

ROSEBURG'S MOST ELABORATE June wedding took place Saturday evening, June 30, at 8 p.m. at the First Christian Church, when Miss Georgene Shanklin, only daughter of Paul R. Shanklin of this city and the late Mrs. Shanklin, became the bride of George Gmahl, Seattle, son of Mr.

Blue delphiniums, white daisies and white candles formed the blue and white setting for the season's most elaborate church wedding Saturday evening, June 30, when Miss Georgene Shanklin, only daughter of Paul R. Shanklin and the late Mrs. Shanklin of this city, became the bride of George Gmahl, Seattle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gmahl, Napa, Calif. The Rev. Newell Morgan officiated and the couple exchanged their vows in a double ring ceremony from memory. Nylon net bows and daisies marked the aisle pews.

Mrs. S. Clarence Trued played the wedding music and accompanied Miss Janice Thompson of Monmouth, who sang, "Through the Years," and "Come To Me, Bend To Me" from Brigadoon. She also played the traditional Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin and at the close of the ceremony played Mendelssohn's Wedding Reconciliation.

Mrs. Gordon Gerretsen, Roseburg, and Mrs. Lyman Pruitt, Ashland, were candlelighters. They wore gowns of pale pink taffeta. A band of gold sequin net circled the skirt at the neckline and was caught in back in a bow. They wore pink flower coronets.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was beautiful in a floor-length gown of white satin with a brush train covered with net. A lace panel marked the front and back of the gown with the cap sleeves and bodice being trimmed in sequins and seed pearls. She wore short lace mitts. Her three-tiered fingertip veil fell from a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a white orchid on a white ribbon. The Bible had been presented to her by Anna Carter Weir when she was installed as Honored Queen of Job's Daughters.

Mrs. Charles (the former Ruth Ann Ruhl) Harshberger of Portland was matron of honor; her small daughters, Lynn and Susan, were flower girls, and Miss Janet Hull, Monroe, Ore., was junior bridesmaid and wore matching gowns of pale yellow dotted Swiss trimmed in yellow satin with matching shoes and flower coronets. Mrs. June Bodenner and Miss Marilyn Springer, Roseburg, the latter a cousin of the bride; Miss Mary Ann Phelps, Berkeley, Calif., and Mrs. Leona DeArmond, Rogue River, were bridesmaids and wore gowns in pale blue dotted Swiss with blue satin trimming, matching blue shoes and flower coronets. They carried nosegays of daisies to match their gowns.

Linder Sackison, San Francisco, was best man and ushers were John Lee and Andrew Dingman of Seattle; Bernard Hussey and Louis Geisberger of San Francisco and Greg Young of Salem. Herbie Hull of Monroe, was ring bearer.

A reception followed in the social room of the church. Mrs. Eugene Springer, aunt of the bride, wearing ivory lace trimmed in rhinestones, and Mollie Gmahl, an aunt of the bridegroom, wearing blue linen with matching blue lace trim, received the guests with the bride's father, the bridegroom's father and the wedding party.

The Junior Division of the First Christian Church had charge of the reception. Pale yellow net bows decorated the bride's table, which was centered with a large tiered wedding cake decorated with wedding bells and topped by a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. Fred Buchner, Portland; Mrs. Ralph Hull, Monroe; Mrs. W. H. Carter, Mrs. O. J. Feldkamp and Mrs. Roland Springer served.

The guest book was in charge of Mrs. John Lee, Seattle, and gifts were in charge of Miss Marilyn Todd and Miss Sabra Unruh, Roseburg.

Out-of-town guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dingman and Mr. and Mrs. John Lee, Seattle; Carl Gmahl, Napa, Calif.; the Misses Mollie, Anna, Edith and Lena Gmahl, aunts of the bridegroom from Portland; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hull and Herbie and Janet, Monroe; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harshberger and Lynn and Susan, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. Robert DeArmond, Rogue River; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Buchner, Portland; Mrs. Lyman Pruitt, Ashland; Mrs. Robert Thompson, Monmouth; Linder Sackison, Bernard Hussey, Louis Geisberger and John Sorenson, San Francisco; Greg Young, Salem; Mrs. Anna Aspelin, Rockford, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Kelson, Junction City; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Buching, Eugene.

The bride, a talented pianist, was graduated from Roseburg High School, University of Oregon and attended Columbia University. She has been a teacher in the Seattle school district the last year. Mr. Gmahl was graduated from San Francisco State College and is employed as a sales representative for Fibreboard Products with headquarters in Seattle.

For traveling the bride wore a black Chinese sheath dress with white coat, white straw and net hat and patent leather accessories. Following a honeymoon to Carmel, Mr. and Mrs. Gmahl will be at home to their friends after July 14 at 1113 1/2 Lake Washington Blvd., Seattle.
