Porter Visits Roseburg On Post Election Swing

in with the current weakness in the lumber market.
 On social security, Porter said that he has heard complaints in the district in the administration of the program and of various disqualifying clauses in the law that work unfairly against some recipients.
 Porter also indicated an interest in public works developments in the district. He said that he had made a study of the Siuslaw River bar with the intention to make Florence an all-year port.
 Porter said that he favors any incentives for developing greater coast-wise shipping and expanded ports in the district.
 Speaking of committee assignments, Porter stated that he hopes to become a member on one or two of the following committees: Insular and Interior Affairs Committee, Appropriations Committee, Public Works Committee and Banking and Currency Committee.
 With the 1956 showing of Oregon Democrats, Porter said, he hopes for a good committee assignment.
 Porter also said that an emergency exists in the financing of education and schools. A search must be made to find a solution to the problem, Porter said, in which federal aid could play a part.
 Porter also said that he would like to see a system of aid for "talented, qualified students" to continue advanced education. He cited the United States' falling behind Russia in output of scientists as an example for the need for this type of program.
 Commenting on the issue of mining claims and land usage such as the Al Sarena case in the recent campaign, Porter said that the Administrative Procedures Act governing this field at present was adequate.
 The problem arises in enforcing the law, Porter said, and assuring all contestants are fairly heard on claims. He noted Interior Secretary Fred Seaton's statement that there will be "no more Al Sarena's."

Riddle Businessman Denies Battery Count

William Henry Carhart, 45, operator of the Riddle Cleaners, Riddle, was arrested Monday by a deputy sheriff on a charge of assault and battery.
 Sheriff Ira C. Byrd said today that Carhart was charged on a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace Nina Pietzold, Canyonville. Mrs. Colleen Boyd, Riddle, complained that Carhart struck her last Thursday during an argument at the Riddle Cleaners over a new dress that her friend, Mrs. Jean Sorenson, had taken to the cleaners.
 Arraigned before Judge Pietzold last Friday, Carhart pleaded innocent to the charge and was free on posting a $100 bail. Judge Pietzold said today that Carhart had requested a jury trial and that the date for the trial had not been set.

Federal Action Looms To Halt Dock Strike

officials of the union said in San Francisco that the vote was overwhelmingly in favor of a strike.
 Trade sources estimated the East and Gulf coast strike already has cost the national economy more than 100 million dollars.
 Further negotiations were scheduled here Wednesday afternoon between the ILA and the New York Shipping Assn., which represents 170 shipping and stevedoring firms in the port of New York area.
 No concrete progress has been made so far toward settlement of the six-day-old strike of 60,000 ILA members which has closed Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports except for military shipments and movement of some bulk cargo.
 Report from Washington said the administration was considering two alternate courses of court action for any injunction to end the strike.
 If the President invoked the national emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act, this would normally bring an injunction for an 80-day cooling-off period. However, Murray Shipper, assistant White House press secretary, said last night: "So far as I know, there are no plans as of this moment to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act."
 In view of Snyder's comment, the more likely course might be action by the NLRB based on charges by the New York Shipping Assn. The employer group complained several weeks ago that the ILA had violated the Taft-Hartley Act by insisting on bargaining for an Atlantic and Gulf Coast contract with the Port of New York employer group.
 The NLRB has ruled several times that the Port of New York area alone is the proper bargaining territory for the ILA and the employer association. To date, the union has had separate contracts in the various ports. The New York employers, resisting the union's demand, have contended they have no authority to bargain for employers in other ports.
 The ILA, which modified its contract territory demand recently, now is insisting that a new contract here cover all branch operations of Port of New York employers in other East and Gulf Coast ports. This is a major issue in the negotiation deadlock.
 If the NLRB general counsel finds merit in the employers' charges and issues a complaint, he could apply for a federal court injunction restraining the ILA from continuing the strike so long as it keeps insisting that other ports be included in a new contract.
 The ILA could abandon its two-coast bargaining demand and still continue the strike on other issues, but some officials were hopeful that if the contract territory issue was put aside, agreement might be reached on the remaining issues.

Two Ex-Convicts Held For Probe Of Bank Robbery

SEATTLE — The FBI Tuesday night arrested two ex-convicts and two women for questioning in connection with the $31,000 robbery of the West Seattle branch of the Peoples National Bank of Washington Monday.
 Richard D. Auerbach, in charge of the Seattle FBI office, identified the four as:
 Raymond William Joseph Clermont, 29, of Seattle, who was paroled from the McNeil Island Federal Penitentiary near Tacoma two years ago after serving a term for interstate transportation of stolen property.
 Gerard Rushton Peabody, 36, of Seattle, a bartender with a long criminal record involving larceny, assault and bank robbery.
 Mary Moore McGraw, 36, of Grand Coulee, Wash. Auerbach said she was also known as Mickey Hale.
 Jane Hardesty, of Seattle. Clermont was charged with bank robbery. Peabody, who was released from McNeil Island in November, 1953, after serving a term for bank robbery, was being held for investigation.
 The two women were being held as material witnesses.
 Auerbach's agents took Clermont into custody at a home being rented by the Hardesty woman in West Seattle. In the home, Auerbach said, agents found two revolvers and $15,000 in bills, much of the money in wrappers bearing the name of the robbed bank.
 Auerbach declined to comment on the circumstances which led FBI agents to arrest the four.
 The bank was robbed shortly before closing time Monday by two armed bandits. One of the gunmen stood at a doorway while the other rifled the tellers' cages.
 As the two gunmen fled, a brown paper sack in which the stolen money was stuffed split open and some $10,000 in bills were strewn on the street and abandoned.

Russians Shooting Hungarian Refugees To Prevent Flight

VIENNA, Austria — Russian soldiers are shooting down Hungarian refugees in efforts to prevent them from escaping into Austria, a U.N. agency reported Wednesday.
 A statement issued in Geneva by a spokesman for the office of U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees reported that nearly 52,000 Hungarians have fled to Austria since the rebellion began, including 8,000 who arrived in the Eisenstadt area during the past few days.
 "Among these latest arrivals, there are many wounded, because Soviet infantry has arrived at the border and has opened fire on the refugees," the spokesman said. "Nevertheless, the refugees are continuing to cross the border in great numbers."
 The U.N. report was borne out by a U.S. congressman who said he saw Russian soldiers shoot down a refugee on Hungarian soil near the Austrian frontier Wednesday.
 Rep. Francis Walter (D-Pa.), here to survey the U.S. aid program for Hungarian refugees, told newsmen he witnessed the incident while on a trip to the Hungarian-Austrian frontier with Lt. Gen. Joseph M. Swing, U.S. commissioner of immigration and naturalization and John V. Lindquist, executive assistant to the U.S. attorney general.
 Walter's account coincided with statements by refugees that trainloads of their countrymen are being deported to Russia. This was made in the face of protestations from the Soviet-controlled Budapest Radio that there have been no deportations, and promises that Russian troops will turn over all arrested Hungarians to the regime of Premier Janos Kadar for trial.
 Walter said he was actually walking on Hungarian territory some distance from the first Hungarian checkpoint when he heard shooting and saw a man running. The man was running beside a small canal about 100 yards from the congressman with soldiers firing at him.
 Walter said he saw the man fall down the canal bank as though he had been shot. Refugees who came across the border later told him the soldiers were Russians, he said.

Haile Selassie Hunts For Ducks

TOKYO — Emperor Haile Selassie went duck hunting Wednesday — armed with a long-handled net and wearing a topcoat and dress hat.
 The bearded Ethiopian monarch, paying a state visit to Japan, hunted in the centuries-old Japanese court fashion at Emperor Hirohito's imperial hunting preserves in Kishigaya. Other business had been shooed away, but Crown Prince Akihito acted as host to the visiting ruler.
 The royal sportsmen hid behind clusters of shrubs until the ducks gathered on a nearby pond. Then a court lackey frightened the birds. As they winged over the shrubs, the hunters popped up and netted their game.
 The emperor secured 43 ducks, including two by Haile Selassie.

Syria Asks Action To Halt Threat Of Invasion

 and President Nasser had agreed on broad principles to govern the use of the force, but his report left unanswered the big question of whether any of the U.N. troops would police the Suez Canal area after the withdrawal of British and French forces.
 The negotiations, Hammarskjold said, would be based on two major principles:
 1. Egypt's sovereignty will be recognized as a matter of principle, and the functioning of the U.N. force.
 2. The U.N. will maintain the force in Egypt until it has completed its task of supervising the cease-fire and the withdrawal of troops.
 Hammarskjold told the Assembly the functioning of the force had been hampered by the fact that "as yet no withdrawals have taken place in compliance with the resolutions of the General Assembly" adopted Nov. 2 and 7.
 He indicated he had asked Britain, France and Israel for information about their plans to withdraw and told the Assembly he would report again "as soon as I receive clarifications from the governments concerned."
 There was no immediate comment from the British, French or Israeli delegations.
 Hammarskjold agreed with Egypt that the work of clearing the canal will not "begin" until after the withdrawal of non-Egyptian forces from the Port Said and the canal area. The clearance operation is expected to take about five months.
 Israeli sources said Hammarskjold appeared to be taking the good faith of Nasser into the basis of the troop arrangements. They added that the whole trend seemed to be toward restoring the conditions which led to the conflict.

Policeman Places Defendant Near Riesel Attack

NEW YORK — A policeman testifying in the Victor Riesel case has placed Godofredo Maranti, one of the defendants, near the scene of the attack.
 Patrolman Edward F. Grant testified for the government yesterday that Maranti drove a car the wrong way on a one-way mid-Manhattan street just before Riesel was blinded.
 Grant said he flagged the car down and started to write a summons. The officer said the driver pleaded, "I'm married and have children. I'm in a hurry to get home."
 Grant testified he let the driver go although he offered the patrolman a $5 tip. Grant quoted himself as saying, "Put that away before you get into trouble."
 To identify Maranti as the driver, Grant stepped from the stand in federal court, walked up to Maranti and squeezed his left shoulder hard.
 The government alleges Maranti drove Abe Telvi, later found slain on a lower East Side street, to the scene and that Abe Telvi threw the acid. Maranti, Domenico Bando and Leo Telvi, Abe Telvi's brother, are on trial. The government says it is trying to prove the three acted as go-betweens and harbored Abe Telvi after the attack last April 3 on the syndicated labor columnist.

Relatives Staying With Glide Woman

By Mrs. ARTHUR SELBY
 Mrs. Darlene Parckuk, and Mrs. Delores Streicher, sister and daughter respectively of Mrs. Elaine Ash, manager of the Red Barn, arrived from Portland last Saturday evening, to be with Mrs. Ash, who is suffering shock by the sudden death of the owner, Frank Kucera, Saturday morning.
 All three returned to Portland Monday. Following the funeral service of Kucera, Mrs. Ash will return to Glide, accompanied by the widow, Mrs. Frank Kucera and her attorney to look after the business interests of the deceased.
 The Red Barn was closed indefinitely Saturday, Nov. 17.
 The Rev. Karl Faulkner, pastor of the Glide Baptist Church, underwent major surgery Monday at the Douglas Community Hospital, and is reported to be in fair condition. The Rev. Faulkner requests that his friends do not send flowers, as he is allergic to them, but he would appreciate receiving cards. He expects to remain in the hospital 10 days and will then recuperate at the home of his sister in Roseburg.

Idaho University Freshman Admits Starting Blaze

MOSCOW, Idaho — A University of Idaho freshman has admitted setting an Oct. 19 dormitory fire in which three students died, Earle Koehler, state law enforcement commissioner, said Wednesday.
 Paul D. Matovich, 20, of Kellogg, Idaho, signed a statement in which he made a full confession to all dormitory fires "on the campus," Koehler said.
 The youth, held under $40,000 bond, is charged, however, with setting only a minor fire at Christman Hall where he lived. The three students died in an early-morning blaze at Gault Hall about two blocks away.
 Koehler, who flew back to Boise Tuesday night, said Prosecutor Lloyd G. Martinson of Latah County "has the confession." Martinson declined to comment and said "I have to concern myself" with the case involving the Christman fire.
 Koehler said the youth made the statement in the presence of a district court reporter and signed it.
 Fires broke out in four campus dormitories within eight days and student guards were set up last month as law enforcement agencies searched for an arsonist.
 Matovich, who was a student leader in high school, was charged with setting a fire at Christman Hall Oct. 13.

Attorney Claims Utilities Contend Power Shortages

WASHINGTON — An attorney for the Pacific Northwest Power Co. contended Tuesday that private utilities in the Pacific Northwest area have for many years said there were power shortages in the region.
 Allan Smith, a PNP lawyer, was attempting to disprove, during a Federal Power Commission hearing, a Portland power consultant's statement that private utilities in the Pacific Northwest have been fighting federal power construction.
 The consultant, Samuel Moment, had testified Monday that three of the organizing companies of Pacific Northwest Power had waged an intensive publicity campaign against federal dam construction.
 Smith, during cross examination of Moment, said the power load forecasts made by private utilities were more accurate than those made by the Bonneville Power Administration.
 Smith said private utility officials for many years have urged Congress to construct federal power facilities in the Pacific Northwest.
 Moment countered with the statement that the private utility overtures to Congress were "nullified" by a national advertising campaign directed by the private utilities against federal power.
 "For a few years," Moment said, "the utilities presumed to favor federal generation but they carried water on the other shoulder by means of the advertising campaign."
 The exchange between Smith and Moment, a witness for public power forces, came during an FPC hearing on PN power facilities for a license to construct the Mountain Sheep and Pleasant Valley dams on the Snake River.

Small Private Plane Crashes, Killing Three

STATESBORO, Ga. — A small private airplane, trying desperately to find the airport in a dense fog, crashed early Wednesday carrying its three occupants to a fiery death.
 The bodies were so badly charred by flames that only indirect identification was possible.
 E. W. Barnes of the Barnes Funeral Home at Statesboro, said, however, there was no doubt that the trio was Henry Elton Clifton, Statesboro photographer and owner of the plane, and two students at Georgia Teachers College.
 The students were Bob Fuqua of Hilliard, Fla., and Hump Campbell, whose wife teaches school in Savannah.
 The plane was Clifton's and there was no doubt that he was the pilot. He and the two college men had been seen together earlier in the night and presumably went for a flight.
 Around 2 or 3 a.m. the fog began to descend and visibility was soon near zero. The plane flew frantically over the town for nearly an hour trying to sight the airport but apparently could not.

Stevenson Fires Political Blast At Eisenhower

RIDGELAND, S.C. — Adlai Stevenson says, "It's about time that a lot of people in the South decided whether they are Democrats or Republicans."
 The defeated Democratic presidential candidate interrupted a hunting vacation here yesterday to attack Republican foreign policy.
 He charged that the GOP has no effective policy for handling Soviet expansion in the Middle East.
 "I have warned for three years," Stevenson told newsmen, "that the Eisenhower-Dulles foreign policy was headed for disaster and I wish I thought the administration had, even at this late date, some policy for restoring Allied unity in the Middle East."
 Stevenson noted the strong backing given the Republicans in the South in the recent election and said the people of the South must decide to which party they belong. "If they are Republicans," Stevenson declared, "they should candidly say so and work for that party. If they are Democrats, then they should return to that party and be a part of it."
 Stevenson is visiting a plantation near here owned by the Marshall Field family of Chicago.

Norwegian Troops Move Into Suez Canal Zone

 cities by Britain, France and Israel came in a statement calling for a U.N. investigation into "barbarous aggression." The statement was forwarded to U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and proposed that an investigation be made in cooperation with the International Red Cross.
 The governments of Britain, France and Israel have denied previous Egyptian charges of atrocities.
 Other Arab moves against Britain and France were reported from Syria and Jordan.
 In Damascus, the Syrian government announced the cancellation of all contracts with British and French companies and barred the piping of oil through Syria for Western Europe.
 The move appeared to be the first step in breaking off economic relations with Britain and France. Syria severed diplomatic relations with the two Western powers two weeks ago.
 Movement of oil through pipelines in Syria already had stopped. Some pumping stations on the lines were blown up two weeks ago following the British-French invasion of the canal zone.
 In Amman, Jordan's Parliament urged without a dissenting vote that Jordan end its military subsidy alliance with Britain and establish relations with Russia and Communist China. The military alliance stemmed from World War I, when Britain fostered the creation of Jordan. Pro-Egyptian candidates won a majority in Jordan's October elections and it was believed that the ending of the agreement was only a matter of time.
 Reports reaching Syria from Lebanon said widespread violence had erupted in Beirut and the Lebanese army was called out to restore order. Tanks were reported patrolling Beirut's streets after the French-owned Bank of Syria and Lebanon was bombed by unidentified persons.

Thanks For Everything

The tax assessor came to the door of the Jones house.
 "Do you have any possessions?" he asked.
 "Oh, yes sir," said Jones. "I'm a very rich man."
 "That's wonderful." The assessor held his pencil. "Now please name your possessions."
 "Sir," said Mr. Jones, "I have a friendly, faithful, kind, loyal wife. Many millionaires can't buy that."
 "True enough," said the assessor. "But I can't tax you for her. What else have you?"
 "Five lively, friendly children who love the Lord."
 "Yes, yes," said the assessor. "A wonderful little church, my health, a job, and many friends."
 "Well," said the assessor. "You owe no taxes, but you certainly are a rich man."
 Do you count your blessings the way Jones did?
 Some people always complain. God's children should thank God. Thank Him with us especially this Thanksgiving Day. Come to church and thank God — for everything.
