Grass Fire At Airport Damages Airplane Wing

Fire caused some minor damage to an airplane wing at the Roseburg airport Friday about 5 p.m., Roseburg firemen said.

The blaze burned grass around the airport hanger and endangered other airplanes. Persons who were at the airport working on their planes pulled the endangered planes out of the fire area.

The grass fire was started apparently by a careless smoker, and quickly swept under the airplanes, fireman said. No loss, other than that to the one airplane wing, was reported in the fire.

The West has offered to halt nuclear tests—if Russia will agree to negotiate an end to nuclear bomb production.

The offer by the United States, Britain, France and Canada calls for a 10-month trial. During that time nuclear tests would be suspended while negotiations were conducted for a way to end manufacture of atomic and hydrogen bombs.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd has been chosen by the Western allies to present the plan in a "common document" to Russia as a sign of Western solidarity.

Russia's reply is not expected for about a week.

Let's go back to the dramatic situation that arose down at Yucca Flat in Nevada the other day when an atomic device that was being tested misfired and failed to go off.

Harry Truman Memorial To Be Dedicated

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — A chipper Harry Truman prepared to turn over to the government today a 21 million dollar monument to his two terms in the White House.

It's a crescent-shaped building of Indiana limestone containing 3 1/2 million official documents and uncounted personal mementoes of his nearly eight years as President.

The 73-year-old former chief executive obviously looked forward with keenest anticipation to the ceremony this afternoon when the Harry S. Truman Library and Museum will be dedicated as a national monument.

And he made no attempt to hide the relief with which he took part in preliminary events. Twice Friday, laughing and joking with the donors, he accepted gifts for the museum.

One was a piano — a duplicate of one made for the White House by the Baldwin Piano Co.

Like the piano, the Truman library building itself is a gift. Its cost, 1 1/2 million dollars, was raised by public subscription. The value placed on the grounds and the building's contents run the total to 21 million.

Flying over the building at today's ceremony will be the flag that flew over the inauguration stand in Washington when Truman took the oath of office in 1949. Yesterday, as he has many times before, Truman recalled it was "an inauguration a lot of folks said would never take place."

Joining him for the ceremony will be the only other living ex-President, Herbert Hoover, the widow of President Franklin D. Roosevelt; the chief justice and an associate justice of the United States; six U.S. senators; four congressmen; eight governors; and two men who were members of Truman's cabinet.

Earl Warren, chief justice of the United States, will be the principal speaker. Truman will present his official papers and mementoes.

(At Alameda, the service information officer at the naval air station confirmed that the anti-submarine fighter, based at the naval air station at North Island, San Diego, left Alameda for Port Angeles at 5:06 a.m. PST Saturday and was overdue.)

Cheary was sentenced to die for the slaying of Mrs. Minnie McDonald in Modesto on March 20, 1956.

Yoncalla's Rodeo Attracts 3000; Parade Pleases

Observers and sponsors at the 11th annual North Douglas Amateur Rodeo sponsored by the Yoncalla Saddle Club watched the largest and best attended two-day rodeo in the event's history Thursday and Friday.

A decorated 14-foot parade opened the two-day event, winding from the high school grounds, down Highway 235, back to the school and then to the rodeo grounds. The American Legion led the procession and places of honor were held by the rodeo court of Queen Connie Allen of Yoncalla and princesses Ethel Powell of Oakland and Crystal Whitlow of Elkton.

A coronation of the queen was held during the Thursday rodeo attended by some 3,000 persons. Queen Connie is a sophomore at Yoncalla High School.

Television star Red Reynolds presided as master of ceremonies over the rodeo events. Dances were held both Thursday and Friday nights.

Large marching contingents from nearby and distant locales took part in the parade, called the finest ever held at Yoncalla. Groups included the Yoncalla Saddle Club, led by Queen Connie, the Cottage Grove Saddle Club, the Medford Saddle Club and the Medford Square Dancers.

One accident marred the two days. That was when Tommy Hall, serving as a pickup man during competition at the rodeo, suffered a broken leg Friday morning. He was taken to a Roseburg hospital by St. Joseph's Little and his father took over pickup chores.

The entry list in the competitive events was the largest ever and competition was open in many different events. Two-day totals were compiled for the bareback riding, saddle bronc riding and steer riding events and individual day winners for the others.

At intervals of scarcely two minutes apart, the other planes began taking to the air.

SHUT DOWN SCHOOLS

He added that, although the students were Chinese, 80 per cent were Indonesian citizens.

Khrushchev Makes Public Blast At Four

LONDON (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev Saturday publicly denounced three ousted Kremlin leaders as "cunning" plotters who planned to seize control of the Soviet Communist Party and government.

The Soviet Communist boss further accused Georgi Malenkov, V. M. Molotov and Lazar Kaganovich, former first deputy premier, of opposing all government measures "for easing world tension and strengthening peace throughout the world." He called Dmitri T. Shepilov, fourth member of the deposed anti-party group "the most shameless double-dealing individual."

Khrushchev made his accusations in a speech in Leningrad, the first time he has publicly condemned the ousted trio since they were expelled from party and government posts earlier this week.

London monitors who heard a report of the speech broadcast by Moscow Radio first reported that Khrushchev had singled out Malenkov as "the worst" of the group.

Later, however, the monitors said Khrushchev had not in fact made such a statement. They attributed their error to "a mishearing." The mistake was caught, the monitors said, when their recording of the speech was being replayed for a final check on translation details. The original Moscow broadcast was in the Russian language.

Earlier in the day, the Soviet Union informed the West that the Kremlin shakeup would cause no changes in its "peace-loving foreign policy."

Khrushchev accused the anti-party group of "hatching cunning schemes. It wanted to lay its hands on the key positions in the party and the state in order to change the political line of the party."

The ostensible purpose of Khrushchev's Leningrad visit was to present medals to workers commemorating the 25th anniversary of the city.

He was accompanied by President Klement Voroshilov, Premier Nikolai Bulganin, and Otto Kuusinen, Ekaterina Pusteva, and Nikolai Shvernik, all members of the new presidium of the central committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union.

But the trip seemed to be part of a plan to show the country the new Kremlin team feels secure.

Since the ouster of the four Kremlin leaders, there has been a growing campaign of denunciation against them, hinting at possible worse things to come. But an earlier Moscow Radio broadcast termed "absurd" reports circulating in Polish Communist circles that Kaganovich, Malenkov and Molotov had been placed under house arrest or subject to other "repressive measures."

3 More Oregon Deaths Occur For Holidays

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three additional deaths involving automobiles raised Oregon's Fourth of July holiday weekend death toll to 11 Saturday.

Mrs. Gerald Benton of Seattle was fatally injured in a three-vehicle collision on Highway 30, nine miles east of Baker, early Saturday. Her husband and their two children were injured.

Swan Dahlin, 71, Klamath Falls, was killed outright Friday night when he was struck by an automobile as he walked down the center of a Klamath Falls road. The driver was not cited.

Lucille Nancy Parsons, 41, died Saturday from injuries suffered in Portland Friday night in a plunge from a moving car driven by her husband, Edwin M. Parsons. Police were investigating the incident.

Vernon Womack, 13, Wallawa, drowned at the junction of the Minam and Grande Ronde rivers in Eastern Oregon Friday.

The boy tumbled into the swift current as he attempted to wade to shore from a small island where he had been fishing.

A friend, Robert Berry, 13, twice tried to go to Womack's rescue. Berry tried to wade into the stream near the islands, and moments later dashed several hundred feet along the shore in another vain attempt to reach the boy.

Both times he was forced to give up by the deep swirling water.

The first outbreak of fatalities occurred as the holiday began July 4, when six persons drowned, and another perished in a highway accident.

Move Behind Russ Submarine Sales Puzzle To West

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia may be well started on the way to becoming a limited naval power in the eastern Mediterranean.

The suspicion is growing in official quarters here that this is the real meaning behind Russia's recently disclosed sale to Egypt of the submarines.

One of Egypt's purposes in obtaining the submarines may be in using them to try to prevent passage of ships through the Gulf of Aqaba to the Israeli port of Eilat. Egypt and other Arab states contend that the gulf is Arab territorial water and that shipping to Israel can be legitimately stopped.

Two of the submarines, which arrived some time ago at the port of Alexandria, are described by authorities here as capable of laying mines. The ultimate Egyptian intention may be to try to mine the waters at the entrance to the gulf, which opens off the Red Sea.

But what intrigues and worries American experts even more is what may be behind Russia's sale of the underwater craft.

In the view of responsible authorities who have analyzed the deal, possession and operation of the submarines by Egypt will mean that Egypt will have to build up a submarine operating base possibly at Alexandria.

With President Nasser's Egyptian government already closely linked with the Soviet Union, such a base would be Russian equipped. It could easily be supplied with a large store of repair parts and suitable for submarine operations.

Once such a base is established it could readily be used by the Soviets' own submarines as well as those under the Egyptian flag.

Petitions Seek Limit On Plywood Imports

About six petitions will be circulated next week in Roseburg mills to support import limitations on plywood proposed in the U.S. House of Representatives.

The petitions, which will be sponsored by Local 367, International Woodworkers of America, originated this week in Oakland and Sutherlin unions. They support legislation introduced by Rep. Walter Norblad (R-Ore.) which would limit foreign imports of plywood to 15 per cent of the domestic production.

The petitions will be submitted to Rep. Clair Engle (D-Calif.), chairman of the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee.

Cement Grows Shorter As Walkouts Spread

CHICAGO (AP) — Cement shortages grew more acute today as new walkouts spread through production plants in the Midwest, South and West.

Strikes have cut output of the important building material by an estimated one-third in the East and shutdowns in Illinois cut supplies in the Chicago area by one-half.

The United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers Union said that 13,000 of its 25,000 members are idle at 42 of the nation's 140 plants.

Government Says Girard Can't Go Free

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government contended Saturday that GI William S. Girard has no right to go free while the Supreme Court considers whether he should be tried by U.S. or Japanese authorities.

The high court will hear oral arguments on the case Monday. U.S. officials had agreed to turn the Army specialist third class from Ottawa, Ill., over to the Japanese for trial on a charge of killing a Japanese woman who was scavenging for scrap metal on an Army firing range.

But attorneys for Girard obtained an order from the U.S. District Court here forbidding the Army to release him to Japanese authorities. However, the same court refused to direct the Army to set Girard free from Army custody.

On this side issue, the government in a brief filed Saturday told the Supreme Court Girard has no valid reason to object to being held by the Army at Camp Whittington in Japan.

In fact, the brief said, if he were "to leave the base he could at any time be taken into custody by Japanese authorities — the very custody from which he seeks to require the United States to protect him."

The Justice Department, in effect, said the District Court was right in denying Girard a writ of habeas corpus to free him. However, the government still contends — and will argue next week — that the lower court was wrong in blocking Girard's transfer to Japanese custody for trial.

Ruling Stymies Subcommittee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Balked temporarily in the courts, the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee must decide whether to try a new approach to trade immunity for testimony.

The nine-judge U.S. Court of Appeals ruled unanimously Friday that the subcommittee acted "prematurely" in attempting to compel four persons to testify in return for a grant of immunity from prosecution.

The decision reversed an order by District Judge David A. Pine who had directed the witnesses to appear and testify. J. G. Sourvine, subcommittee counsel, who handled the case in the courts, said any next move would be a matter of policy for the subcommittee to determine.

The appeals court did not touch upon the question of the constitutionality of the 1954 immunity law in its decision.

254 Persons Die So Far, Reports Show

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Americans paid a price in lives for enjoyment of the long fourth of July weekend, but safety officials said today the cost may not be as heavy as expected.

The National Safety Council estimated before the four-day, 102-hour holiday began, that 535 would die in traffic accidents. Some 45 million cars, they said would be on the move during the period.

Since 6 p.m. Wednesday 254 traffic deaths were counted. There were 155 drownings, and 42 persons died in miscellaneous accidents—an overall accident toll of 451.

The count ends midnight Sunday.

Although traffic deaths swelled sharply upward at times Friday, the overall trend was about five an hour, a little higher during evening hours. One accident alone in Michigan yesterday claimed seven lives, the highest number so far during the holiday.

The National Safety Council 'in its statement said that despite spurts, "traffic deaths are still running on a level with a non-holiday toll. Drivers and law enforcement officers are doing a good job."

The Associated Press in a non-holiday test period counted 378 deaths on the highway, 146 drownings and 110 miscellaneous deaths. The test period was from 6 p.m. Wednesday June 10 to midnight Sunday June 23. The test was made for comparative purposes.
