Corn Sprouts From Hole In Concrete Sidewalk

New Plan For Publicity Suggested By Turley

Richard Turley, manager of the Douglas County Fair, has come up with a plan which he feels will publicize Douglas County to tourists passing through the county. He believes that place mats printed with information on local roads and other attractions and with scenic drives and recreation facilities of the county could be placed in restaurants and cafes in the county.

He advanced the plan to organizations which have been sponsoring community activities. He said the idea came from the place mats already used in some restaurants. The mats now in use are in the form of highway maps of the area, but don't detail local attractions.
