SUMMER READING for fun and practice by grade school children is encouraged at all libraries in the county by a "Book Parade" program which awards certificates to children who read eight books by Aug. 1. Adding new books to their credit at the Douglas County Library are (left to right) Harold Huestis, Teresa Huestis, David Wandling, and James Hawks. About 130 children have signed up now, says Miss Carol Trimble, librarian. It is hoped that service and community organizations will provide local parties at the time awards are made, she said. The program is not offered by the Bookmobile. (Photo-Lab)
