

TAUGHT CHILDREN, CAUGHT MEASLES—First-grade teacher Barbara Lanphear smiles forgivingly at some of her pupils responsible for her being in bed. The Cleveland, Ohio, youngsters paid a visit with sympathy and flowers from the rest of the class when they found out that they had passed their

TUNNEL'S ANNIVERSARY—Progress in travel is pointed up in the new Italian stamp, above, commemorating the 50th anniversary of the famed Simplon tunnel under the Alps. The 25-cent stamp contrasts stagecoach travel of bygone days with modern rail traffic made possible by the tunnel. The 12-mile-long Simplon, connecting Italy and Switzerland, is the world's longest.

GAS WARFARE—A modern military weapon comes to the aid of an ancient war vessel in Portsmouth, England. Lord Nelson's historic flagship, H.M.S. Victory, is pumped full of poison gas and her hull sealed off to kill death-watch beetles eating at her timbers. Fumigation by methyl bromide gas is carried out periodically.

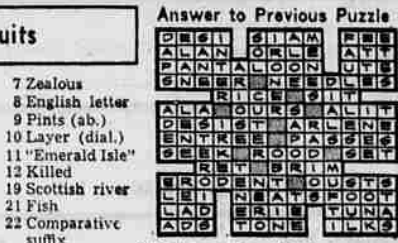

NON-SHAGGY DOG STORY—In Crawfordsville, Ind., when Charles T. Stephenson yells "Next," it's quite likely that his boxer, "Toni," will leap into the chair. Sometimes Toni gets the works, both a haircut and a little tonic, as shown above. Stephenson claims she always waits her turn, and doesn't try to exercise the "ladies-first" prerogative.
