Rifle Used In Slaying To Be Sold By Sheriff

The 8 mm. Mauser rifle which killed Barbara Geisler will be disposed of by the sheriff, Circuit Judge Charles S. Woodrich ordered Monday.

The weapon was admittedly fired by her husband, Laval Lloyd Geisler, who was found innocent by reason of insanity by a jury and is now at Salem. It was entered as evidence in the trial and upon Woodrich's order is to be delivered to the sheriff for disposal.

Judge Woodrich said today he had been informed that Geisler had told a sheriff's deputy he never wanted to see the rifle again and for him to dispose of it. The judge said it would be sold and the money received used for the benefit of the three Geisler children.
