

Dulles Defends Appointment Of Gluck, Action Of Smith

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said Tuesday a contribution to a political party should not be made a bar to diplomatic appointment.

Defending the appointment of "political" ambassadors at a news conference, Dulles said retired businessman Maxwell Gluck is going to Ceylon as ambassador because he meets Dulles' three qualifications for a diplomat: Integrity of character, sharp and quick intelligence and devotion to the national interest.

Dulles also defended the conduct of Ambassador Earl T. Smith in Cuba, another "political" appointee who has been criticized for visiting the rebel center of Santiago. Smith protested the Batista government's arrest of women demonstrators who sought to impress him with their cause.

The fact is, Dulles said, that Smith is a person of flesh and blood and heart and while his statement—demanding release of the demonstrators—may not have been perfectly correct as to diplomatic niceties it was a balanced statement and a very human thing to do.

On other points Dulles told his news conference:

- The free world must be careful not to buy "a pig in a poke" in disarmament negotiations with Russia. He cautioned that Russia's acceptance in principle of last week's Western proposal for aerial and ground inspection systems in North America, Europe, and Asia should not lead to disarmament steps on the part of the West unless the Russians are willing to spell out in detail how the system would work.
- The Western proposals which Dulles engineers and then presented to the Soviets in a London disarmament meeting Friday add up to the most significant ever, possibly the most significant ever.
- The proposals may generate irresistible pressure on the Soviet Union, Dulles said. He added he is confident that if Russia accepts them the U.S. Senate will ratify the disarmament treaty based on them.
- The State Department has just received a peace appeal from the Imam of Oman, who is in rebellion against the pro-British Sultan of Muscat and Oman. The United States hopes that the trouble there—which has broken out periodically for a hundred years or more—will not develop into anything of serious proportions. The Imam made appeals to both Moscow and Washington to head off British intervention.
- Last week's meeting between Communist boss Khrushchev and Moscow President Tito was an expected move by Khrushchev to woo Tito—a expected since the Moscow purge of former Foreign Minister Molotov. The meeting—so far as Dulles knows—did not cause Tito to give up his rather stalwart position as leader of a Communist regime independent of Moscow's dictation.

House Group Slashes Defense Money Measure

ed for a new Washington airport at nearby Burke, Va., a project fought bitterly by both Maryland and Virginia senators.

The committee cut $8,332,000 from the $29,169,000 requested for construction at the new Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo. It expressed dissatisfaction over "the evident lack of concern for cost factors" shown by the Air Force in building its new academy.

Some contracts have been let at costs as much as three times original estimates, it said, and many have exceeded the recognized increases in building costs.

Air Force officials, the committee said, seemingly have ignored their previous estimates that the total cost of the new academy would not exceed 125 million dollars.

The steady increase in air traffic into Washington, the committee said, makes it imperative that the area have a new airport by 1960. The estimated overall cost of the proposed new airport at Burke is 60 million dollars. The committee said the full construction cost will be amortized over "a reasonable number of years, thereby costing the taxpayers nothing."

For military construction, the committee recommended $1,521,500,000 of the $1,764,500,000 requested. It complained of "a lack of coordination and agreement on objectives" between the office of the Secretary of Defense and the three services in the family housing field.

Other allotments included:

- Fifteen millions for disaster relief for states and local areas suffering major disasters. This money is administered by the President.
- $13,317,000 for the Tennessee Valley Authority a reduction of $1,465,000.
- $2,200,000, the amount requested for a United States trade fair exhibit of American life and industry in Gorki Park, Moscow, in the summer of 1958.

Contract Awarded

Trowbridge Electric Co., Roseburg, has been awarded the contract for installation of electrical facilities at the Burns radar site. The contract calls for the construction of four electric substations on the base.

Lonnie Hollenbeck Dies Here Monday

L. W. (Lonnie) Hollenbeck, 60, resident of Idlewild Route, Roseburg, died Monday afternoon. He was a former owner of the Hollenbeck Department Stores in Powers and Winston.

He was born Aug. 27, 1896, in Gravelford, Ore., and lived for the past seven years in Roseburg. He was a mechanic for the Young Logging Co. at the time of his death and a member of the Powers Masonic Lodge.

Hollenbeck is survived by a son, Claude of Scottsburg; daughter, Mrs. Glenn (Thare) Gilbert of Coquille; three brothers, Burton of Coos Bay and Carl and Arch, both of Campo, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Pearl Lamb of Santa Ana, Calif., and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held in the Chapel of the Roses Thursday at 2 p.m. with ritualistic services under the auspices of the Powers Masons. The Rev. Alva G. Hudson of the Coquille Church of God will officiate. Interment will follow in the Roseburg Memorial Gardens.

Funeral For Girl Set For Wednesday

Funeral services for Phyllis June Finney, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Finney, will be held in The Chapel of the Roses Wednesday at 2 p.m. The Rev. Newell Morgan of the First Christian Church will officiate.

Surviving besides her parents are three brothers, David, Donnie and Kenneth, all of Roseburg; three sisters, Carol, Patricia and Mary, all of Roseburg, and her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Rual Young, Idlewild Park.

Interment will be in the Roseburg Memorial Gardens.

Manufacturer Claims Threats

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Brooklyn, N.Y., plumbing manufacturer testified Tuesday that convicted labor racketeer Max Chester testified in 1954 with talk "about the health of my children" and demanded $2,000 for an easy labor contract.

Paul Claude, president of Paragon Brass Product Inc., gave the testimony to the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee. Chester, temporarily paroled from jail, stood by waiting to testify later.

Claude said he was testifying in fear of his own safety and his family's as he has been since dining business with Chester in 1954. He said he'd received word to "watch yourself" in respect to Chester.

The Senate committee is digging into stories of "sweetheart" or "easy" contracts allegedly made by labor racketeers in the New York area. These are contracts primarily of benefits to the employer and the union officers making them with little or nothing gained for the workers.

Chester was convicted with Johnny Dio, alleged kingpin in the labor racket business, of extortion.

Count Of Rape Attempt Questioned By Attorney

Validity of another grand jury indictment is being questioned by a demurrer filed in circuit court Monday.

Fred Bernau, representing Chester, Nye, claims the language of the indictment charging assault with intent to commit rape does not meet requirements of state statute. Nye, 30, of 1270 N. Stephens St., is accused of attempting to rape a young Roseburg matron in her house trailer.

Bernau alleges the wording of the indictment is repetitious and vague and is "calculated and intended to inflame and prejudice the minds of the jurors, and... prevent the defendant from having a fair trial by an impartial jury."

The demurrer states that words in the indictment "forcibly and violently" "seizing, seizing, assaulting, grappling, clinching" are not concise and within the meaning of the law. Indictments, Bernau claims, must be set forth in ordinary and concise language easily understood by the defendant.

Vandalism Reported

Vandalism of logging equipment by hacking of steel cables was reported to the sheriff's office Monday by Rosecoe Conn, Rt. 3 Box 630. He said a cable blocking a bridge to his Melrose area property had been cut in two and that a cable wrapped around a stump also had been cut to allow a "jimmy" to crash down. Another cable supporting an "A" frame was cut causing it to fall, he said.

SCOOTER RECOVERED

A scooter reported stolen Saturday by Priscilla Oerding, 1041 SE Main St., has been located and returned Monday. Dr. A. B. Munroe notified Roseburg police that a scooter was parked behind his office at 880 SE Jackson St. It was identified as belonging to Miss Oerding.

Convict Search Centered In No. Santiam Region

SA JIM — Search for a state prison convict who slugged his way to freedom from a Marion County Circuit Court room was centered in the North Santiam country Tuesday.

State police said they had reports that Andrew Taylor, 40, Portland, serving nine years for assault and robbery, was seen at 6:30 a.m. Tuesday at Lyons, located on the North Santiam Highway, 25 miles southeast of Salem.

Taylor and Leonard Miller, 25, serving 25 years on a Umatilla County kidnaping charge, escaped from the courtroom Monday.

Miller was captured almost immediately, but Taylor stole a truck and escaped.

State, county and city police, aided by prison guards and helped by bloodhounds, thought they had Taylor surrounded during the night in warehouses along the river. But Taylor eluded the trap, and this phase of the search was called off at 3 a.m.

The bloodhounds lost the scent at the river's edge at a city park; leading officers to believe Taylor swam the river.

Four state officers were searching along the North Santiam Highway, and police east of the Cascades were put on the alert.

Miller was subdued in a garage after a bloody scuffle with prison guard George Tooley.

Taylor stole a pickup truck after forcing the driver from it.

Both appeared in Circuit Court in an effort to win their release on writs of habeas corpus.

Union Displeased With Appointments Of Gov. Holmes

KLAMATH FALLS (AP)—Gov. Robert Holmes was told by Bill Way, president of the Portland Central Labor Council, Monday that Way was dissatisfied with state Public Utilities Commissioner Howard Morgan.

Holmes, a Democrat, appointed Morgan, a former state Democratic chairman, when he took office last January.

Way, a former Democratic leader, said he expressed his views about Morgan at a private meeting between the governor and union delegates to the Oregon State Labor Council convention here.

Way said he told Holmes he felt Morgan did labor a "diservice" when he testified before the Senate labor racket committee at a Washington, D.C., hearing last spring. At that time Morgan was critical of the Teamsters' Union's role in Oregon politics.

Way quoted Holmes as saying Morgan spoke only as a private citizen at the hearing and "is doing a fine job as utilities commissioner."

The union leader said he also told Holmes he was not pleased over the governor's refusal to re-appoint Ray Smith, a Portland Republican, to the State Tax Commission.

Smith is representing state employees at the labor convention.

Rain-Slickened Highway Blamed For Big Accident

Haynes also was released after medical treatment.

Events Reported

This is how it happened, according to state police, a sheriff's deputy and Mrs. Ruth Evans, News-Review correspondent.

Mrs. Moreland, driving a pickup, and a passenger car driven by John Harmon, 70, Myrtle Creek, collided on a hill near the curve. The pickup went over a bank. The Van Marter woman was a passenger in the pickup.

Floyd Hester, 47, Myrtle Creek, driving a logging truck, slammed on his brakes as he approached the accident scene, and his truck skidded on the wet pavement, bounced in and out of a ditch, and struck two other cars.

The Carley man and son, in one, received injuries, although Mrs. Carley escaped unhurt. The Eugene Brian Valdemir family, Fresno, Calif., in the other car, escaped injury. The family included Mr. and Mrs. Valdemir, two children and Mrs. Valdemir's father, George Grace, Portland.

Spins Into Ditch

Fredrick Titmus, husband of the injured woman, hit his brakes to avoid a car slowing down at the accident. The Titmus car spun into a ditch.

Soon afterward, a pickup driven by Haynes struck another car, operated by John Phillip Trout, 17, Fresno, Calif., in the rear.

A number of passengers in the various vehicles came out without injury.

Traffic was held up intermittently as officers tried to untangle the cars between collisions.

Mrs. Rosa Heimbach Lack, Dillard, said her car was struck in the series of collisions, but that she drove on to receive treatment for minor injuries at Myrtle Creek Hospital.

Beer Truckers Take Wage Hike

COOS BAY (AP)—A settlement that ended a three-week-long Teamster Union strike here may set a pattern for the beer industry through the state.

Following acceptance by beer truck drivers in the Coos-Curry county area, the settlement also was accepted by those in the Eugene area. Employer spokesmen said other areas are expected to follow suit.

The settlement provides a 12 1/2-cent hourly pay increase, retroactive to June 1. Another 2 1/2 cents will be added Jan. 1.

W. F. Whitely, secretary-counsel for the Oregon Beer Distributors Inc., said at Portland that the driver minimum will be up to $2.85 hourly when the January increase is added.

He said the new contract will run to next June.

Crash Injuries Fatal

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Mrs. Ellen Young, 39, of Okego, Mich., died in an Anchorage hospital Monday of injuries suffered last Wednesday in the crash of a light plane near here.

Mrs. Young was the third victim of the crash. Her son, Earl, 16, and the pilot of the plane, Curt Grumley, of Eagle River, died shortly after the mishap.

Still hospitalized is Mrs. Young's husband, who suffered internal injuries, a broken leg and head cuts.

Demonstrators Against Atomic Tests Arrested

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—Eleven demonstrators against atomic tests were arrested Tuesday as they attempted to enter the Nevada test site.

There was no violence as Atomic Energy Commission guards took the demonstrators into custody at the main gate of Camp Mercury, headquarters for the nation's continental nuclear testing program.

The demonstrators are members of the Committee for Non Violent Action Against Nuclear Weapons. The group's membership comes from pacifist organizations throughout the country.

They staged their attempted entrance on the 12th anniversary of dropping of an atom bomb by the United States on the Japanese city of Hiroshima during World War II. A test explosion of an atomic device had been scheduled here Tuesday morning but was postponed 24 hours because of high winds.

The first group of three which started through the gate was led by Lawrence Scott, 48, ordained Baptist minister, formerly of Chicago and Kansas City.

With him were Mrs. Lillian Wiloughby, 42, a housewife from Blackwood Terrace, N.J., and Jim Peck, 41, a writer from New York City.

AEC guards arrested them when they advanced two feet inside the gate.

The arrests were made under the state's trespass law.

Small groups walked up to the gate at intervals until a total of 11 had been arrested.

While the attempts to enter the gate were being made, about 20 other members of the anti-nuclear weapon group prayed in the dust outside the entrance. Twenty state highway patrolmen were on hand.

Congress May Limit Upping Of FHA Rates

WASHINGTON (AP)—A rise in FHA interest rates, the second in eight months, brought talk today of congressional action to limit any further increases.

The Federal Housing Administration made effective today an increase from 5 to 5 1/2 per cent in the maximum interest rate on home mortgages it insures. The rate was boosted last December from 4 1/2 to 5 per cent.

Along with the higher rate, FHA also announced lower down payments on homes financed with government-backed mortgages. The biggest reduction applies to houses in the $10,000-$25,000 class.

Lowering of FHA down payments was greeted generally with approval in Congress. But the interest boost immediately drew the fire of Democrats who have been critical of administration monetary policies.

Rep. Rains (D-Ala.), chairman of the Housing subcommittee of the House, said "Congress must re-study the whole FHA program." He raised the possibility he would seek to fix a lower FHA rate ceiling.

Queen And Prince To Stay At White House On Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip will stay at the White House during their Washington visit in October.

There had been some doubt whether the British royal couple would be guests in the executive mansion or in the nearby Blair House, where distinguished foreign guests usually are housed.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty announced the decision Tuesday with the explanation that President and Mrs. Eisenhower are personal friends of the Queen and her husband, and would like to have them in the White House, where there will be an opportunity for informal chats.

"The President extended a personal invitation several weeks ago and it was accepted formally yesterday by her majesty," Hagerty said.

Blair House—known as the President's guest house—now is undergoing some repairs and more extensive repair work is expected to be in progress at the time of the royal visit, Oct. 17-20.

Hagerty said it is not yet certain whether the Queen and Prince Philip will remain at the White House all that time.

He added that other arrangements are incomplete but that the royal couple's schedule undoubtedly would include a state dinner at the White House.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower once were luncheon guests of the Queen's parents, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, at Buckingham Palace. They also spent a weekend as the guests of the King and Queen at their summer residence, Balmoral Castle, in Scotland.

Mrs. Ott Reindicted By Grand Jury Action

ance has been scheduled. Even though she has not yet entered a plea to the charge the case has been set for trial to start Sept. 9 in Judge Wimberly's court.

The grand jury which indicted Mrs. Ott examined witnesses while another matter involving the Roseburg woman and her husband was going on in Judge Woodrich's court. This was a dependency hearing to determine if the Otts should be allowed to retain custody of three other adopted children.

Thompson had filed petitions seeking to have the children, Timothy, a 19 months old Korean; Michael, 6 1/2, and Rebecca, 5, taken from the Otts. In his petitions he charged that the home was unfit because of mistreatment and cruelty on the part of Mrs. Ott toward children in her home.

Woodrich, in denying the petitions, ruled against Thompson and ordered the three youngsters returned to the Ott home. They had temporarily been removed and placed in a foster home selected by the welfare department.

Woodrich, in denying the petitions, said the most convincing factor was the condition of the three children in question. He noted that he had visited them and found them "happy, unafraid and lonesome for their parents." He went on to state, "had their home been fraught with the alleged insane brutality, it would have been readable in the little faces and personalities of Michael, Rebecca and Timothy Ott. It was not there."

Thompson, during the hearing, had alleged that not all children in the Ott home were subjected to mistreatment, but that certain ones were singled out by Mrs. Ott. He maintained that the ones so chosen seemed to be those slow to learn or sickly.
