not legally authorized. Judge Charles S. Woodrich Monday refused to grant an injunction to stop the election. But a new suit could be filed to stop the levy if it passes at the election.

The election was called by Wilmer W. White and Erwin Smith, two of the three members remaining on the school board after a recall election. According to their counsel at the hearing Monday, the third member, Bert Golger, has not attended the last four meetings of the board and refuses to serve.

Thrush's counsel at the hearing said that Golger considered that the past few meetings of the board were "rump sessions" and were not legally called. Golger was not available for comment. The counsel also indicated that the board could have replaced Golger if he refused to serve. County school board members said they knew of no such "revision in the law."

Alpine Guides Reach Wreckage Of U. S. Plane

MILAN, Italy — Italian Alpine guides reached the burned out wreckage of a U. S. Navy plane on rugged San Martino mountain in northern Italy Tuesday and relayed word back by radio that all aboard had perished.

The plane with 11 men aboard had been missing five days. It was spotted earlier in the day on the slopes of the 9,000-foot peak near Trento. The guides said it crashed at the 7,000-foot level. The scene of the wreckage is about 100 miles northeast of Treviso.

Airport officials said the pilot had asked permission to lose altitude and land and that everything appeared to be under control when radio contact was broken.

Committee Will Study Proposal Of Eisenhower

CHICAGO — A meeting will be held next month by a committee of state governors and aides to President Eisenhower to consider how the states may take over some services now undertaken by the federal government.

The joint federal-state action committee's meeting is slated for Hershey, Pa., on Aug. 9 and 10. The group is the outgrowth of a suggestion by Eisenhower in a speech at the annual Governor's Conference in Williamsburg, Va., last month.

Members of the federal committee have been named by Eisenhower and Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois, the conference chairman, has appointed a committee of governors.

The state group members are Govs. Lane Dwinell of New Hampshire, chairman; Victor E. Anderson of Nebraska; James P. Coleman of Mississippi; Price Daniel of Texas; George Docking of Kansas; George W. Leader of Pennsylvania; and Robert E. Smylie of Idaho. Stratton is a member ex-officio.

Folsom, secretary of health, education and welfare; Percival Brundage, director of the budget, and presidential assistants Howard Pye, Meyer Keastbaum, and Maj. Gen. John S. Bragdon.

School Teacher Died Of Stabbing, Strangulation

CENTRALIA — Preliminary examination of the body of Miss Eleanor Bolinger, slain Lewis Couderc Sunday School teacher, showed that she died of a combination of stab wounds and strangulation, investigators said Tuesday.

The brutally beaten body of the 31-year-old Mineral woman was found Sunday after a couple discovered her pocket watch in a bushy area. Sheriff's officers located the body partially buried behind a log about a half a mile north of where her abandoned bicycle and a pool of blood were found July 6, the day she vanished.

Lewis County sheriff Earl Hilton said the one lead they have "does not appear to be too sharp."

A man showed up at the Tacoma Red Cross office saying he had "blacked out" for three days and thought he "might have killed someone."

The man is being held in Billings, Mont., for questioning and photographing, the sheriff said. A picture will be sent to Hilton for possible identification by a motorist who said he picked up a hitchhiker in the Mineral area on July 6.

Union Funds Said Used To Purchase Numerous Items

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON — An intimation was tossed into Senate hearings Tuesday that officers of the United Textile Workers Union (UTW) have spent union money for such things as brassieres, radios, television sets, milk stools and "golfers lamps."

Though no evidence was immediately brought out, Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) asked a witness before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee whether he would be surprised to learn such items "were on hotel bills over several years" turned in by union president Anthony Valente and secretary-treasurer Lloyd Klenert and paid by the union.

The witness, Charles Emerson of Winnsboro, S.C., an international trustee of the union, said he had never noticed any such things.

Before Emerson took the witness chair, the committee drew from Joseph Jacobs, UTW lawyer, testimony that a union board which made a report in 1953 absolving Valente and Klenert of charges of misuse of union funds had put $7,000 of UTW money into purchase of swank homes.

Jacobs, of Atlanta, Ga., said there was no mention of this in the report, and that one reason was to keep the information from a rival CIO textile union.

APL-CIO President George Meany denounced the 1953 report in testimony Monday as "a complete whitewash."

Senate To Limit Civil Rights Measure Debate

to provide for federal enforcement only of voting rights — not of such things as school integration.

Sen. Morse (D-Ore) said in a statement he opposes the Anderson-Aiken amendment because he does not believe Congress should "authorize legislatively an installment plan system of civil rights to the American Negro."

"This is not a nine or ten-course legislative dinner that the American Negro is asking to have extended over the next 25 years," Morse said. "All he is asking for is a little more verbalism is used to becloud — is the constitutional right to move and have his being within our society as a political equal."

Morse disputed the argument of Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), author of a proposal to require jury trials for persons accused of violating injunctions in civil rights cases, that the House bill would take away the right to a trial by jury in many cases.

"I respectfully submit," Morse said, "that those who proposed trial by jury in either civil or criminal contempt proceedings to which the United States is a party ask for what has never been. They ask for a procedure that can serve only to hamper enforcement of the proposed measure or defeat it altogether."

Suspect Grilled In California Police Murders

MANHATTAN BEACH, Calif. — A house-to-house search for a cold blooded killer who shot down two policemen was called off Tuesday without any trace of the hunted man being found.

But five miles away in the beach front section of Los Angeles a 29-year-old man was booked on suspicion of murder after two teenagers terrorized by the gunman before he shot the officers said he "looks like the man, but we can't be sure."

The suspect was identified as John Phillip Peterson, an aircraft worker. He was arrested after a bartender reportedly overheard him proclaim that "more policemen should be murdered."

The teenagers picked Peterson out of a police lineup of four men as bearing a similarity to the husky blonde gunman who killed El Segundo police officers Richard Phillips, 29, and Milton Curtis, 25.

The man tied up two teenage couples late Sunday night in an El Segundo lover's lane and fled in their car after raping one of the girls, police said.

Shortly afterward — early Monday — the two officers stopped the car near the El Segundo city line, apparently for a minor traffic violation.

Then, detectives theorize, the motorist whipped out his .22 caliber pistol, fired three shots into Phillips' back, then three more into Curtis before he could draw his own weapon.

State Job Service Workings Outlined

F. C. Riley, manager of the Roseburg office of the State Employment Service, explained activities of his office Monday night at a Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting.

Honored guest at the meeting was Judith Hensley, Miss Roseburg.

Riley urged employers who have job openings to contact the employment office at 327 SE Jackson St. "A plywood firm, in the Roseburg area has decided to do all their hiring through the employment office. Signs to that effect have been posted at the entrance to the plant," Riley said.

"The employment office embraces all types of industry and all types of workers from non-handicapped, skilled and professional individuals to the handicapped. Also the inexperienced and the young as well as the old," Riley told the Jaycee members.

During 1956 the office placed 2,823 individuals in jobs. The office accepted and registered 4,209 new applicants for work and administered a total of 562 various kinds of tests to be used as a placement tool, Riley reported.

The manager listed activities of the employment office. They are: A placement and counseling service, special service to veterans industrial services, labor market information and community participation.

British Scatter Ultimatum Leaflets To Rebels In Oman

LONDON — British planes have scattered leaflets bearing a 48-hour ultimatum to rebel forces to evacuate the area of Nizwa in the desert sultanate of Muscat and Oman.

This was announced Tuesday at the Persian Gulf oil center of Bahrain by Bernard Burrows, British political resident in the area. Nizwa, ancient capital of Oman, has been taken over by tribal rebels along with about 3,000 square miles of territory.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd told the House of Commons British forces intend to seal off the territory in southeast Arabia to prevent arms reaching the rebels from "outside" areas, presumably Saudi Arabia.

"The most effective method of dealing with the situation is to see that means of entry of arms should be closed off and that is what we propose to do," he said.

Judge Puts Restitution Terms On Two Vandals

Something different in the way of punishment was imposed in juvenile court Monday by Judge Charles S. Woodrich.

Two 15-year-old Roseburg boys who put dirt in every conceivable place on a bulldozer will have to make restitution. Judge Woodrich ordered the boys placed on probation to their parents with the stipulation that restitution for damages must be made by each boy at the rate of $20 per month.

Woodrich ruled that the boys' parents may assist in making the payments but are to be repaid by the boys. If the damages—up to $1,000—are not paid, the juveniles will be sent to correction school.

In the only other juvenile court action of the day, Judge Woodrich released a 14-year-old Roseburg boy from probation. He said the boy, who had passed a fraudulent check, had made full restitution to his parents with the stipulation that he would be placed in the 7 1/2 months he was on probation.

Student Housing Costs Increased By State Board

PORTLAND — Board and room at Oregon's university and state colleges will cost more next year.

The state Board of Higher Education, meeting here Monday, approved a 7 per cent increase in living charges. Board will go up $3 to $51 a month and room rent will be increased $5 a term.

This will make the annual bill $640 instead of $600. Chancellor John R. Richards said he deplored the increase in the cost of dormitory living.

"These raises," he said, "tend to negate the whole reason for public education which is to let all citizens attend college, regardless of their wealth."

Herbert A. Bork, controller for the state system, said higher costs of food, fuel and labor all were responsible.

The board discussed lessening the rental by spreading the financing of the buildings over a longer term of years, but Bork said under state bonding laws 30 years is the maximum.

Student rentals finance the dormitories, Richards said perhaps if payments couldn't be extended, cheaper buildings should be built, aiming at a life span of 30 to 40 years, instead of 100. Rentals now, he said, pay for a building long before its usefulness is gone, putting the burden on too few generations of students.

The board also approved plans for Portland State's second classroom building, expected to cost about 1.3 million dollars. A $200,000 general arts building at Oregon College of Education. A men's dormitory and a commons building at Southern Oregon College.
