

Frigid Air Hits Northwest Area; Snow Forecast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A frigid arctic air mass from Canada may bring heavy snows to northwestern Oregon Wednesday, the U. S. Weather Bureau said Tuesday.

The heavy snowfall will occur if a storm now moving south from the Gulf of Alaska swings inland below the Columbia River to link with the cold air mass, the bureau said.

If the Alaskan storm remains off the coast, it will still leave "an inch or more" of snow as it moves by. However, if it swings inland north of Oregon, then Washington only will get the snow and Oregon will get rain.

Rain and snow showers were forecast for most of the state Tuesday night. The low in Eastern Oregon is expected to range from 15 to 25 and in western Oregon from 20 to 36.

The state Highway Commission said snow and ice had caused dangerous highway conditions over most of Oregon and advised motorists to carry chains.

Chains were required at Timberline, Warm Springs Junction, Siskiyou Summit, Green Springs Summit, Santiam Pass and Willamette Pass. The snowfall at these points ranged from 14 inches at Timberline to five at Warm Springs.

Motorists also were urged to carry chains at Government Camp, Sunset Summit, Astoria, Detroit, Cave Junction, Prospect, Sisters, Ochoco Summit, Brothers, Lakeview, Chemult, Bly, Lakeview, John Day and Ontario.

The greatest snowfall in the state was reported at Crater Lake National Park, which recorded 16 inches in the 24-hour period ending at 8 a. m. Tuesday.

Britain, France Agree To Discuss Peace Indirectly

WASHINGTON (AP)—Britain and France were reported today to have agreed to a plan for indirect talks with Egypt on a Suez Canal settlement with U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold acting as intermediary.

The Egyptian government refuses to meet face to face with British and French diplomats on the Suez problem.

There is hope the discussions can be started within a few days, but no specific time has yet been fixed.

The United States would stay out of the talks, to be held in New York, but would be ready to use its influence with both sides.

Under the plan, officials said, Hammarskjold would meet with the British and French to hear their views, then relay these views to the Egyptians, who would be in another room.

Assets Of S. Umpqua Bank Increase In 1956

The South Umpqua State Bank of Canyonville continued to grow during 1956.

A report to correspondent Virginia Proctor by Cashier D. C. A. Hoverson showed the bank ended the year with assets of $2,051,514. The bank now boasts $1,909,373.90 in deposits, loans and discounts total $928,945.10.

The year was notable for the county's newest bank. For the first time since it was formed Nov. 9, 1952, it had passed the 2-million-dollar mark in assets.

When the bank opened its doors three years ago, it employed three persons, including Hoverson. Today, the staff numbers eight.

Stockholders and directors will hold their annual meeting Tuesday, Jan. 15.

Meanwhile, at Myrtle Creek, V. V. Haney, manager of the U. S. National Bank reported that deposits at the Myrtle Creek bank totaled $3,600,000 at the end of the year. Loans and discounts issued totaled $1,875,000, he told correspondent Ruth M. Evans.

13 Stranded Ships Leave Suez Canal Zone Tuesday

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP)—Thirteen ships stranded in the Suez Canal more than two months began steaming out of Port Said today.

The vessels of seven nations were caught in the canal by the British-French invasion and Egyptian countermeasures. They moved out under their own power from a point 20 1/2 miles south of Port Said, the canal's northern terminus.

The southern portion of the waterway still is blocked and the ships were turned around by tugboats for the trip back north.

The stranded ships were in a southbound convoy which left Port Said Oct. 30. They were trapped about seven miles north of Ismailia, the canal's midway point. Most of the crews lived in Cairo until their ships were freed.

Bus Integration Plans To Be Talked By Negro Leaders

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Plans for a stepped-up campaign to integrate buses in the South will be discussed in Atlanta this week by Negro leaders encouraged by a report the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People received more than a million dollars in receipts in 1956.

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. of Montgomery, Ala., last night called on Southern Negro leaders to attend a strategy meeting in Atlanta Thursday and Friday "in an effort to coordinate and spur the campaign for integrated transportation in the South."

"We have no moral choice, before God, but to delve deeper into the struggle," said King, leader of the 381-day Negro bus boycott which ended peacefully in Montgomery Dec. 21 with federally ordered bus integration.

"We are convinced that most white Southerners are prepared to accept integration as the law of the land," he said in a statement.

"On the other hand, a small but willful minority, dedicated to violence, is resorting to threats, shootings, cross burnings and bombings."

The Rev. C. K. Steele of Tallahassee, Fla., and the Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth of Birmingham, Ala., joined King in urging Negro leaders "from troubled areas all over the South" to attend. Both Steele and Shuttlesworth have been active in campaigns for integrated buses in their respective cities.

King said the meeting will be closed to the public but that a statement will be issued after it is over.

Army Probing Secrets Leak

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army is conducting a formal investigation of a reported leak to "unauthorized persons" of a document dealing with limits put on the Army's development and use of new missiles.

A brief announcement said a document which "apparently contained secret information" was found "in the hands of unauthorized persons." The document pertained to the Nov. 26 decision by Secretary of Defense Wilson on the Army's roles and missions in the missile field. The Air Force was given major control over missiles.

The Army did not identify the unauthorized persons who obtained access to the information, but informed sources at the Pentagon said that after the Wilson order, some Army people distributed several papers that criticized the decision. Some of these papers were made available to interested congressmen.

Although several officers are being questioned, the announcement said, it named only one: Col. John C. Nickerson Jr. He is chief of the field coordinating office at the Army's ballistic missile center, the Redstone Arsenal at Huntsville, Ala.

FLOCK QUARANTINED
SALEM (AP)—The turkey flock at the Triple B Turkey Farm on Sauvie Island Monday was quarantined for ornithosis, a pneumonia-like disease that can be caught by humans. Several birds have died.

The flock is under antibiotic treatment and the turkeys should be all right before market season late in the spring, the state Department of Agriculture said.

Fords Purchase Portland Cafe

Henry Ford, former South Douglas County restaurant owner, has announced the purchase of a restaurant in the Portland area, according to Mrs. Virginia Proctor, Canyonville News-Review correspondent.

Ford and his wife, Jeanne, were proprietors of Ford's Restaurant on old U. S. Highway 99 near Canyonville before the highway was relocated through the restaurant in November, 1955. They have been Canyonville residents for almost 20 years, Mrs. Proctor said.

The Fords have purchased Redmond's on the Hill, 9559 SW Barbur Blvd., Portland, a restaurant described by Ford as serving about 200 persons with a view of Mt. Hood through a large picture window.

"It's just the place we've been looking for," Ford said. He indicated that the name would be changed to Ford's.

Both Fords were active in Canyonville civic affairs. Ford will have to resign from the school board on which he has served eight years. Ford and his wife were presidents of the Lions Club and Lady Lions Auxiliary, and were active in the PTA, the Elks Lodge, the Junior Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations.

For the time being they will retain their Canyonville property, Mrs. Proctor said.

Roy Fisher Gets Job As Newest Winston Mayor

Roy M. Fisher, a Winston planning contractor, Monday night was elected mayor of Winston by his fellow councilmen. He was a holdover councilman when the November election was held.

Fisher has been a councilman since incorporation of Winston in 1953. His activities haven't been confined to the council, however, for he's a former president of the Winston-Dillard Fire Board and is a director of the Winston-Dillard Water District.

W. F. Schell was elected president of the council.

Fisher succeeds Frank True as mayor. True was defeated for reelection to the council in November. Fisher moved to Winston from Chico, Calif., in June 1947. He and his wife have a son and daughter.

Three councilmen took the oath of office Monday night. They were Schell, Arthur Griese and Don M. Hsieh.

In other business, the council passed the first reading of a proposed franchise agreement with California Oregon Power Co.

Search Pressed For Boy's Slayer

SIKESTON, Mo. (AP)—Authorities pressed their search Tuesday for the slayer of a 19-year-old high school senior but Chief of Police Arthur Bruce acknowledged they had about run out of leads.

Nine Negroes rounded up Monday night were released after 18-year-old June Castleberry, who told officers she was raped by the Negro slayer, failed to identify any of them.

Tension eased in the southeast Missouri delta country 150 miles south of St. Louis, Col. Hugh Waggoner, head of the highway patrol, said the prospect of trouble diminished hourly.

Six members of the high school football team at nearby Charleston, Mo., were designated to act as pallbearers Tuesday at the funeral of 19-year-old John Maljune.

Charleston's star fullback was shot to death Saturday night while he and Miss Castleberry were parked in his car on a country road near Sikeston.

Toastmistresses Slated To Install Wednesday

Installation of new officers of the Camas Valley Toastmistress Club is scheduled Wednesday night at 7:30 in the school cafeteria.

The theme will be "A new year, a new challenge."

Installing officer will be Mrs. Carl Dahl, vice chairman of Council 8. The new officers to be installed are: Mrs. Clyde Akey, president; Mrs. Hazel Pelzer, vice president; Mrs. Virgil Moody, secretary; Mrs. Lloyd Pope, treasurer; and Mrs. Ruby Wafer, club representative.

Mrs. Akey will succeed Mrs. Cy Defferding as president.

Toastmistress of the evening will be Mrs. Jess McMaisters. She will introduce speakers Mrs. P. P. Ems, Mrs. Jerrald Parsons and Mrs. Ems West.

Business will be guests of the evening. The meeting is open to anyone interested. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

MYRTLE CREEK VISITORS—Mrs. Fred Purdy and her daughter, 9, found Oregon balmy when they visited in Myrtle Creek recently. They are from Chickens, Alaska, where 70-degree-below-zero temperatures are experienced. (Ruth Evans).

Alaskan Authoress Stops At Myrtle Creek On Trip Into 'Warm' Oregon Clime

By RUTH EVANS
An interesting visitor to Myrtle Creek preceding the Christmas holidays were Mrs. Fred (Anne) Purdy and her daughter, age 9, of Chickens, Alaska, who visited with the Earl Ellis family on Forest Road.

Mrs. Purdy and her daughter left Chickens, 200 air miles east of Fairbanks, by plane as the small community was snowed in for the winter. Bitter cold dropped the temperature to 70 degrees below zero. Her husband, Fred, remained here to look after their placer-gold claims.

Mrs. Purdy is an Alaskan author, teacher and hostess extraordinaire. She has been a resident of Alaska since 1927 when she went there to teach in a government school on the Yukon.

She has successfully published a book, "Dark Boundary," that deals with her experiences while she was a teacher. She now has two other books about Alaskan life in the hands of the publishers. She commented that she writes all the time and intends to take residence at San Diego for the winter and just read and write the winter hours away, unless she and her daughter become too homesick for their own home.

Mrs. Purdy told of having many guests in her home day or night. At one time her grocery bill ran over $1,000 for one month. Since her teaching days on the Yukon she has taught anyone seeking education in her own home for the past 10 years without any compensation.

She is intensely interested in children, especially emotionally handicapped youngsters and would like to work with them while she is in San Diego. She and her husband have adopted and successfully raised nine children, six of part-Eskimo parentage and three of white. She is very much interested in the problems of juvenile delinquency and hopes to give talks and lectures on the subject.

Returning More To Forest Lands Proposed In Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Metcalf (D-Mont) has introduced a bill to plow back a portion of the year's profits from national forests into maintenance of the preserves.

His bill would: Earmark 10 per cent of national forest receipts for development, maintenance and operation of the areas.

"Each year, more Americans spent at least part of their vacations in our national forests," Metcalf said.

"Last year 45,300,000 Americans did so—more than twice the total number of visits in 1946."

"Last year we appropriated $1,700,000 for the Forest Service to operate and maintain recreational facilities for sanitation and care of some 4,700 public use areas and $285,000 for wildlife management. In other words, we were willing to spend 8 cents per visitor on recreation facilities built in the CCC days and which are falling apart."

"Our national forests are making money for us. Receipts in fiscal 1956 totaled almost 112 million dollars. That same year we spent 94 million dollars on national forest programs. So 18 million dollars went into the Treasury from operation of our national forests."

"As prudent businessmen, we should reinvest some of this profit in the business, the recreation business."

Explosion, Fire Hit Montreal

MONTREAL (AP)—Window-shattering explosions and a spectacular fire wrecked the storage area of the Shell Oil Co. Ltd. refinery on the eastern outskirts of Montreal Tuesday.

Eight persons were injured. The damage was estimated at more than three million dollars.

The fire broke out about 4:30 p. m. A series of blasts sent flames leaping 200 feet into the air and smashed glass in the windows of adjacent buildings. The blasts were heard 10 miles away, the glow of the fire was visible for 20 miles.

Two 30,000-gallon tanks, several smaller tanks and a string of railway tank cars containing crude oil and refined petroleum products were destroyed.

The Shell property covers about half a square mile. There are few dwellings in the refinery district and none was threatened. The residents set up a voluntary evacuation system.

Of the casualties, seven received minor injuries and one suffered second-degree burns.

Snow Hits County; Glendale Schools Suspended Today

Most of the snowfall in Douglas during Monday night and early Tuesday centered in the mountainous eastern, western and southern regions of the county where several inches were reported on the ground this morning.

A four-inch fall in the Glendale and upper Cow Creek areas brought slippery roads that resulted in school closure at Glendale Tuesday, according to Supt. James Pate.

No other county schools were reported closed.

Six inches of snow were reported at Camas Mountain by the State Highway Dept. Tuesday and at High Power Bluff, three miles above Steamboat, Monday.

Despite the heavy falls there, no particular traffic problems resulted, although drivers at Rice Hill this morning used extra precautions there. Roads were said to be well-sanded in necessary places.

The Drain-Yoncalla area had slushy road conditions as a result of the "fine" snow falling over most of Central Douglas County.

The fall halted operations of Roseburg Lumber Co. on Little River Monday and other operators in the Steamboat area turned back today, according to News-Review correspondent Mrs. Arthur Selby.

Mixed rain and snow fell at Glendale Monday night, turning into snow Tuesday morning, Mrs. Selby said. She reported one inch at 9 a. m.

There were three inches of snow at Wolf Creek station on Little River and at Steamboat at 8:30 a. m. today, according to George Churchill, district forest ranger.

gether" the session should have been held in secret. He declined to say what had been discussed.

But Hays contended that in public Dulles tells "the American people that everything is lovely" and that behind closed doors the secretary "tells what great dangers there are." Referring to the Middle East, Hays said that "certainly I think the Russians know more about our mistakes... than the American people."

Hays, who says he won re-election last fall on a campaign centering around "Dulles and the mess he made in foreign policy," burst out only minutes after it got underway.

The State Department "has and does use sources to leak to the press" information it thinks will help Dulles, Hays said, but members of the House committee are "censured" if they speak on the House floor of matters taken up in closed committee sessions.

Dulles Monday spent 4 1/2 hours before the House group in a public session answering questions about Eisenhower's proposal for money to help Middle East countries and the possible use of American troops in case of open Communist attack there.

Afterwards, Gordon and Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) predicted speedy approval of the resolution by the House committee.

Unique Seating Plan Scheduled

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—A unique seating plan was ordered by the City Commission today in an effort to preserve traditional segregation on Tallahassee city buses.

The plan allows drivers to assign riders to specific seats for which they are handed tickets.

Passengers will be required to occupy assigned seats under penalty of a possible $50 fine or a 60-day jail sentence unless they elect to have their fares refunded.

The Commission yesterday substituted the plan for the segregation section of the city bus franchise which the city officials said now had "doubtful validity" in view of recent court decisions.

The Rev. C. K. Steele, leader of a Negro organization working for integrated seating, declined comment on the action until the plan can be studied.

Camas Valley Mothers Circle Meets Thursday

The Mothers Circle of the Camas Valley Community Methodist Church will meet Thursday in the church social room at 1 p. m. to elect officers.

Baby sitting will be arranged, and refreshments will be furnished during the afternoon. The worship lesson is entitled "Islands in Our Community."

A cotton dressmaking workshop will be started by Unita Dahl, leader, who will furnish literature and instructions to carry through tailoring courses sponsored by the Douglas County extension office.

John Roger Keegan, 37, Dies At Hospital Here

John Roger Keegan, 37, a resident of Portland and district sales manager for Continental Trailways, died at a local hospital this morning following a short illness.

He was born in Minneapolis, Minn. Oct. 17, 1919. He was in charge of the Trailways district office in Eugene.

He is survived by his wife, Marguerite Keegan of Portland. His body has been removed to Long and Orr Mortuary and will be taken to Portland for services and interment.

Church Activities

EVANGELIST—The Rev. E. Gilbert Coys of Ashland, an evangelist for the Southern Oregon and Northern California Evangelistic Fellowship of the Churches of Christ, is preparing for a three-week series of meetings at the Glendale Church of Christ, starting Jan. 13. The meetings will be held every evening except Monday and will start at 7:30. Mrs. Coys, a soprano soloist and pianist, will assist her husband. (Fox Photo)

Family Life Panel Slated At Church

A panel discussion on problems of family life is scheduled at the First Christian Church in Roseburg Thursday evening at 8, reports the Rev. Newell Morgan.

The annual event is being staged by the Women's Fellowship of the church. Members of the panel this year will be teen-agers and parents. Mrs. Morgan, the minister's wife, will moderate the panel.

The Rev. Mr. Morgan said the hope of the panel is to give parents and their children a greater understanding of the problems they face.

she managed, during Friday, to telephone three friends and report that she had been kidnapped. She didn't call police.

Late Friday night she was found wandering dazedly on the desert near Indio. A truck driver picked her up. Hospital attendants said she had a bruised face and two broken caps on her teeth. She was sent home in an ambulance to recover—and to re-enact the occurrence.

The final scene of yesterday's movie was shot outside. Lohrman's voice crackled:

"I have talked to the director of this film and he has agreed to have her come beyond the cars parked in the driveway."

Later, he announced temperament from the star. She didn't want the news photographers to take her picture.

"We're going to plead with her on bended knee," Lohrman assured.

The 33-year-old actress, by now wearing a fancy quilted robe that defied cheesecake, came out by the final fadeout. Carried away by the drama of the moment, she did not stop at the agreed upon spot but came right up to where the photographers were masted.

Putting a hand up to her blackened eye and swollen face, she exclaimed: "This is a great way to be photographed."

Later, she invited all the photographers into her living room and even posed for the newsreels. She repeated details of her ordeal, sobbed a little and then finished the interview in true actress fashion:

"I want to thank all of my friends and the many others who have been so kind as to write letters to me since this all happened. I want to say this is definitely not a hoax. And least of all, it's not a publicity stunt."

"Why, I've had enough publicity. And anyway this is apt to 'ruin my career.'"

Tucked away in a corner—he denied that he was hiding—was British actor Michael Wilding. Miss McDonald's current romantic interest.
