

Camera Captures 10th Timber Days Highlights

Fete Has Biggest Crowds In History

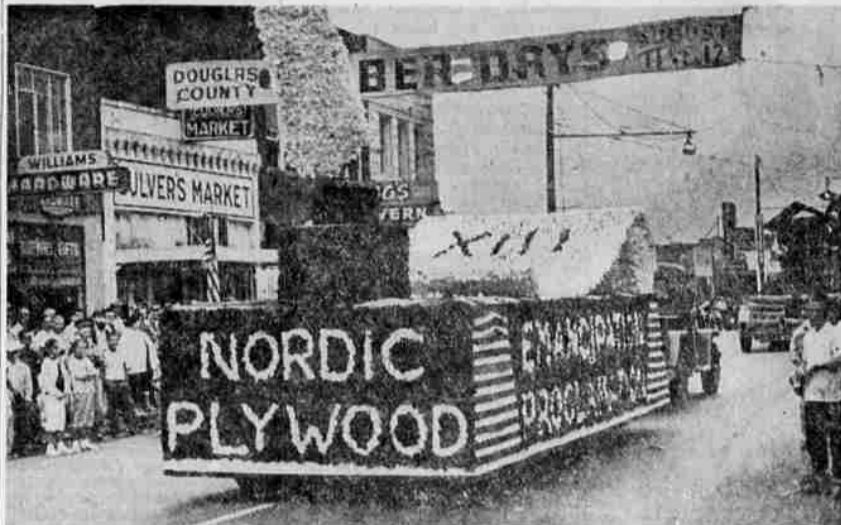

The biggest crowds in the ten-year history of Douglas County Timber Days jammed Sutherlin Saturday and Sunday to watch the variety of events planned for their pleasure.

Sutherlin police estimated 12,000 persons watched the grand parade Saturday morning. That night, 600 persons attended the queen's banquet at the IOOF hall and an estimated number danced through most of the night at the three dances.

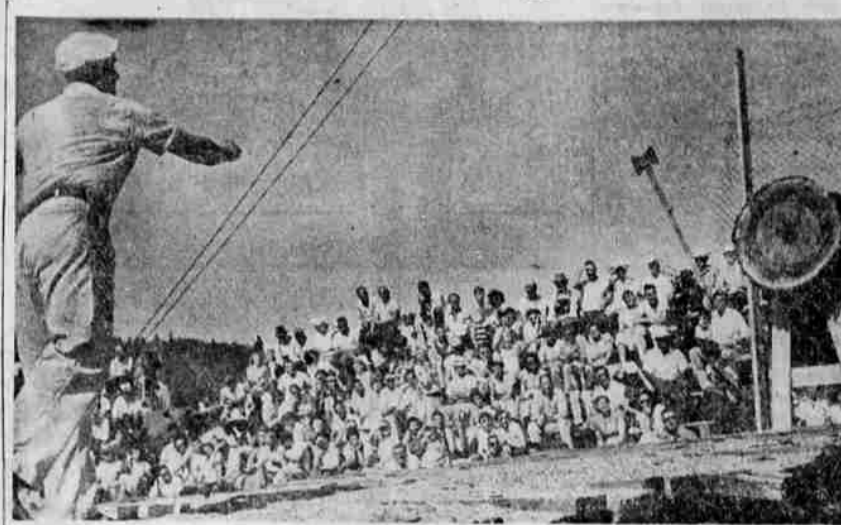

Sunday afternoon, even the expanded seating at the Timber Days arena was unable to take care of the crowd which came to watch the logging contests. Close to 5,000 persons were on the grounds in the afternoon.

The queen contest committee expressed its thanks to the Sutherlin stores of Holgate's, Golden Rule and Lowell's for the prizes for the court.

A Roseburg man, S. H. Wingfield, 427 W. Fair St., won the television set in a contest Sunday.

FIRST PLACE — This float, entered by Nordic Plywood, captured first place honors in the Timber Days parade. Done in blue and white, the entry was entitled "Emancipation Proclamation," with the scroll representing the Fourteenth Amendment to the U. S. Constitution. Theme of the parade was "Historical Events of America." (Paul Jenkins)

AX THROWER — Representative of the many logging skills demonstrated during Timber Days Sunday afternoon was ax throwing as done by the man above whose ax seems headed straight for the bulls' eye. Loggers from as far away as Longview, Wash., were present for the celebration. (Paul Jenkins)

HI! RED — Boys and girls gleefully shouted recognition to Red Reynolds, star of KVAL-TV, Eugene, grand marshal of the Timber Days parade. Red returned most of the greetings, but had one complaint — his gun jammed during the parade. (Paul Jenkins)

Capacity Crowd Overflows Seats To Watch Loggers

The seating capacity of the Timber Days grounds in Sutherlin was doubled this year, but there still weren't enough seats for everyone who showed up to watch the logging contests Sunday afternoon.

Loggers from throughout Douglas County and from as far away as Longview, Wash., demonstrated the skills which make them valuable members of any logging crew.

The most spectacular event, and the richest in prize money, was the speed climbing contest. Only two men entered, Jim Dunlap, of Powers, and Malcolm Harper, of Cheshire. They split the prize money as they were tied for time. In addition to the climbing contest, Harper demonstrated how to top a tree with a power saw and Dunlap did some aerial gymnastics.

A special feature was a log rolling contest between Nelson Grubbe, Sutherlin Lion, and Byron Wong of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Grubbe was the challenger and winner of the match. Results of the contest were as follows:

Power saw bucking — 1. Wendell (Pokey) Allen, Roseburg; 2. Tom Weathers, Camas Valley; 3. Alvin Russell, Sutherlin.

Hand chopping — 1. John Miller, Dallas; 2. Bob Waibel, Brownsville; 3. Leonard Cookson, Medford.

Hand bucking — 1. Ben Lentz, Lebanon; 2. Allen, Roseburg; 3. Weathers, Camas Valley.

Lady power saw bucking — 1. Mrs. Polly Williams; 2. Mrs. Pokey Allen, Roseburg.

Ax throwing — 1. Eddie Follis, Medford; 2. Allen, Roseburg; 3. Dunlap, Powers.

Log rolling — 1. Charles Harris, Longview Wash.; 2. Harold Hooper, Longview; 3. Gene Culver, Sutherlin.

THE REASON — Logs such as these beauties on a Martin Bros. Box Co. truck in the Timber Days symbolize Douglas County's annual event in honor of the woods and the men who work in them. This was just one of the loads which appeared in the parade. (Paul Jenkins)

HAND BUCKING — Tommy Weathers, Camas Valley, shows the skill which won him third place in the hand bucking contest at Douglas County Timber Days Sunday. For his straining efforts, Weathers received $15. (Paul Jenkins)

DANCE, DANCE — Gloria Allen, sword dancer with the Highlanders Bagpipe band of Eugene, demonstrates her skill during Timber Days at Sutherlin Saturday. The band, sponsored by the Eugene Police Dept., marched in the parade and then played throughout the afternoon on downtown streets. (Paul Jenkins)

RIDING AGAIN — Paul Revere rode again, through the streets of Sutherlin, Saturday in the parade for Douglas County timber Days. The young Paul is depicted as warning his friends of the approach of the British. The float, entered by the Sutherlin Lions club, took second place. (Paul Jenkins)

IT'S TRICKY — Log rolling is tricky anytime, but when two men are as evenly matched as Charles Harris, Longview, Wash., (right) and Harold Hooper, also of Longview, (left) it becomes an art. The contest between the two men was a highlight of Sunday's logging contests. Harris finally dumped Hooper and won the contest. (Paul Jenkins)

COMING DOWN — High climbing Jim Dunlap, of Powers, gave the crowd a thrill as he came down the tree in the speed climbing contest. Here he has just stopped himself after sliding for a few feet. He and Malcolm Harper, of Cheshire, the only two contestants, tied with a time of 45-4/5 seconds each. (Paul Jenkins)
