

Lloyd Friday Of Elkton Released From Hospital

By MRS. ARIEL HUBBARD
Lloyd Friday, who has been in a Eugene hospital, for several days returned home Tuesday. He is reported to be feeling a lot better and is up and around again.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hancock spent Tuesday night at the Christian Hancock home. They were on their way home from an extended trip in the south. They visited in California, Arizona and New Mexico. They returned to their home in Ocean Lake Wednesday.

Claude Haines went to Mesa Wash., on Monday for a business trip.

The Rebekahs met Jan. 15 for regular session. There were 15 members present. As Mrs. La Verne Harrells birthday is in January, a birthday cake was served in her honor.

An Umpqua Hillbillie Square Dance Club business meeting was held at the Ariel Hubbard home last Monday evening. Plans are being made to hold a benefit dance in February, to cover the expenses for work being done on the Kellogg Grange hall. The date will be announced later.

Mr. and Mrs. Emery Stewart visited their son-in-law and daughter.

Circuit Court

Complaints
Matthew Burke vs. State Industrial Accident Commission. Plaintiff demands judgment awarding additional compensation for temporary total disability until his condition becomes stationary and thereafter, granting compensation for permanent partial disability equal to 90 per cent loss of use of an arm for his unscheduled injuries, 95 per cent loss of use of left leg, 75 per cent loss of use of right ear and 26 per cent loss of hearing of left ear.

Frank Drew vs. State Industrial Accident Commission. Plaintiff demands judgment awarding compensation for permanent partial disability equal to 100 per cent loss of an arm for injuries to left arm, 50 per cent loss of use of a leg for injuries to right leg, 20 per cent loss of use of an arm for injuries to right arm, and 90 per cent loss of use of an arm for injuries to his chest, lungs, back, head and neck.

Decrees
E. J. Smith vs. Ray DeKraay and Kay DeKraay and Edward E. Warner and Elizabeth Warner. Plaintiff awarded judgment of $3,799.49 plus interest and fees. Suit involving a building contract was filed Nov. 14, 1947.

Arthur C. Laubach and Mary A. Laubach vs. Edward W. Bennett and Rebecca E. Bennett. Plaintiff awarded judgment of $24,500 with interest and fees.

Hospital News

Mercy Hospital
Admitted
Surgery: Mrs. Dale Bainbridge, Oakland; Mrs. Albert Strickland, Sutherlin.

Medical: Mrs. David Block, Roseburg; Mrs. Arlis Bice, Glendale.

Discharged
Mrs. Perry Van Cleave, Wilbur; Mrs. Robert Stearns and baby, Susan Marie, Oakland; James Cullen, Tenmile; Mrs. Eldon Gates, Winston; Mrs. Forrest Solomon, Winchester; Mrs. J. C. McGregor, Alvin Bosworth, Roseburg.

Douglas Community Hospital
Admitted
Surgery: Donna Ives, Mrs. Charles Veal, Roseburg; Alvin Comey, Sutherlin; Donald Starbuck, Myrtle Creek.

Medical: Mrs. R. E. Koble, Jim Churchill, Roseburg; Mrs. Marvin Harley, Dillard; Mrs. Walter Coats, Tenmile; Mrs. Robert Bryce, Dillard.

Discharged
Mrs. Marvin DeVoged and baby, Russell Dean; Mrs. Nels Hansen and baby, Brad Dwayne; Mrs. Richard Fraley and baby, Rodney Lee; Stephen and Philip Rapp, Marvin Williams, Roseburg; Lenoira Housley, Portland; Mrs. Henry James, Glendale.

Driver Jailed, Fined On Drunk Driving Count
Oscar Edward Christenson, 36, general delivery, Roseburg, Thursday changed his plea from innocent to guilty after a jury had been selected to hear his case. He was charged with drunken driving.

Christenson was sentenced to 10 days in jail and fined $150 by Dist. Judge Warren A. Woodruff.

He had been arrested Thursday by state police and pleaded innocent of the charge at his arraignment.

TO PLAY CONCERT
Internationally known violinist Henryk Szeryng will appear with the Portland Symphony Orchestra in the auditorium Jan. 28. He was trapped in Budapest this winter when the city was burned and blasted during the recent Hungarian rebellion.

KNITS BEAUTIFULLY CLEANED AND BLOCKED
APPROVED
SANTONE SERVICE
"Sometimes Equal But Never Excelled"
HONN'S BEAUTIFUL CLEANING
Always Plenty of Free Parking
1019 S.E. Douglas Ph. OR 3-8291

Geologic Map Prepared Of Western Douglas
A new geologic map, published by the U.S. Geological Survey, will aid exploration for oil and gas in the southern part of the Coast Ranges in Oregon. The U.S. Department of Interior announced today.

The map covers the Hecceta Head, Mapleton, Blachly, Silcoos Lake, Goodwin Peak and Roman Nose Mountain 15-minute quadrangles in western Lane and Douglas counties. It was prepared in cooperation with the Oregon Department of Geology and Mineral Industries.

The map gives new information on geologic formations now being explored for oil.

Church Activities
Missionary Meeting Held By Fellowship
The Christian Women's Fellowship of the Sutherlin Christian Church met Thursday for a noon covered dish dinner with Eleanor Woollett as hostess.

The missionary and business meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Bertha Sanders, with nine members and one guest answering roll call by giving Scripture verses.

Three small boys present requested that the ladies sing "Jesus Loves Me," which was sung by the group. The three boys, Gail and Jerry Allen and Gregory Palmer, sang "Deep and Wide" after which the group sang "The Old Rugged Cross."

Dorothy Warren led the missionary meeting and gave the opening prayer after which she read letters from the McKinley Mission in Washington; Mel and Marguerite Hucks on Okinawa; and from missionaries in Palestine and Jamaica. She also read the poem "God is in the Tomorrow."

Work chairman, Eleanor Woollett, reported that five boxes of clothing had been sent to the McKinley Mission and that three more were ready to go. Dorothy Warren reported on a contest sponsored by the Christian Women's Fellowship for the women of the church and the men Ninety and Nine group, to raise funds to purchase choir robes. The meeting closed with a benediction.

North Roseburg Church Slates Family Dinner
A church family night potluck dinner will be held in the social room of the North Roseburg Evangelical United Brethren Church, Monday evening, Jan. 21, beginning at 6:30.

Those finding it difficult to arrive by 6:30, are encouraged to come as soon thereafter as possible according to the Rev. Kenneth D. Dooley, pastor of the church.

Entertainment for the children in the form of movies, will be provided following the dinner. Young people and adults will participate in a "Stewardship Clinic" directed by the Rev. T. R. Buzzard of Portland, conference superintendent of the south district of the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

The Rev. Leo M. Thornton, pastor of the First Evangelical United Brethren Church of Eugene, and the Rev. Mr. Dolley will assist him.

The clinic is being sponsored by the local church Board of Stewards, Claude Wright, chairman.

Sutherlin Men's Group Hears Guest Speaker
The Ninety and Nine men met last Saturday night at the Sutherlin Christian Church with 27 men present for the potluck supper. The Rev. Mr. Richardson, asked the Blessing at the table.

The speaker of the evening was the Rev. Ren Hollister of the Church of Christ from Yoncalla. The Rev. Mr. Richardson sang a solo, "A Closer Walk With Thee," accompanied at the piano by Harvey Ruesegger. Ruesegger also gave the opening prayer for the business meeting which was called to order by the president, George Warren.

One item presented to the group for consideration was a letter from Jack Sutton, who recently held four days of meetings in Sutherlin, to invite the men to attend a school of Churchmanship to be held at the Northwest Christian College in Eugene, which he will be leading. Several men signified their intention of attending.

Sutherlin Ladies Group Plans Next Meeting
The Ladies Circle of the Sutherlin Methodist Church met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Veda Holloper with Mrs. Betty Carlisle, president, presiding. Peggy Wright led the devotionals for teen-agers, after which regular business was transacted.

It was decided to adopt the project of the sugar bowl fund, which is one of the projects of the Women's Society of Christian Service.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Lou Bogard on Tuesday, Feb. 19, and a silent auction will be held and each member is asked to bring an article. The proceeds will go for new drapes in the social room of the church. At the close of the evening refreshments were served to the eight members present.

Elkton Saddle Club Holds Benefit Dance
The Elkton Saddle Club held a benefit potluck dance Jan. 12 at the Kellogg Grange hall.

Proceeds from the dance and food which was donated to be sold by the saddle club, amounted to $63.35.

Music for the evening was furnished by the Will family and John Gordiner. A good attendance was reported.

Prize-winning Novel Banned
DETROIT — Detroit police censorship on books — previously confined to the inexpensive paperback editions — has been extended to the regular clothbound editions for the first time with the banning of John O'Hara's prize-winning novel "Ten North Frederick."

The ban was announced personally by Police Commissioner Edward S. Piggins. It applies to both the paperback and hard back editions and to public libraries.

Vital Statistics
Marriage Licenses
PEMBERTON-MULLER — Edward Pemberton and Mae Muller, both of Tenmile, Jan. 17.

Freighter Sinks
MANILA — A small Japanese ship sank 200 miles northeast of Formosa Friday afternoon, and a German freighter headed at full speed to pick up 25 survivors reported drifting on three life rafts.

Messages intercepted in Manila said the 24-ton Yugoslav Maru went down at 4:33 p.m. (PST) and that 17 passengers and 8 crewmen took to the rafts.

Seattle Dock Tieup Threatened
SEATTLE — A strike called by the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union threatened Friday to tie up a major part of the Port of Seattle.

Pickets were scheduled to start patrolling the Port's nine waterfront piers at 7 a.m., union spokesmen warned. The walkout call followed a deadlock between the union and port commissioners in discussions over wages of warehousemen at the port's cold storage terminal.

The strike action, however, would not tie up the entire port as ships could be worked at alternate terminals operated by private firms. They represent nearly half the city's commercial waterfront.

An ILWU spokesman said the port has not given its cold storage workers a 16 cent an hour increase which went into effect Oct. 1 for Pacific Coast Longshoremen.

The port commission contends it already is paying its cold storage workers more than the private employers do. Howard M. Burke, port manager, said the port wage, said the port wage of $2.36 an hour is 40 cents higher than the scale in private cold storage houses.

Associate Says Aged Woman Died Of Drugs
EASTBOURNE, England — A medical associate of Dr. John Bodkin Adams said Friday Adams would not allow a rich widow he is accused of poisoning to be moved to a hospital.

Dr. Ronald W. Harris testified he told Dr. Adams of his suspicion that Mrs. Gertrude Hullett was suffering from an overdose of drugs.

"He said this was not possible," Harris told the five justices of the peace holding a preliminary hearing into charges that Adams poisoned for profit.

The 57-year-old society doctor is appearing before a magistrate's tribunal on the formal charge that he murdered Mrs. Edith Morrell, another of his rich elderly patients. The prosecution also accuses him of killing Mrs. Hullett and her husband out of "greed for money."

Adams benefited from the will of all three.

Dr. Harris said he first saw Mrs. Hullett three days before her death last July in answer to an emergency call because Dr. Adams was not available.

"I found her in a comatose state and she could not be roused," he testified.

Harris said he consulted later with Adams and "asked him about the possibility of an overdose of drugs."

"He said this was not possible," Dr. Harris related. "I asked him what he considered the diagnosis was and he suggested cerebral hemorrhage."

Helser Company Procedures Again In Court
SAN FRANCISCO — The government said Thursday J. Henry Helser & Co., a Portland investment manager firm, has not complied with a court order to change its procedures.

The company is charged by the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) with evading the requirements of the investment advisors' act.

Frank E. Kennamer Jr., SEC attorney, said the formula by which the Helser firm computes its monthly checks to clients who get income in that manner is "misleading" and "unrealistic."

Federal Judge Louis E. Goodman, who is hearing the case, said the only issue at hand is whether the company's brochure for prospective clients is misleading.

A company witness testified that some 100 of the firm's 4,200 clients had been notified that their monthly checks are coming out of the principal of funds which they had deposited for investment.

Kennamer said fees charged by Helser in some cases for services equal the dividend the clients get and therefore any monthly check based on dividend income is "misleading."

But the judge pointed out that the law gives the company sole right to fix its fees.

"If I were making the law," he said, "I would prohibit" such a practice in a monthly check.

And, he added, "Anyone who goes into a deal like that on the strength of the fact he gets a monthly check ought to have his head examined."

According to Kennamer the Helser management in 1955 obtained $2,057,590 in management fees while dividends and interest on stock and bonds held by the company's clients totaled $2,061,577.

But Helser's attorney, Frank E. Burns, said the fee figure quoted by the government attorney reflected also the first quarter of 1956, and that it didn't show any violation of the court order of November, 1956, directing the company to change its fee setup.

He said there was a net capital gain of more than a million dollars for that period.

Kennamer said the SEC has been in court three times in the Helser case. He told the judge that as a result of what he said were SEC showings of the company's non-compliance with the court order, an injunction should be issued.

Helser Company Procedures Again In Court
SAN FRANCISCO — The government said Thursday J. Henry Helser & Co., a Portland investment manager firm, has not complied with a court order to change its procedures.

The company is charged by the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) with evading the requirements of the investment advisors' act.

Frank E. Kennamer Jr., SEC attorney, said the formula by which the Helser firm computes its monthly checks to clients who get income in that manner is "misleading" and "unrealistic."

Federal Judge Louis E. Goodman, who is hearing the case, said the only issue at hand is whether the company's brochure for prospective clients is misleading.

A company witness testified that some 100 of the firm's 4,200 clients had been notified that their monthly checks are coming out of the principal of funds which they had deposited for investment.

Kennamer said fees charged by Helser in some cases for services equal the dividend the clients get and therefore any monthly check based on dividend income is "misleading."

But the judge pointed out that the law gives the company sole right to fix its fees.

"If I were making the law," he said, "I would prohibit" such a practice in a monthly check.

And, he added, "Anyone who goes into a deal like that on the strength of the fact he gets a monthly check ought to have his head examined."

According to Kennamer the Helser management in 1955 obtained $2,057,590 in management fees while dividends and interest on stock and bonds held by the company's clients totaled $2,061,577.

But Helser's attorney, Frank E. Burns, said the fee figure quoted by the government attorney reflected also the first quarter of 1956, and that it didn't show any violation of the court order of November, 1956, directing the company to change its fee setup.

He said there was a net capital gain of more than a million dollars for that period.

Kennamer said the SEC has been in court three times in the Helser case. He told the judge that as a result of what he said were SEC showings of the company's non-compliance with the court order, an injunction should be issued.

Helser Company Procedures Again In Court
SAN FRANCISCO — The government said Thursday J. Henry Helser & Co., a Portland investment manager firm, has not complied with a court order to change its procedures.

The company is charged by the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) with evading the requirements of the investment advisors' act.

Frank E. Kennamer Jr., SEC attorney, said the formula by which the Helser firm computes its monthly checks to clients who get income in that manner is "misleading" and "unrealistic."

Federal Judge Louis E. Goodman, who is hearing the case, said the only issue at hand is whether the company's brochure for prospective clients is misleading.

A company witness testified that some 100 of the firm's 4,200 clients had been notified that their monthly checks are coming out of the principal of funds which they had deposited for investment.

Kennamer said fees charged by Helser in some cases for services equal the dividend the clients get and therefore any monthly check based on dividend income is "misleading."

But the judge pointed out that the law gives the company sole right to fix its fees.

"If I were making the law," he said, "I would prohibit" such a practice in a monthly check.

And, he added, "Anyone who goes into a deal like that on the strength of the fact he gets a monthly check ought to have his head examined."

According to Kennamer the Helser management in 1955 obtained $2,057,590 in management fees while dividends and interest on stock and bonds held by the company's clients totaled $2,061,577.

But Helser's attorney, Frank E. Burns, said the fee figure quoted by the government attorney reflected also the first quarter of 1956, and that it didn't show any violation of the court order of November, 1956, directing the company to change its fee setup.

He said there was a net capital gain of more than a million dollars for that period.

Kennamer said the SEC has been in court three times in the Helser case. He told the judge that as a result of what he said were SEC showings of the company's non-compliance with the court order, an injunction should be issued.

Helser Company Procedures Again In Court
SAN FRANCISCO — The government said Thursday J. Henry Helser & Co., a Portland investment manager firm, has not complied with a court order to change its procedures.

The company is charged by the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) with evading the requirements of the investment advisors' act.

Frank E. Kennamer Jr., SEC attorney, said the formula by which the Helser firm computes its monthly checks to clients who get income in that manner is "misleading" and "unrealistic."

Federal Judge Louis E. Goodman, who is hearing the case, said the only issue at hand is whether the company's brochure for prospective clients is misleading.

A company witness testified that some 100 of the firm's 4,200 clients had been notified that their monthly checks are coming out of the principal of funds which they had deposited for investment.

Kennamer said fees charged by Helser in some cases for services equal the dividend the clients get and therefore any monthly check based on dividend income is "misleading."

But the judge pointed out that the law gives the company sole right to fix its fees.

"If I were making the law," he said, "I would prohibit" such a practice in a monthly check.

And, he added, "Anyone who goes into a deal like that on the strength of the fact he gets a monthly check ought to have his head examined."

According to Kennamer the Helser management in 1955 obtained $2,057,590 in management fees while dividends and interest on stock and bonds held by the company's clients totaled $2,061,577.

But Helser's attorney, Frank E. Burns, said the fee figure quoted by the government attorney reflected also the first quarter of 1956, and that it didn't show any violation of the court order of November, 1956, directing the company to change its fee setup.

He said there was a net capital gain of more than a million dollars for that period.

Kennamer said the SEC has been in court three times in the Helser case. He told the judge that as a result of what he said were SEC showings of the company's non-compliance with the court order, an injunction should be issued.

Helser Company Procedures Again In Court
SAN FRANCISCO — The government said Thursday J. Henry Helser & Co., a Portland investment manager firm, has not complied with a court order to change its procedures.

The company is charged by the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) with evading the requirements of the investment advisors' act.

Frank E. Kennamer Jr., SEC attorney, said the formula by which the Helser firm computes its monthly checks to clients who get income in that manner is "misleading" and "unrealistic."

Federal Judge Louis E. Goodman, who is hearing the case, said the only issue at hand is whether the company's brochure for prospective clients is misleading.

A company witness testified that some 100 of the firm's 4,200 clients had been notified that their monthly checks are coming out of the principal of funds which they had deposited for investment.

Kennamer said fees charged by Helser in some cases for services equal the dividend the clients get and therefore any monthly check based on dividend income is "misleading."

But the judge pointed out that the law gives the company sole right to fix its fees.

"If I were making the law," he said, "I would prohibit" such a practice in a monthly check.

And, he added, "Anyone who goes into a deal like that on the strength of the fact he gets a monthly check ought to have his head examined."

According to Kennamer the Helser management in 1955 obtained $2,057,590 in management fees while dividends and interest on stock and bonds held by the company's clients totaled $2,061,577.

But Helser's attorney, Frank E. Burns, said the fee figure quoted by the government attorney reflected also the first quarter of 1956, and that it didn't show any violation of the court order of November, 1956, directing the company to change its fee setup.

He said there was a net capital gain of more than a million dollars for that period.

Kennamer said the SEC has been in court three times in the Helser case. He told the judge that as a result of what he said were SEC showings of the company's non-compliance with the court order, an injunction should be issued.

Helser Company Procedures Again In Court
SAN FRANCISCO — The government said Thursday J. Henry Helser & Co., a Portland investment manager firm, has not complied with a court order to change its procedures.

The company is charged by the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) with evading the requirements of the investment advisors' act.

Frank E. Kennamer Jr., SEC attorney, said the formula by which the Helser firm computes its monthly checks to clients who get income in that manner is "misleading" and "unrealistic."

Federal Judge Louis E. Goodman, who is hearing the case, said the only issue at hand is whether the company's brochure for prospective clients is misleading.

A company witness testified that some 100 of the firm's 4,200 clients had been notified that their monthly checks are coming out of the principal of funds which they had deposited for investment.

Kennamer said fees charged by Helser in some cases for services equal the dividend the clients get and therefore any monthly check based on dividend income is "misleading."

But the judge pointed out that the law gives the company sole right to fix its fees.

"If I were making the law," he said, "I would prohibit" such a practice in a monthly check.

And, he added, "Anyone who goes into a deal like that on the strength of the fact he gets a monthly check ought to have his head examined."

According to Kennamer the Helser management in 1955 obtained $2,057,590 in management fees while dividends and interest on stock and bonds held by the company's clients totaled $2,061,577.

But Helser's attorney, Frank E. Burns, said the fee figure quoted by the government attorney reflected also the first quarter of 1956, and that it didn't show any violation of the court order of November, 1956, directing the company to change its fee setup.

He said there was a net capital gain of more than a million dollars for that period.

Kennamer said the SEC has been in court three times in the Helser case. He told the judge that as a result of what he said were SEC showings of the company's non-compliance with the court order, an injunction should be issued.

Helser Company Procedures Again In Court
SAN FRANCISCO — The government said Thursday J. Henry Helser & Co., a Portland investment manager firm, has not complied with a court order to change its procedures.

The company is charged by the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) with evading the requirements of the investment advisors' act.

Frank E. Kennamer Jr., SEC attorney, said the formula by which the Helser firm computes its monthly checks to clients who get income in that manner is "misleading" and "unrealistic."

Federal Judge Louis E. Goodman, who is hearing the case, said the only issue at hand is whether the company's brochure for prospective clients is misleading.

A company witness testified that some 100 of the firm's 4,200 clients had been notified that their monthly checks are coming out of the principal of funds which they had deposited for investment.

Kennamer said fees charged by Helser in some cases for services equal the dividend the clients get and therefore any monthly check based on dividend income is "misleading."

But the judge pointed out that the law gives the company sole right to fix its fees.

"If I were making the law," he said, "I would prohibit" such a practice in a monthly check.

And, he added, "Anyone who goes into a deal like that on the strength of the fact he gets a monthly check ought to have his head examined."

According to Kennamer the Helser management in 1955 obtained $2,057,590 in management fees while dividends and interest on stock and bonds held by the company's clients totaled $2,061,577.

But Helser's attorney, Frank E. Burns, said the fee figure quoted by the government attorney reflected also the first quarter of 1956, and that it didn't show any violation of the court order of November, 1956, directing the company to change its fee setup.

He said there was a net capital gain of more than a million dollars for that period.

Kennamer said the SEC has been in court three times in the Helser case. He told the judge that as a result of what he said were SEC showings of the company's non-compliance with the court order, an injunction should be issued.

Helser Company Procedures Again In Court
SAN FRANCISCO — The government said Thursday J. Henry Helser & Co., a Portland investment manager firm, has not complied with a court order to change its procedures.

The company is charged by the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) with evading the requirements of the investment advisors' act.

Frank E. Kennamer Jr., SEC attorney, said the formula by which the Helser firm computes its monthly checks to clients who get income in that manner is "misleading" and "unrealistic."

Federal Judge Louis E. Goodman, who is hearing the case, said the only issue at hand is whether the company's brochure for prospective clients is misleading.

A company witness testified that some 100 of the firm's 4,200 clients had been notified that their monthly checks are coming out of the principal of funds which they had deposited for investment.

Kennamer said fees charged by Helser in some cases for services equal the dividend the clients get and therefore any monthly check based on dividend income is "misleading."

But the judge pointed out that the law gives the company sole right to fix its fees.

"If I were making the law," he said, "I would prohibit" such a practice in a monthly check.

And, he added, "Anyone who goes into a deal like that on the strength of the fact he gets a monthly check ought to have his head examined."

According to Kennamer the Helser management in 1955 obtained $2,057,590 in management fees while dividends and interest on stock and bonds held by the company's clients totaled $2,061,577.

But Helser's attorney, Frank E. Burns, said the fee figure quoted by the government attorney reflected also the first quarter of 1956, and that it didn't show any violation of the court order of November, 1956, directing the company to change its fee setup.