Third Annual Watershed Congress Concludes Session

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The third annual National Watershed Congress ended Thursday with an inventory of the toughest problems in national water resources development. In place of adopting resolutions, the congress normally issues summaries of its meetings for consideration of its sponsoring organizations. This time the Summaries Committee raised a series of questions covering all phases of the resources program. The report questioned: Whether the water resources program should be administered by the federal government or

Red Reforms Are Postponed For Tibet Area

HONG KONG (AP) — Communist China said Thursday night Red reforms would be "put off for a comparatively long period" in Tibet, where rebellion is reported flaring. For the first time the Peiping regime hinted officially that it was having trouble with the 1,200,000 Tibetans whose land was overrun in 1951 by Red armies. Peiping Radio broadcast a summary of a speech by Gen. Chang Kuo-Hua, Red China's military chief in Tibet, to the Chinese Communist Party Congress now in session in Peiping. Chang told the conclave any forced changes in the lives of the Tibetans would "only create difficulties for peaceful reform." "These reforms," he added, "would not begin for comparatively long period to come." Chang did not specify what type of reform he meant. In sharp contrast to other speakers who told of swift transformations of their areas to communism, Chang would make no such boasts. The best he could say was that Red troops had "set an example in agricultural production" and that schools and hospitals were going up where once there had been none.

Russia Said Building Largest Submarine Fleet

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A team of six experts attached to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) reported Thursday Russia is building the world's biggest submarine fleet. The NATO team told delegates attending the 45th annual convention of the American Assn. of Port Authorities that Soviet Union workers are completing three new submarines every two weeks to add to the Red Navy's estimated present sub fleet of 400.

should be "formulated to maximize the participation of the state and local governments." Whether state and local governments should assume a share of the cost if they are assigned program responsibility. Whether water resources will be developed most efficiently by the watershed, upstream program or downstream, large-scale projects, or a combination of the two. Whether all states should create water resources commissions and whether state legislative codes should be developed for water resources development. Whether there should be but one federal agency in water resources development.

The report noted what it described as competition between the Army Engineers and the Bureau of Reclamation for the "privilege" of building projects. It said "some supporters of (the Department of Agriculture) believe that in small projects legislation is motivated not by a sympathy for small projects but rather by a desire to prevent Agriculture's program from developing further."

U. S. Asks Soviet Aid In Mapping North Pole Cap

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has proposed that Russia join with it in making a photogram of the North Pole's shifting ice cap. The proposal was advanced in a note made public Thursday by the State Department. Officials said it was delivered Wednesday to the Soviet embassy. It proposed flights by U.S. and Soviet planes between Nome, Alaska, and Muransk in the Soviet Union. Alternate flights shuffling between these two points would be made on a one-week schedule during the March-September, 1957 period. This is the period of maximum daylight in the arctic. The aerial photogramming would be a project of the International Geophysical Year. This is an 18-month world wide study, starting next July 1. Its purpose is to take a long look at the earth—on land, in the air and at sea—so as to make accurate measurements. Details of the joint U.S.-Soviet photo mapping would be worked out through diplomatic channels. Soviet acceptance of the idea in principle is expected because of informal discussions at an arctic conference in Stockholm last May.

Kefauver Asks Nixon Apology

MOOREHEAD, Minn. (AP) — Democratic vice presidential candidate Estes Kefauver said prior to a campaign invasion of Montana Thursday he was sure he and Adlai Stevenson "see the Nixon matter eye to eye." The Tennessee senator was referring to his demand that Vice President Nixon apologize publicly for what he called Nixon's unjust accusations in past campaigns about the loyalty of Democratic Party leaders. Kefauver said the question had been raised as to whether, before drawing a bead on Nixon, he had discussed the matter with Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate. "I hadn't sought any counsel, and none was offered," he told newsmen.

New Polio Cases Number Climbs To New High

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of new polio cases rose to at least 855 last week, the highest weekly total for the year. The Public Health Service said no reports had been received from Utah and South Dakota for the week ended Sept. 15, but without these there was a rise of 101 cases over the 855 in the week ended Sept. 8. "There is no reason for alarm and there were no reports of any localized outbreaks such as occurred in Chicago," a Health Service spokesman said. The previous weekly high for 1956 had been 943 for the week ended Aug. 25. For the disease year which started April 1, there had been 8,659 cases through Sept. 15, compared with 19,084 a year earlier. The calendar year total had been 10,726 compared with 20,147.

Disagreement Reported Over Lowering Tariffs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spokesmen for the American Farm Bureau Federation and for various manufacturing industries disagreed sharply Thursday over whether U. S. tariffs and other import curbs should be lowered. The Farm Bureau urged further easing of import restrictions to build up foreign nations' dollar holdings and thus enable them to buy more agricultural goods here. But spokesmen for plywood, bicycle and other manufacturers, along with segments of the fisheries industry, appealed for protection against low cost foreign imports which they said in some cases threaten them with extinction. They prepared their testimony for a House Ways and Means subcommittee currently holding hearings on trade and tariff policy. The group is headed by Rep. Boggs (D-La.).

Indian Elected To Head FAO

ROME (AP) — B. R. Sen of India Thursday was elected director general of the 74-nation U.N. Food (FAO). Shortly before the balloting, John H. Davis, former U. S. assistant secretary of agriculture, withdrew his candidacy for the top FAO post. Sen got 42 votes to 29 for Dutch Agriculture Minister S. L. Mansholt. The United States had announced it would abstain when Davis put out of the race. Sen, 58, is an Oxford graduate. He was famine commissioner in 1942 during one of the worst famines in Indian history. Later, he was director general of food operations with the problem of distributing food to 375 million people. He has been Indian representative at the U. N. and ambassador to Washington and Mexico.

Fishing Reported Bad In Soviet Union Waters

MOSCOW (AP) — Fishing is so bad in the Soviet Union it has experts of the Academy of Sciences worried, the Literary Gazette said Thursday. The Literary Gazette, tri-weekly organ of the Soviet Writers' Union, said the yield of valuable food fish in the Caspian dropped from 618 million kilograms in 1913 to 277 million in 1954. It was much the same story in the Azov. A group of academy scientists gave these reasons for the decline: Hydroelectric projects made it impossible to maintain proper water levels; fishing trusts ignored regulations and fished out many areas at the spawning season; water contamination by industry. The scientists suggested setting up a state committee for the preservation of food fish and other natural resources.
