6-Nation Atomic Program Effort Proves Failure

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Diplomats of six West European nations admitted failure Monday in their efforts to set up a common market and a joint atomic program. But they planned to push ahead at future sessions.

Chief stumbling blocks were methods of integrating and financing France's overseas territories and how to determine the tariff wall that pool countries will jointly set up against products from other areas.

It had been hoped to have treaties ready after a three-day meeting here, but now a new target date has been set, Feb. 12. That proceeds by one day the opening in Paris of a meeting of the Organization for European Economic Cooperation (OEEC).

Foreign ministers of France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg will meet here Feb. 4 to tackle unsolved problems.

Linked with the common market was Euratom, a joint atomic plan for both military and peaceful uses. It calls for construction of an internationally owned and operated plant to produce radioactive isotopes. The estimated cost of the plant is 240 million dollars.
