The rate was approved by the council, but the council turned down a request to allow the company to issue coupon books which would allow a taxicab rider to receive a discount on fares up to 20 per cent.

The council then approved a motion by Myers to issue the Ellis license as soon as all other requirements were met, such as bonding, inspection of equipment, etc. The city recorder will issue the license.

Ellis told the council he had received one of the two new taxicabs he has ordered and the other is en route.

The matter for which the council originally met in adjourned session did not come off as easily. Discussion on sale of the sewer bonds will be taken up again today at 4 p.m. at the city hall.

At the time a new bond maturity schedule will be drafted to revise the yearly installment payments of principal and interest on the $850,000 worth of bonds to be sold. The bonds are to be retired in 25 years.

Bakers President Agrees To Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—James G. Cross, president of the Bakers Union, agreed Tuesday not to take the Fifth Amendment on any questions put to him by the Senate rackets investigating committee. In return, he was given the right to cross-examine another witness.

This understanding with Cross was reached after Gilbert Mann, 71, testified he was forced in 1955 to resign as president of Bakers Union Local 100 in Chicago and left destitute after 25 years of work for the union.

Abraham Harris, counsel for Cross, submitted a list of four questions he said should be asked of Mann to "be fair" to his client.

This brought on a sharp exchange between Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) and Harris which was climaxed by Cross giving the senators assurance that he had "no intention" of invoking the Fifth Amendment to avoid answering any questions.

The cross-examination, as it developed, consisted of McClellan putting to Mann questions prepared by Harris.

Among the questions were whether union funds had been used to buy automobiles in Mann's name and to pay "large personal bills" including bills for liquor.

Mann said the local provided him with a new car every year—"four Dodges, four Chryslers and three Cadillacs, all of them bought in my name."

Mann said there was "nothing secret" about purchases of the cars—it was on the financial statements that hung on the walls and in the halls.

Mann insisted that payments from union funds to hotels of other establishments were in connection with union business.

Thornton Rules Interim Group Setup Illegal

SALEM (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Thornton ruled Tuesday that the Oregon Senate did not have legal authority to set up an interim investigating committee without the concurrence of the House of Representatives.

In his opinion, Thornton said "the overwhelming weight of authority is to the effect that neither house of Legislature may lawfully appoint a committee by single house resolution with power to sit after adjournment."

He also cited decisions in other states, including California. The 1957 Senate passed the resolution after the House refused to go along with similar bills to set up the committee.

The Senate committee did not have an appropriation. The opinion was requested by state Sen. Monroe Sweetland (D), of Milwaukie.

No determination of liability or amount has been made on this claim. It is still under consideration, said the Army spokesman.

New Yorkers Swelter In 90-Degree Heat

NEW YORK (AP)—New York's millions sweltered Tuesday in a heat wave that brought above 90 degree temperatures for the fourth successive day.

The mercury reached 91 shortly before noon. The Weather Bureau predicted a new high for the year might be reached.

In the midst of the intense heat, an estimated 1,000 New Jersey passengers bound for New York were stranded aboard stalled trains in a Hudson & Manhattan Railroad tunnel under the Hudson River.

They walked the tracks to emergency exits in Manhattan. A piece of concrete wall fell and broke a power rail, halting the trains.

Thomas D. Martin, 42, Creswell, started a 60-day sentence in the Douglas County jail after his conviction for drunken driving. He was sentenced Saturday in Reedsport city court after his arrest by Reedsport police.

Frank Wheat, Chestnut Street, Roseburg, left his boat and trailer parked along Highway 99 near Scotts Valley interchange Sunday when the trailer had a flat tire.

When he returned to pick the trailer up, he found state police Monday, both boat and trailer were gone.

Humphrey Credits Policies Of Administration With Unparalleled Prosperity

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey Tuesday credited the administration's fiscal policies with causing unparalleled prosperity. But he said prosperity brings problems.

"I acknowledge imperfections in our accomplishments," Humphrey told the Senate Finance Committee, "but I entertain no doubt as to the propriety of our goals or the wisdom of our policies."

The secretary, whose "tight money" policies have drawn considerable congressional fire, said it is "nonsense" to allege that "higher interest rates benefit only the bankers."

"Bankers are brokers of money," he declared in an 11,000-word statement prepared for the opening session of a broad committee study of the nation's financial condition. "When they receive more, they pay more."

Higher interest rates paid by banks to their depositors encourage savings, he said, and those savings are converted to increased capital investment which means more jobs.

Humphrey, whose resignation as Treasury secretary is expected to become effective in mid-July, told the committee the Eisenhower administration has a record of "a prospering America with new high levels of employment, rising income, and increasing purchasing power."

"It is a record of more and better jobs, more homes, more cars, more leisure and more recreation," he said. "It is a period of unequalled prosperity with both the blessings and the problems of such a period."

Humphrey said "this growing prosperity has extended to nearly all segments of our society except the farmer."

And, he added, the outlook in that field is brightening somewhat. One of the basic problems of prosperity, Humphrey said, is that "with growing confidence on the part of lenders as well as borrowers," there has been a rapid uptick in the demand for credit. He said this poses an ever-present threat of rising prices and runaway inflation.

He said the fiscal policies of the administration "have been designed to encourage the growth of the supply of goods, but not to encourage excessive credit expansion," adding:

"The cost of living has risen an average of only six-sixths of 1 per cent per year for the past four years, as compared with an average increase at the rate of about 7 per cent a year for the preceding 13 years. . . . Even this rise is more than I like to see, but it is a record of far better price stability than in many years. Nevertheless, prices have been rising a little faster for the past 12 months, and the threat of renewed inflation, which has been so severe from 1946 to 1952, is perhaps our most serious domestic economic problem."
