plan has been discontinued, Mrs. Brown said following a survey of public opinion. She said directors found too much opposition to the site based on opinion that repair and remodeling would be "too costly." The site cost was $12,000. A down payment of $1,000 was necessary.

The youth planners and the youth of the area have not given up, Mrs. Brown said. Now they are planning to acquire land and build a more moderately-priced center. She said they were looking at possible building areas now.

Adlai Seeks Oldsters' Vote; Estes Hurls Barb

Richard L. Tobin, public relations director for the group, said in a prepared talk that "every Negro" must be convinced that "he has a vested interest in the election of a Republican House and a Republican Senate."

Eisenhower's statement to the same organization yesterday that "the prestige of the United States since the last war has never been as high as it is this day" drew this comment from Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont):

"I wish I could be as sanguine as the facts indicate that as the President. It appears to me that the present time the Soviet Union is making all the positive moves. . . . The American people are entitled to know the facts and should not be given generalized statements and outworn cliches. . . . However, Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), like Mansfield, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in a separate interview that a recent softening of Soviet belligerency is "largely due to our firm American policy." Aiken said the administration's record "speaks for itself."
