CLEVELAND, Ohio — Although the Cleveland Barons scored 22 goals in successive games against Springfield, 11-4 and 11-3, this season, they didn't set a record. Fullmer To Defend Crown In Rematch With Robinson

CHICAGO — On April 24, at a time when the mink mating season is over and thoughts turn to rabbit punching, young Gene Fullmer will defend his young midweight boxing title in a rematch with the old comebacker, Ray Robinson.

The site is Chicago Stadium, in an area satisfactory for blackout purposes to the national television sponsors.

Chicago and a 150-mile radius will not carry the fight to home video audiences but it will be cut in on the national broadcast by the same network, ABC.

Truman Gibson, secretary of the International Boxing Club, foresees a $200,000 gate after talking Fullmer's mink-raising manager Mary Jensen out of a June show in Yankee Stadium.

The bout originally was to have been within 90 days of the first fight, which was held in New York Jan. 2. Although a March date was acceptable to Robinson, Jensen wanted to stay at his Utah home to take care of his mink business.

The TV sponsors just couldn't see the fight again being held in New York with a blackout arrangement imposed on about 20 per cent of their potential market area. So Chicago again was chosen by the IBC.

Hopes for enough interest to make a $200,000 gate for the rematch undoubtedly will be built on the controversy raised by Fullmer's so-called rabbit punching in lifting the title from Robinson by unanimous decision Jan. 2. Although Fullmer, 25, won decisively, there was a sharp exchange of charges and countercharges afterwards.

Each fighter will get 30 per cent of the receipts from the rematch. The money from TV rights has not yet been announced.

Early odds make Fullmer the 13-5 favorite to win again.
