Grocer's Pickle Trap Fails To Swat Burglar

YONKERS, N. Y. — Grocer William Polinsky is in a pickle—his antiburglar pickle trap has failed.

Every night at closing time Polinsky set a couple of open five-gallon jars of pickles on a trap door between the basement and main floor of his store. He hoped an intruder coming up through the door would be scared off by an avalanche of pickles.

But Saturday night a burglar scaled a back fence, broke into the basement and somehow opened the trap door without upsetting the trap. He stole $20.

Southern Pacific

The new cars are terrific... if you have the money to buy them

Here you see a new Southern Pacific freight car. It cost over $9,000. Ten years ago it would have cost $4,650.

Since the end of World War II Southern Pacific Company has appropriated a record-breaking $365,000,000 for new freight cars of various types. This amount includes $83,000,000 for 8,476 cars on order.

S.P. makes these enormous investments in equipment in an effort to keep pace with the transportation needs of the territory we serve, the most rapidly developing in the nation. We also want our freight service to be the best.

Freight-car supply to shippers is of course the joint responsibility of all the railroads, but Southern Pacific has been trying to meet its full responsibilities, with a little extra thrown in for good measure. We want our shippers to be able to move their products to market during harvest time and other peak shipping seasons... without a hitch.

Also, we don't want to lose revenue because of inability of shippers to ship.

The problem—for other railroads as well as for S.P.—is a simple one of money.

We try to overcome rising costs through resourcefulness in devising money-saving methods and by the installation of facilities that cut operating expenses.

But there is a limit to what we can do in this respect. As costs of wages and materials rise we must have increases in rates.

Ability to buy necessary freight cars and other equipment depends on earnings.
