

13 Are Injured As Bean Picker Bus Overturns

DAYTON, Ore. (AP) — Twelve youngsters and a 35-year-old woman driver were hospitalized Thursday after a bus carrying bean pickers overturned seven miles south of Dayton. None was injured critically.

Glenn Shipman, a state policeman, said the driver, Mrs. Bertha Parker of Sheridan, suffered rib fractures. The officer said her son, Wayne Parker, 16, told him the woman was bothered by a bee buzzing around her head just before the bus veered off the road into a ditch.

Shipman said the vehicle rolled across the ditch, went over a culvert, hit a second culvert, then turned over on its side against a bank.

He said the accident occurred not long after the pickers finished harvesting a field owned by Howard Steingrube, Dayton. They were on their way home.

Shipman said the passengers crawled out through windows and an emergency exit.

Injuries to the passengers ranged from fractures to cuts and contusions. Thirty-eight of the pickers were from 9 to 17 years old. All but two were from the Sheridan area.

All those injured were taken to McMinnville hospitals.

They included: Ronald Donald Abbott, 17, broken right leg; Joyce Rogers, 15, Eva White, 14 and Dorothy Stuzman, 15, all contusions; Edwina Strunk, wrist fracture.

Hospitalized with undetermined injuries were Linda Stringer, 16; Calvin Kilmer, 11; Doris Schrock, 16; Alice Kay Kadel, 17; John Brandt, 15; Wayne Schenk, 14. Miss Stringer is from McMinnville. All others are from the Sheridan area.

Vital Statistics

Marriage Licenses

DAVIS-HORTON — Harold Leroy Davis of Roseburg and Dorthea Nadine Horton of Sutherlin.

BASS-HOLLIPETER — Glenn Lee Bass of Winston and Judith Louise Hollipeter of Roseburg.

LINNEL-STRIITZKE — Dennis D. Linnell and L. Jodie Stritzke of Winchester.

FRASIER — HORNSCHUCH — Ronald Keith Frasier and Donna Kay Hornschruch of Roseburg.

GOWEY-NIX — Melvin E. Govey Jr. and Mary Joanne Nix of Sutherlin.

JONES-ROGLITZ — Jerry Elwood Jones and Arlene Alice Roglitz of Roseburg.

DIVORCE SUIT DISMISSAL — BEGUHL — Frances LaRue Wade Hartwell Beguhl vs. Charles William Beguhl.

DIVORCE COMPLAINTS — TRIM — Russell M. vs. Myrtle Rene Trim. Married Oct. 23, 1948. Plaintiff charges desertion.

MITCHELL — Agnes Maria vs. William A. Mitchell. Married April 4, 1932, at Crosby, N.D. Cruelly charged.

BARKLOW — Robert L. vs. June Barklow. Married March 18, 1957, at Port Orford. Cruelly charged.

THOMPSON — Henry E. vs. Esther M. Thompson. Married Oct. 7, 1919, at Eden Valley, Minn. Cruelly charged.

NEVER SAW DOCTOR — By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — CORNICANA, Tex. (AP) — Dave Kuykendall, who said he was 114 and claimed never to have been sick or consulted a doctor, died Tuesday. He was born in Chattanooga, Tenn.

SPECIAL OF THE WEEK — VINYL PLASTIC — The New Twinkle Pottery — Buy the Out Last Terms — MODERN — HOUSE OF CARPETS — 318 S. E. Oak — DR. 3-4715

GENUINE HARDWOOD CHARCOAL — 10-lb. Bag 75¢ — HURRY! SUPPLY LIMITED —

Douglas County Flour Mill — CASS AND PINE STS.

Why "Shop Around"? - Go Directly To WAREHOUSE SALE — FOR THAT NEW OR USED APPLIANCE!

★ The Finest Appliances! ★ The Lowest Prices! ★ The Biggest Savings!

FOR EXAMPLE: New '57 Automatic Washer, Regular $249.95, $150

New 1957 Automatic Dryer, Regular $179.95, $120

Many others — including new ranges and refrigerators. NEW 1956 and 1957 MODELS IN ORIGINAL FACTORY CRATES!

Budget terms arranged. Sorry, no refunds or exchanges, all sales must be final.

Map showing location of Warehouse Sale: S. E. STEPHENS, S. E. PINE ST., S. E. MILL ST., ALLEY, Warehouse, Coen Supply.

Evenings 5 to 9 P.M. Saturday and Sunday 1:00 to 5:00 P.M.

Map showing location of Warehouse Sale: S. E. STEPHENS, S. E. PINE ST., S. E. MILL ST., ALLEY, Warehouse, Coen Supply.

Map showing location of Warehouse Sale: S. E. STEPHENS, S. E. PINE ST., S. E. MILL ST., ALLEY, Warehouse, Coen Supply.

Navy Hires Own Workers To Replace Warehousemen

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The naval supply center here said Friday it has hired enough civil service longshoremen to replace international Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union members who have refused to submit to Navy security screening procedures.

Rear Adm. Charles G. DeKay, commander of the center, said that by late Thursday 175 applicants had been received for the temporary longshore jobs. This filled the quota needed to replace the ILWU stevedores.

The ILWU furnished union gangs already ordered by the Navy for work Thursday night because failure to dispatch the men would "violate the contract," union officials said.

The union, headed by Harry Bridges, has objected to the Navy's security screening process which requires men to undergo close questioning about affiliations with organizations designated as subversive by the U.S. attorney general and to declare their race.

The Navy said it decided to screen its own employees after the U. S. Coast Guard, previously charged with the task, was halted by a court order on the basis of ILWU complaints that the screening program was carried out in an unconstitutional manner.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

The Navy claims it is in a different position than the Coast Guard, which was charged with the task of screening for other services. A naval spokesman said the Navy may set up its own requirements for hiring employees and an appeal by anyone turned down, he claimed, could be made only to superior Navy officials.

ROBERT B. LAURSEN now at The Dalles

Roseburg Man Named The Dalles Manager

Robert B. Laursen, a former Roseburg man and son-in-law of County Commissioner and Mayor Frank Ashley, has accepted the position of city manager at The Dalles.

Laursen was the first city manager at Truth or Consequences, N.M., taking that job in 1956. He was city engineer and assistant city manager at Grants Pass after his graduation from Oregon State College in 1950.

Laursen is a native of Roseburg and was graduated from Roseburg High School in 1942. His wife is the former Virginia Ashley.

Laursen was the first city manager at Truth or Consequences, N.M., taking that job in 1956. He was city engineer and assistant city manager at Grants Pass after his graduation from Oregon State College in 1950.

Laursen is a native of Roseburg and was graduated from Roseburg High School in 1942. His wife is the former Virginia Ashley.

Laursen was the first city manager at Truth or Consequences, N.M., taking that job in 1956. He was city engineer and assistant city manager at Grants Pass after his graduation from Oregon State College in 1950.

Laursen is a native of Roseburg and was graduated from Roseburg High School in 1942. His wife is the former Virginia Ashley.

Laursen was the first city manager at Truth or Consequences, N.M., taking that job in 1956. He was city engineer and assistant city manager at Grants Pass after his graduation from Oregon State College in 1950.

Laursen is a native of Roseburg and was graduated from Roseburg High School in 1942. His wife is the former Virginia Ashley.

Laursen was the first city manager at Truth or Consequences, N.M., taking that job in 1956. He was city engineer and assistant city manager at Grants Pass after his graduation from Oregon State College in 1950.

Laursen is a native of Roseburg and was graduated from Roseburg High School in 1942. His wife is the former Virginia Ashley.

Laursen was the first city manager at Truth or Consequences, N.M., taking that job in 1956. He was city engineer and assistant city manager at Grants Pass after his graduation from Oregon State College in 1950.

Laursen is a native of Roseburg and was graduated from Roseburg High School in 1942. His wife is the former Virginia Ashley.

Laursen was the first city manager at Truth or Consequences, N.M., taking that job in 1956. He was city engineer and assistant city manager at Grants Pass after his graduation from Oregon State College in 1950.

Laursen is a native of Roseburg and was graduated from Roseburg High School in 1942. His wife is the former Virginia Ashley.

Laursen was the first city manager at Truth or Consequences, N.M., taking that job in 1956. He was city engineer and assistant city manager at Grants Pass after his graduation from Oregon State College in 1950.

Laursen is a native of Roseburg and was graduated from Roseburg High School in 1942. His wife is the former Virginia Ashley.

Laursen was the first city manager at Truth or Consequences, N.M., taking that job in 1956. He was city engineer and assistant city manager at Grants Pass after his graduation from Oregon State College in 1950.

Laursen is a native of Roseburg and was graduated from Roseburg High School in 1942. His wife is the former Virginia Ashley.

Laursen was the first city manager at Truth or Consequences, N.M., taking that job in 1956. He was city engineer and assistant city manager at Grants Pass after his graduation from Oregon State College in 1950.

Laursen is a native of Roseburg and was graduated from Roseburg High School in 1942. His wife is the former Virginia Ashley.

Laursen was the first city manager at Truth or Consequences, N.M., taking that job in 1956. He was city engineer and assistant city manager at Grants Pass after his graduation from Oregon State College in 1950.

Laursen is a native of Roseburg and was graduated from Roseburg High School in 1942. His wife is the former Virginia Ashley.

Laursen was the first city manager at Truth or Consequences, N.M., taking that job in 1956. He was city engineer and assistant city manager at Grants Pass after his graduation from Oregon State College in 1950.

Laursen is a native of Roseburg and was graduated from Roseburg High School in 1942. His wife is the former Virginia Ashley.

Laursen was the first city manager at Truth or Consequences, N.M., taking that job in 1956. He was city engineer and assistant city manager at Grants Pass after his graduation from Oregon State College in 1950.

Laursen is a native of Roseburg and was graduated from Roseburg High School in 1942. His wife is the former Virginia Ashley.

Laursen was the first city manager at Truth or Consequences, N.M., taking that job in 1956. He was city engineer and assistant city manager at Grants Pass after his graduation from Oregon State College in 1950.

Laursen is a native of Roseburg and was graduated from Roseburg High School in 1942. His wife is the former Virginia Ashley.

Laursen was the first city manager at Truth or Consequences, N.M., taking that job in 1956. He was city engineer and assistant city manager at Grants Pass after his graduation from Oregon State College in 1950.

Laursen is a native of Roseburg and was graduated from Roseburg High School in 1942. His wife is the former Virginia Ashley.

Laursen was the first city manager at Truth or Consequences, N.M., taking that job in 1956. He was city engineer and assistant city manager at Grants Pass after his graduation from Oregon State College in 1950.

Three-Time Loser Chooses Death Rather Than Prison

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — A three-time loser chose death rather than prison Thursday and died in his hotel room with a bullet through his brain after wounding two policemen and a girl bystander.

Police identified the dead man as Everett Sparks, 30, of Portland, Ore. He was shot to death in his 12th floor room at the downtown Sheraton-Lincoln Hotel after wounding a detective and a girl in the hotel lobby and wounding another policeman in the corridor outside his room.

Police filled the room with tear gas and riddled it with gunfire, then entered and found Sparks dead. Investigators said he may have taken his own life.

Sgt. James A. Partain, 52, who was shot in the lobby, was reported in serious condition with a bullet wound in the groin and two wounds in his legs.

Constable C. L. 19, of Crawfordsville, Ind., was wounded in the thigh, and Patrolman Raymond A. Cooper, 38, was shot in the arm, but they were not in serious condition.

Sparks' companions, Travis Gatewood, 34, of Portland, Dorothy Norris, 26, St. Louis, and Maude Loretta Booth, 22, Des Moines, Iowa, were held for questioning.

Sparks started shooting at Partain after discovering he was a policeman. Sparks had been called to the lobby by the assistant manager, Robert Callis, 29, who asked him to pay his bill, and Partain had been asked to stand by.

Gatewood told police he and Miss Norris were in Sparks' room when Sparks burst in and said: "I've just shot a cop. I'm going to shoot it out with the rest of them."

Gatewood said Sparks tossed him a gun and said: "I'm a three-time loser. I'm damned if I'm going back for another stretch in the pen."

Gatewood said he replied, "I'm a three-time loser, too, but I like my life." He and Miss Norris walked out and surrendered before the shooting began.

Gatewood said he and Sparks became friends in Portland and Sparks suggested they tour the country passing bad checks. Gatewood said they cashed worthless checks in San Antonio and El Paso, Tex., and Wichita, Kan., before going to Des Moines.

Oregon police records show Everett Barton Sparks was wanted in Portland and adjacent Washington County on bad check charges and had served prison sentences for passing bad checks in that state.

Police records at Portland show that Sparks was first arrested at Kelso, Wash., at the age of 18 on an auto theft charge.

Police records at Portland show that Sparks was first arrested at Kelso, Wash., at the age of 18 on an auto theft charge.

Police records at Portland show that Sparks was first arrested at Kelso, Wash., at the age of 18 on an auto theft charge.

Police records at Portland show that Sparks was first arrested at Kelso, Wash., at the age of 18 on an auto theft charge.

Police records at Portland show that Sparks was first arrested at Kelso, Wash., at the age of 18 on an auto theft charge.

Police records at Portland show that Sparks was first arrested at Kelso, Wash., at the age of 18 on an auto theft charge.

Police records at Portland show that Sparks was first arrested at Kelso, Wash., at the age of 18 on an auto theft charge.

Police records at Portland show that Sparks was first arrested at Kelso, Wash., at the age of 18 on an auto theft charge.

Police records at Portland show that Sparks was first arrested at Kelso, Wash., at the age of 18 on an auto theft charge.

Police records at Portland show that Sparks was first arrested at Kelso, Wash., at the age of 18 on an auto theft charge.

Police records at Portland show that Sparks was first arrested at Kelso, Wash., at the age of 18 on an auto theft charge.

Police records at Portland show that Sparks was first arrested at Kelso, Wash., at the age of 18 on an auto theft charge.

Police records at Portland show that Sparks was first arrested at Kelso, Wash., at the age of 18 on an auto theft charge.

Police records at Portland show that Sparks was first arrested at Kelso, Wash., at the age of 18 on an auto theft charge.

Police records at Portland show that Sparks was first arrested at Kelso, Wash., at the age of 18 on an auto theft charge.

Police records at Portland show that Sparks was first arrested at Kelso, Wash., at the age of 18 on an auto theft charge.

Police records at Portland show that Sparks was first arrested at Kelso, Wash., at the age of 18 on an auto theft charge.

Police records at Portland show that Sparks was first arrested at Kelso, Wash., at the age of 18 on an auto theft charge.

Police records at Portland show that Sparks was first arrested at Kelso, Wash., at the age of 18 on an auto theft charge.

Police records at Portland show that Sparks was first arrested at Kelso, Wash., at the age of 18 on an auto theft charge.

Police records at Portland show that Sparks was first arrested at Kelso, Wash., at the age of 18 on an auto theft charge.

Police records at Portland show that Sparks was first arrested at Kelso, Wash., at the age of 18 on an auto theft charge.

Police records at Portland show that Sparks was first arrested at Kelso, Wash., at the age of 18 on an auto theft charge.

Police records at Portland show that Sparks was first arrested at Kelso, Wash., at the age of 18 on an auto theft charge.

Police records at Portland show that Sparks was first arrested at Kelso, Wash., at the age of 18 on an auto theft charge.

Two Sentenced On Spy Charges; Third Waiting

NEW YORK (AP) — Jacob Albaum, 64, a former Brooklyn tea and spice dealer, and Mrs. Myra Soble, 32, were sentenced to 5½ years in prison each Friday for spying for the Soviet Union.

Her husband, Jack, 54, a third member of the espionage ring, was to be sentenced Sept. 18. He was not in court.

All three had pleaded guilty. Both Albaum and Mrs. Soble appeared shocked when U. S. District Judge Richard H. Levett pronounced the sentences.

Throughout the preliminaries, the blonde Mrs. Soble wept softly. Albaum bespectacled and balding, had stared nervously at the floor, walls and the ceiling.

The reason for not sentencing Soble immediately was not disclosed.

The Sobles and Albaum all came to the United States as European refugees.

The three defendants were charged specifically with conspiring with "numerous high ranking Soviet officials" to obtain documents, photographs and writings vital to the defense of the United States, knowing they were to be transmitted to the Soviet Union.

Albaum and the Sobles were arrested last Jan. 25 in their Manhattan apartments by FBI men. Authorities have said the case of Albaum and the Sobles had no connection with the Soviet espionage ring headed by Rudolf Abel, Soviet colonel of intelligence arrested here Friday on spy charges.

Details of the Albaum-Soble activities never have been revealed in detail. They allegedly were enmeshed in a web of Soviet intrigue and espionage that extended from New York to Paris, Geneva, Lausanne, Vienna and Moscow.

Sources close to the defendants indicated they were entrapped in the ring despite a wish to withdraw.

The Sobles' son hinted that his grandparents overseas were, in effect, hostages.

The Sobles' son hinted that his grandparents overseas were, in effect, hostages.

The Sobles' son hinted that his grandparents overseas were, in effect, hostages.

The Sobles' son hinted that his grandparents overseas were, in effect, hostages.

The Sobles' son hinted that his grandparents overseas were, in effect, hostages.

The Sobles' son hinted that his grandparents overseas were, in effect, hostages.

The Sobles' son hinted that his grandparents overseas were, in effect, hostages.

The Sobles' son hinted that his grandparents overseas were, in effect, hostages.