Noel Field Says He Always Will Be An American

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Noel Field said Tuesday he is and always will be an American, but "I am not sorry for my decision to stay and work in this country where I suffered so much." Field is the one-time State Department official who with his wife asked for political asylum in Communist Hungary in 1954 after five years in a Hungarian prison without trial. His name figured in the treason trial here of former Hungarian Foreign Secretary Laszlo Rajk, who was executed for plotting with Yugoslavians' Marshal Tito.

Admitted Brink's Robber Tells Of Carting Away Bags Of Money From Office

BOSTON (AP)—Joseph J. O'Keefe, admitted Brink's robber, testified in a court room Tuesday that he and a gang of masked accomplices carted off bags of money from the transfer company's office six years ago and dumped $1,143,000 on a hideout table shortly afterward. His three-day recital of the prosecution's version of the nation's biggest robbery reached a climax as he told of the robber band's entrance into the Brink's counting room and the well-planned, rapid escape with the loot. He named as his actual partner in the raid: Stanley Guscia, 38 now dead; Adolph "Jazz" Maffie, 45; Michael V. Geagan, 47; Thomas F. Richardson, 49; James I. Faherty, 45, and Henry Baker, 50. O'Keefe swore that Anthony Pino, 48, and Joseph Banfield, 45, also now dead, sat outside in a getaway truck, and that Vincent Costa, 42, acted as lookout. O'Keefe said the remaining defendant, Joseph F. McGinnis, 52, described by the state as the "brains" of the robbery, remained at his liquor store. "I am also grateful to enjoy the advantages of witnessing and experiencing in practice the building of socialism in Hungary. I was dreaming of that in prison and the dream now has been realized."

Railroads Ask Another Rate Raise Approval

WASHINGTON (AP)—Eastern and Western railroads started work Wednesday on a petition asking the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) to approve a further freight rate increase of about 15 per cent. Formal announcement of the proposal followed an all-day meeting here Tuesday of chief rail freight executives from all parts of the country. The Southern lines also were represented at the meeting. But they decided not to join in the request at least for the present. The Eastern and Western railroad announced that "these increases are necessary to meet recent increases in the cost of materials and supplies, and to assure the carriers sufficient revenue to permit necessary improvement in both rights of way and equipment." Railroad freight rates were hiked by an estimated 473 million dollars a year last March when the ICC approved a general 6 per cent increase in such charges. A number of Eastern railroad executives said later that this was insufficient. The new proposal calls for a general advance of 15 per cent on rates for shipping most commodities, and somewhat less than that on coal, coke, fresh fruits and vegetables, frozen foods and concentrates, canned goods, lumber and sugar.

113,000 Acres May Receive Benefits Of Reclamation In Oregon And Washington

By FRANK W. VAILLE WASHINGTON (AP)—Oregon and Washington projects totaling more than 113,000 acres are listed by the Bureau of Reclamation as possible developments under the small projects reclamation act. Bureau spokesmen emphasize that the list, which includes 27 projects in Oregon and 20 in Washington, was prepared only to give a rough approximation of overall potential of the new program set up by Congress this year. Many of the listed projects have never been studied and might be found uneconomical and dropped. At the same time, however, other projects now considered too large may be broken down by local sponsors to meet cost restrictions. Listed projects for the two states would bring full water supply to 33,955 acres and supplemental water to 33,415 acres in Oregon. Washington projects would provide water for 43,420 new acres and a supplemental supply for 2,890 acres. Briefly, the program authorizes the bureau to loan local sponsors as much as five million dollars to build any approved project, with a ceiling of 10 million dollars on total project cost. The program depends in two main points from procedures for the major reclamation activity of the bureau. Local sponsors would develop and plan the small projects, not the federal government. Also, as now written, it would not be necessary to gain affirmative action by Congress on each project as in the case of larger undertakings. The latter provision, however, may be in for a change in the next Congress. Although he signed the bill, President Eisenhower questioned the provision under which Congress would have 60 days in which to veto approved local applications submitted to it by the Bureau. John L. Wolfgang, chief of the bureau's project development branch, said the bureau now is working out procedures for handling applications and expects to be ready to go by the time Congress resolves its differences with the President. Several applications have been received but the sponsors jumped the gun by failing to have the projects cleared first by the state governor, as the law requires.

4 States Could Supply Need If Canal Is Closed

By MAX B. SKELTON HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Four states have crude oil to spare and could fill the gap with ease should the Suez crisis deprive Western Europe of its Middle East oil supply. Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and New Mexico could meet the emergency simply by letting their wells run longer. Transportation might become a major problem but the supply problem would be nothing more than turning valves and throwing pump switches. The four states last week produced 4,576,000 barrels of crude oil daily. This was 64.0 per cent of the nation's output. Another two million barrels daily in excess productive capacity was kept idle by lack of market demand. Conservation officials from the four states on Tuesday advised H. A. Stewart, director of the Interior Department's Oil and Gas Division, that oil to meet a possible Western Europe emergency could be made available immediately. Texas could boost its production by a million barrels daily, Louisiana by some 285,000 to 300,000, Oklahoma by 125,000, and New Mexico by 40,000 to 50,000 barrels. Stewart estimated that an additional 500,000 barrels of United States crude would be needed daily should tanker traffic through the Suez be halted. The figure would jump to 1,100,000 barrels a day should Middle East pipe lines to Mediterranean ports also be cut off.

Man's Trouble All Stemmed From One-Eyed Monster

ST. COLUMB, England (AP)—Sidney Conroy says he was married happily for 20 years before television entered his home. But now, says the 41-year-old ice cream salesman, the one-eyed "monster" has sent his wife from his bed, his mind into turmoil and his employer's money to the winds. Conroy told this tale of TV troubles in court here. "I had been a happy married man and in love with my wife for 20 years. In four months ago that monster called TV came into my life and I have not had a minute's peace since." "It has become a god in my house as far as my wife and family are concerned. No one must talk or even breathe when the monster is switched on. The climax came last Friday when she broke down. My wife and family were walking about like lost people, and it seemed as if they all ignored me because I would not get it repaired quick enough. "My wife stormed off to bed at 7:30 p.m. and nobody would talk to me. When I went into our bedroom, my wife deliberately got out of bed, taking her pillows. "That night I lay awake. All the time my mind was in a turmoil. "The next day she never spoke all day and at night she went to sleep with the children. Came the next day and still she would not speak and that evening she and the family left me alone in the house. "I lay awake again, my mind almost numbed, and I thought I would teach her a lesson." Conroy told the judge he drove around to the factory where he

Giveaway Called Manufactured Issue By Seaton

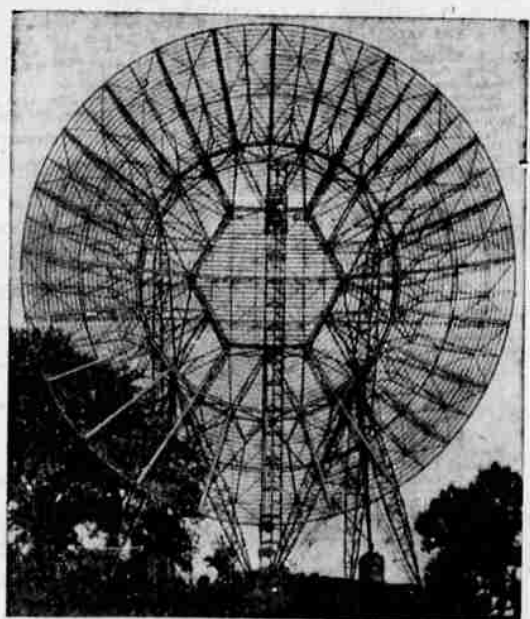

DENVER (AP)—An Eisenhower cabinet member declared Tuesday night that Republicans are "starting to give our side of the story" in answer to Democratic charges of "giveaway." Secretary of Interior Fred Seaton told a news conference that "no one set out to plunder the public lands—it is purely a manufactured issue." Seaton conferred with Colorado GOP leaders on campaign strategy Tuesday and met with public lands representatives Wednesday before flying to a dinner meeting at McCook, Neb. He told reporters Denver was the first stop on a cabinet campaign to bring into focus the political picture in various regions. "We feel the people who administer the program are the best ones to tell about the record," Seaton said. Discussing Democratic charges, Seaton said: "In the last 10 years of the Democratic administration they took 400,000 acres out of the nation's wildlife reserves. There were reasons—war, lack of appropriations and so on. But the land is still there." He said the Eisenhower administration in 3 1/2 years has added 87,000 acres to the wildlife reserves, and established seven new preserves. Seaton said the Democrats added virtually no land to the national park system while Republicans have tacked on 408,000 acres in the United States and established a new national park in the Virgin Islands.

Traffic In Suez Falls To 31 Ships Tuesday

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP)—Traffic in the Suez Canal fell to 31 ships Tuesday, the fourth day of operations exclusively by Egyptian and Greek pilots. The daily transit average slid to 38, against an average of more than 40 before the walkout of about 100 foreign pilots Friday. Forty-seven vessels, including some which failed in an effort to get through before the walkout deadline Friday midnight, made the trip through the canal Saturday. Both Sunday and Monday the count was 36.

Upper Atmosphere Of Arctic To Be Explored In Study

WASHINGTON (AP)—Upper atmosphere of the Arctic to a height of 180 miles will be studied by scientists next month in a joint United States-Canadian effort. The plan, part of both countries' participation in the International Geophysical Year, was announced Saturday by Dr. Joseph Kaplan and Dr. F. T. Davies, respective chairmen of the U. S. and Canadian national committees for the IGY. The rockets will be fired by a military-civilian scientific team from a site already prepared at Ft. Churchill, Canada. They will use Aerobee rockets with two smaller stage rockets. Initial firings are scheduled in October and November. The announcement did not say how many rockets would be fired, or how long the tests would continue. Among other things, the study is expected to provide the first scientific measurements of the density, temperature, pressure and winds of the cold Arctic atmosphere. For the first time, the Aurora Borealis or northern lights will be studied by instruments carried to high altitudes in the rockets. Most of the work, including the rocket firing, will be done by U.S. personnel, but scientists of both countries will observe the rockets and process data gathered from them. In preparation for the tests, U. S. Army engineers have laid miles of roadways through the swampy muskeg of the test site, provided concrete pads for the rocket launchers and erected buildings and fuel bunkers.

Pipelines To Distribute 150 Million Cubic Feet SPOKANE (AP)—Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corp. will be distributing about 150 million cubic feet of natural gas each day by the end of the year to Washington, Oregon and Idaho, an official said Tuesday. Robert Herring of Houston, Texas, vice president of the corporation, said another 150 million cubic feet a day will be distributed to the Colorado Interstate Co. from the fields in the San Juan Basin of New Mexico. He said the long pipeline from border south of Vancouver, B. C. is nearly completed. Herring, here for ceremonies marking the arrival of gas in communities and Lewiston, Idaho should get natural gas on or about Oct. 15. Cities on the Coast probably will take nearly all of the 300 million cubic feet of gas scheduled to be piped down daily from the Peace River fields of Alberta and British Columbia, he said.

Truman Claims He's Entitled To Big Reward

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman Saturday asked chairman Leonard W. Hall of the Republican National Committee to give the Korean Red Cross $1,000 offered by Hall in a continuing dispute over whether Vice President Richard Nixon ever called Truman a traitor. Truman made public the following letter addressed to Hall: "Some time ago you made a statement to the press that you would contribute one thousand dollars to any charity I might name if it could be proved that the vice president had called this former President a traitor. "Because it has been proved rather conclusively, I suggest that this contribution be made to the Red Cross of Korea, a country in which the Republicans have professed such a deep interest during the past few years. "Sincerely Yours, "Harry S. Truman." The former President, in making public the letter, did not elaborate. The "traitor" dispute stems from the 1952 presidential campaign. Associated Press stories on Oct. 27, 1952, quoted Nixon as saying in a speech at Texas that Truman, Dean Acheson and Adlai Stevenson "are traitors to the high principles in which many of the nation's Democrats believe." They went on to quote Nixon: "Real Democrats are outraged by the Truman gang's toleration and defense of Communism in high places." Acheson was secretary of State under Truman.

U. S. Ready To Ship Oil Supply To Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is setting up plans to ship from 500,000 to 1,100,000 additional barrels of oil daily to West Europe in the event Middle East oil supplies are interrupted. H. A. Stewart, director of the Interior Department's Office of Oil and Gas, reported active steps on the project Tuesday. Stewart reported that in addition to the extra American oil which could be made available some 300,000 barrels daily of Middle East oil presently being imported into this country by tanker would be diverted to Europe under any emergency. He said it is also contemplated there would be additional quantities yet undetermined, from Venezuela. Stewart emphasized that all of the planning contemplates supplies big enough to prevent any shortages of rationing domestically. One observer saw a house wren feed its young 1,217 times in 13 hours.
