The chances are you haven't. But there are diamonds of that unusual color and — strange as it may seem — there are even green diamonds and some of a cinnamon-pink shade. If you have ever studied much of the history and pageantry of Russia, you know that set on top of the Imperial Russian sceptre there is a fabulous yellow diamond that was the envy of countless kings and queens.

Another question: Do you know how the diamond got its name? It's interesting. It's name comes from the Greek word, adamas, which means unconquerable. And that's precisely what the diamond is in the field of precious stones. It's substance is the hardest ever known to man — and only another diamond, set in a special tool, can cut it. The diamond can be split, but it can never be scratched or destroyed.

Brides since time immemorial have wished for a lovely diamond ring to accompany the traditional wedding band. The diamond is April's birthstone, yet anyone born in any month is thrilled to get and wear one. For years we have featured perfect, blue white diamonds of all sizes — to fit all wishes and pocketbooks. I think you will frankly say you've never seen a finer display of diamonds than ours.

Visit us today. And remember our convenient budget terms and our sincere desire to serve you.
