Mad Bomber In Hospital; Terror Ends

NEW YORK — George Metesky — the Mad Bomber — was in Bellevue Hospital today awaiting psychiatric examination. His 16-year reign of terror was at an end.

The court order committing the 54-year-old bachelor came less than 24 hours after police arrested him at his Waterbury, Conn., home.

"I'm glad I did it," Metesky said with a smile late yesterday as he was brought from Waterbury to New York City for arraignment.

A crowd of 300 persons, including some 150 newspaper, television and radio representatives, watched Metesky climb out of a police car caravan. He was handcuffed between two detectives.

The smile never left his face. He appeared to enjoy immensely the fuss being made over him.

"Are you sorry you did it?" some one shouted.

Metesky's blue eyes twinkled.

"Yes," he laughed, adding: "I'm sorry I injured people, but I'm glad I did it."

After his arrest, Metesky signed a statement admitting he was the bomber who had planted 32 bombs in public places since 1940. Twenty-two exploded, injuring 15 persons, two serious.

The tall, balding Metesky was quoted as saying he never had intended to kill anyone and felt "hurt" whenever he read one of his devices had injured anyone.

He unleashed his bomb planting campaign, he said, to point up what to him was lack of compensation for an industrial injury 25 years ago.

He was taken to court on charges of felonious assault, malicious mischief and violation of the Sullivan Law, meaning the possession of dangerous weapons such as bombs. Bond of $100,000 was set. He had voluntarily waived extradition from Connecticut.

The three counts could carry a maximum sentence of 42 years but could easily stretch into several life terms if he is tried and
