

School District No. 4 Not Conducting Survey

School District No. 4 is not conducting any type of survey school officials have announced. The announcement came from Arthur C. Judd, assistant superintendent of the Roseburg district, after he had received numerous telephone calls from parents inquiring about a survey. Apparently, Judd said, a group of salesmen are in the city making a house-to-house campaign and using a "school survey" gimmick to gain entry into homes. Judd suggested that in the future, home owners request identification from the callers to find out what they are representing.

Lightning Hits Oregon Farmer, Deals Fire Losses

POWELL BUTTE — Lightning critically injured a farmer and set two fires as the third storm in three days struck this Central Oregon area Wednesday.

Archie (Bud) Mustard, 45, is in critical condition in a Redmond hospital with injuries suffered when a lightning bolt struck him about 5:30 p. m. as he worked in a field. Harold Jordan, a neighbor who was with Mustard, escaped unhurt.

Lightning struck the spire of the Powell Butte Community Christian Church and burned an eight-inch hole in the roof. Custodian Chester Maxwell, inside the church at the time, was not injured.

Another lightning bolt set fire to a haystack fence on the Malcolm McDonald ranch.

Observers estimated that three-fourths of an inch of rain fell in about an hour during a downpour that accompanied the lightning storm. It was the worst of a series of storms which began Monday night. A steer on the Jack McCaffery ranch was killed by lightning Monday.

Wednesday's storm apparently was a local one centered at Powell Butte since there were no reports of damage in adjoining areas.

Klamath Falls, where crop damage was heavy in a Tuesday night storm, reported pleasant weather Thursday. So did other sections struck by earlier storms.
