What Makes A Bride Happiest?

BY JACK WEST

Next to getting a good man who will love her all his life, I suspect that the gifts a bride gets on the biggest day of her entire life makes her happier than anything else.

Let's say someone you know—a lovely young girl—is going to get married. You've known her a long time. You know that she likes "nice things." You know something of her tastes—and you are determined to give her something she will be thrilled to receive on her wedding day.

A gleaming silver tray. A gold toilet set. A sugar and creamer combination. A lovely brooch. A place setting for 8 guests. A quaint and beautiful Lazy Susan. A manicure set. A dozen goblets. Oh, there are so many things you can get her that she'll enjoy—and, of course, they are all here awaiting your most critical inspection.

Folks oftentimes refer to our store as "Wedding Headquarters" and we like that—for we try earnestly to stock and display all the lovely things that any bride-to-be will be happy with. Why don't you come in today? No matter how small your budget may be, we can help you choose the present that will best convey the love you have for her.
