Communist Party Ouster Hinted Due Deposed Reds

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet press hinted strongly here today the way is being cleared to expel V. M. Molotov, Georgi Malenkov and Lazar Kaganovich from the Soviet Communist Party.

The government newspaper Izvestia listed various degrees of punishment which can be invoked against party members who plot against the party's "monolithic unity."

Izvestia quoted Lenin and decisions of the 10th Party Congress of 1921 to show that "plotters against party unity" are liable to punishment up to and including expulsion from the lowest ranks of the Communist Party.

Ousted in Purge
Malenkov, former Foreign Minister Molotov and former First Deputy Premier Kaganovich were ousted from the party's ruling body in last week's purge. Malenkov, successor to Stalin as premier, has been singled out for the most severe criticism.

The government paper declared in a full page discussion: "The 10th Party Congress authorized the Central Committee, in cases of violation of discipline or revival of factionalism, to use all measures of party retribution up to and including expulsion from the party."

"With members of the Central Committee this includes demotion to candidate members and, in extreme cases, to expulsion from the party."

"The party cannot tolerate those who do not carry out the will of the majority, who do not place the interest of the party above everything else, who try to bring dissension into its ranks and who plot against its unity."

Up to now the party press has been referring to the three and former Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov, demoted along with them, as "comrades." This indicates that however low they had fallen, they still were in the party ranks.

Expulsion is an extreme punishment which would prevent any of the alleged "antiparty" group from participating in any government or party activity. It could even pave the way for a trial for any one or all.

Textbook Qualification Left To Private Schools

PORTLAND (AP) — Private schools here must carry the entire burden of proving they are qualified to receive free text books from the Portland School Board, its attorney said Monday night.

Grant T. Anderson said the board is not required to furnish books unless each private school is certified by the state superintendent.

If the state superintendent issues no statement, or if he says he doesn't know if a school is qualified, it means no books, Anderson said.

Portland Superintendent J. W. Edwards said the board may spend as much as $45,000 on the text book program this fall.

New High-Energy Fuel Adds To Range Of Jets

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP) — The Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. has unveiled a new high-energy fuel it said increased the range of jet engines by 40 per cent.

With the new fuel, a company official said, it is possible to fly a B58 bomber anywhere in the world and return without refueling.

The name of the new chemical fuel is HEF-2. The base of the fuel is borax, a crystalline sodium compound used as a cleansing agent or disinfectant. The U. S. has huge supplies of borax.

Olin Mathieson announced construction of a 36-million-dollar plant to manufacture HEF-2 at Model City, 10 miles northeast of Niagara Falls. The company said it had already perfected production of the fuel in the pilot plant here.
