Little Change Noted In Oregon Employment

SALEM (AP) — Very little change in the unemployment situation over the state in the past month has been noted, the state Unemployment Compensation Commission reported Friday.

It said a decline of 1300 in jobseekers in the downstate area was almost balanced by an increase of 1000 in the metropolitan area.

For June there were 74,900 without work. This compares with 25,200 for the start of the month and 18,000 for June of last year.

Eugene and Klamath Falls were among the cities reporting the biggest increases in jobseekers.

ORDER SET ASIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals Friday set aside district court orders directing four witnesses to testify before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee under a promise of immunity from prosecution.

The court's nine judges unanimously held that the orders to testify were premature. They said the 1954 immunity law as it applies to congressional committees cannot be used until after a witness has appeared and refused to answer questions.
