

THIEVES, BEWARE
HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — The National Burglar and Fire Alarm Assn. convention opened with such gadgets as these on display:
An ultrasonic system that saturates a room with electronic impulses. If the slightest movement is detected, a central alarm of fire is signaled.
A small device that puts a protective electronic ring around a brief case or diplomatic pouch. If anybody gets near it — wham, screech, clang.

Commissioner Advances Idea For Sports Center
PORTLAND (AP) — A program for speeding construction of Portland's proposed eight-million-dollar sports center was advanced this week by City Commissioner Ormond Bean.
A dispute over the site has slowed the project. In the May primary election voters decided to place the sports center on the city's east side.
This measure also deprived the commission charged with operating the center of much of its authority.
Bean proposed that factions supporting east side and west side sites seek a compromise, possibly dividing the project.
If they are unable to reach agreement, Bean proposed that voters be given an opportunity at the November election to select the site.

Eugene Firemen Probe Finishing
EUGENE (AP) — The first phase of a state Civil Service Commission investigation of controversies within the Eugene Fire Department was nearing completion Wednesday.
Two commission investigators, Melvin Cleveland and Herbert Green, said that only one or two more days of interviews are contemplated at this time. The two men have been talking to firemen, city administrators and others since last Friday.
The state agency was hired by the city to investigate causes of continued unrest within the city fire department, including possible violations of city civil service regulations on the part of some firemen.
Members of the AFL Fire Fighters Assn. have charged that officers exert "unjustified pressure" on men trying to better working conditions within the department.
The firemen were unsuccessful in an initiative measure on the May 18 ballot seeking a 56-hour work week. Voters turned the measure down.

Air Force Veteran Gets New State Veterans Post
SALEM (AP) — Vere A. McCarty, an Air Force veteran of World War II, Wednesday was promoted to the newly created post of manager of the service division for the state Department of Veterans' Affairs.
McCarty will plan and direct a statewide program of services to veterans and their dependents and supervise the distribution of state funds to veterans' organizations and county service officers.
