FIVE 13 year-old Central Junior High School boys and their respective hobbies make up today's society feature page. All five of the boys are also interested in athletics and have other interests besides their "pet" hobbies.

ROBERT ELLISON, top left, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Ellison, is a new ham operator in Roseburg. He has his license and his call letters are WN 7 DQY. He spends most of his spare time working on his set, which he has set up in his bedroom.

DANNY RICHMAN, top right, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Richman, 762 W. Nebo Street, and he is an enthusiastic philatelist. He is shown with one of his stamp books and a number of stamps he has collected. (Became so interested in his collection, that the photographer and yours truly promised to look for more stamps for him).

ARTHUR (BUTCH) ELLIOTT, is the proud possessor of two guns. He learned to shoot at the Rod and Gun Club and already has four junior diplomas to hang on the wall of his bedroom. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce C. Elliott of Laurelwood.

DAVID WYATT, (lower left) son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin O. Wyatt, 144 W. Tanager, has row upon row of interesting car models he has put together as a hobby. He also has a large collection of miniature horses on display in his bedroom.

MORRIS KELLEY, (lower right), son of Mr. and Mrs. Harl Kelley, Laurelwood, has music for his favorite hobby. He plays the saxophone, takes piano lessons from S. Clarence Trued and voice lessons from Jessie Crenshaw. Morris has just completed his term as president of the student body at Central Junior High.
