LOTUS KNIGHT PORTER

SATURDAY, JUNE 16, 1956

—The News-Review, Roseburg, Ore. 7

IN OBSERVANCE of Father's Day, today's feature page is made up of five Roseburg fathers and their sons, who posed for pictures depicting their favorite hobbies.

THE STUDY of far-away lands and science interest Hawley Counts, above right, and his elder son, John, who are shown in the living room of their home on SE Reservoir Avenue. Mr. Counts is with the Southern Pacific Co.

A GAME OF CHESS is often in order for Dr. Clifford E. Babbitt (center right) and his elder son, Bruce. Every once in awhile Bruce puts his Dad in a bad spot with the game. The Babbitts are building a new home on Hawthorne Drive.

IT'S BASEBALL for Donald Metzger, lower right, and his son, John, who is an ardent baseball fan as well as a baseball player. In all of the games John plays in, you'll find his dad sitting in the bleachers to lend his support. The Metzgers reside on SE Terrace Street. Mr. Metzger owns the Roseburg Sand and Gravel Company.
