

STOP STAR SQUEAKS

Squeaks in steps and floors are caused by top boards moving away from supports as the result of settling or warping. Steps, of course, always should be kept in good repair because of the safety factor. any annoying noise in steps and restore their sturdiness.

To prevent the discoloration of bronze, copper and aluminum screens by oxidation, apply a two-to-one mixture of boiled linseed oil and turpentine.

Asbestos Siding Adds Beauty And Value To Home

Restoring serviceability and youthful appearance to a tired, dingy exterior is an "Operation Home Improvement" that can be done quickly and economically through the use of asbestos-cement siding shingles, modernization authorities report.

Since asbestos siding was introduced a little less than 25 years ago it has given new leases on life to literally millions of old homes, manufacturers' production records indicate. It is widely used, as well, in new construction. Asbestos siding was produced in answer to the need for a material that would combine all the requirements of an exterior wall covering — attractive appearance, non-combustibility, low initial cost, enduring weather protection and economy of maintenance. Made of asbestos fibers and portland cement, it resists the weathering effects of rain, heat, wind and snow.

It can be applied easily over old wood or stucco walls. Neither initial painting nor any subsequent preservative treatment is needed.

Today's asbestos siding shingles are smartly styled in a wide range of beautiful and dramatic colors. The home owner may choose from various shades of greens, reds, ivories, browns and grays or classic white.

White asbestos siding shingles come in several sizes, the most widely used unit for residing is 24 inches wide and 12 inches deep. They are sold in squares, with a square providing coverage for 100 square feet of wall area.

Here Are Symptoms, Aids For Old Or Faulty Plumbing
