Community Growth Tied To Means Of Communication

By BUD BODINE
Staff Writer, News-Review

The growth of a community is tied directly to the growth of existing means of communication, Tom Croson, vice president of West Coast Airlines, told a Roseburg Chamber of Commerce luncheon group Monday.

With two-thirds of West Coast's business in cities the size of Roseburg, Croson said, the airline is interested in Roseburg's future growth and expansion. Similarly, Croson indicated Roseburg has an interest in the expansion and improvement of the transportation facilities that serve it.

Croson told of two major developments coming in West Coast service. One is the order of four F-27 type two-engine high-winged aircraft that will be put into service in about a year, Croson said. He added that the new aircraft, besides offering passengers a much better view of the scenery, flies at 280 mph. and has a fully pressurized cabin.

Croson explained that West Coast is seeking to expand the area it serves in Oregon to include Salem, Bend-Redmond, and a connection from Klamath Falls through Lakeview and Burns into Boise, Idaho.

Outside of Oregon, he said, West Coast is trying to expand into Montana and into California and Nevada to provide better air service and connections for its present customers. This expansion proposal will be put before the Civil Aeronautics Board in two separate cases sometime in the next few months.

When these cases arise, Croson said, cities that will be affected such as Roseburg, will have a chance to present an exhibit and send a representative or spokesman.

Harold Hickerson, secretary-manager of the Roseburg Chamber of Commerce, indicated Monday that the chamber will cooperate in the preparation of such an exhibit from Roseburg and Douglas County.

Diver To Try To Reach Submerged Automobile

THE DALLES — Weather permitting, a diver was to try Tuesday to reach what is believed to be an automobile in the Columbia River near Mosier, west of here.

S. P. Murphy of Mosier said he and a fishing companion noticed tire tracks leading to the river's edge from a parking area beside the highway. A search was started and a grappling hook snagged an object Sunday.

The river at that point is 90 feet deep so a diver was called.

Fire Sweeps 3 Buildings At Missouri College

FULTON, Mo. — Fire swept through three buildings at Williams Woods College late last night but the shouts and screams of house mothers roused about 160 girls and they scrambled out unhurt.

Robert Martin, public relations director for the girls' school, reported all were accounted for. He estimated damage at more than $385,000 but said it will cost close to a million to restore the lost facilities.

Students at nearby Westminster College pitched in to help remove clothing and possessions from the burning dormitories. Two were overcome by smoke and two others were slightly hurt.
