Yoder Succeeds Pate At Glendale

Marlen Yoder, former superintendent-principal for the Days Creek School District, has been named superintendent for the Glendale School District. He replaces James Pate.

The new Glendale superintendent served at Days Creek for four and a half years. Previously, he taught at Ashland for two years and at Camas Valley for two and a half years. Yoder earned his Bachelor's and Master's degrees at the University of Oregon. He has studied at Southern Oregon College of Education.

Yoder is president of the Douglas County chapter of the Oregon Education Assn. and chairman of the county Child Guidance Advisory Committee. He served as the first Roseburg YMCA general secretary in 1949. Yoder lives at Glendale with his wife, Jean, and three children, Larry 11, Jimmy 8, and Barbara 6.

Camas Valley PTA Outlines Its Programs

Mrs. Virgil Moody will serve as president of the Camas Valley PTA. Other persons who have been elected to serve during the school year are Mrs. Orley Weist, vice president; Mrs. Bruce Priest, treasurer, and Mrs. Blanche Copley, secretary.

Committee chairmen appointed include Mrs. Donald Lawson, program; Mrs. Lloyd Pope, ways and means; Mrs. J. Hill, hostesses, and Mrs. Orley Weist, Christmas treats. Tentative PTA plans for the year include room prizes for the most parent attendance at the regular meetings, sponsoring of the Camas Valley Cub Scouts and the fifth annual Christmas treats given following the annual school Christmas program.

Monday of each month in the school cafeteria. The meetings are scheduled for 7:45 p.m. In September, the organizations meeting will be on the second Monday of the month. Residents of the community are invited to the meeting," Mrs. Moody said.

Student Robert Thrush will serve as Camas Valley High School student body officer for the 1957-58 term. Other student body officers are: Chester McClellan, vice president; Charlotte Barcus, secretary, and Dorothy Loomney, treasurer. School activities planned for the year include printing of the school newspaper, the Digger, and preparation of the yearbook, the Cameron. An annual school carnival will be held in November. Sports will include six man football, basketball, track and baseball. Several lettermen will return to the teams. Among them will be Robert Thrush, Chester McClellan, Ray Looney, Byron Baker, John Wheeler, Dwain Brown and Larry Delaney.

Strong-Armed Robbery Victim Identifies Car

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Police took the victim of a strong-arm robbery cruising Monday to see whether he could point out a car like the one his assailants drove. James J. Sanders, 23, not only could, but did. Officers stopped the car, took three young men into custody when they discovered that the trio had a second victim already in the vehicle.

COCONUT VELVET CREAM

1 package orange-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot canned pineapple juice
1 cup milk
3/4 cup cream, whipped
3/4 cup tender-thin flaked coconut

Dissolve gelatin in hot pineapple juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Add milk and chill again until slightly thickened. Fold in whipped cream and coconut. Turn into individual molds or large mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. If desired, garnish with pineapple wedges and more coconut.
Makes 8 servings.

POPULAR SALAD

Popular with the youngsters is a salad of banana quarters, spread with mayonnaise or whipped cream and rolled in finely chopped walnuts and maraschino cherries. Arrange on sliced orange and crisp lettuce.

SPACE SAVER—Where space for studying is limited, a sturdy folding card table sets up easily and quickly when and where needed. This table is covered with a vinyl top that is burn-proof, stain-proof and bleach-proof—in fact, it is Student-proof.

Private Schools May Now Borrow Textbooks From Public Districts

Under an amended free textbook law some private schools in Douglas County can now get textbooks on a loan basis from the school district the school is located in. W. M. Campbell, deputy-in-charge of rural school district affairs, reports.

The new law pertains only to elementary schools. Before the law was amended private elementary schools had to be standard or conditionally standard. Now, schools may get textbooks even though they are not standard in site, classroom size and pupil-teacher ratio, Campbell explained.

The schools must meet all other standards and instructors must file their teaching certificates with the county superintendent of schools. Among Douglas County schools which could be affected by the amended law are the Glendale, Sutherlin and Myrtle Creek Seventh Day Adventist academies, St. Joseph's School, Robin Dale School and the Junior Academy, all of Roseburg, and the Milo Academy at Milo.

Legislation passed this year did not appear any heavier than in past years, Campbell reports. Among the new laws is one which provides limited funds for educationally advanced children.

Oregon residents whose drivers licenses expire after Aug. 19, will pay an extra $1, bringing the total to $2.50. The extra $1 will be used to finance student driver training in high schools. Approximately three schools in the county have, in the past, offered driver education courses, Campbell said.

School districts planning additions must have a licensed architect plan the construction if the building will have a floor area of 4,000 square feet or a height of more than 20 feet. If an addition is made to a present building, the area of the old building must be included in the 4,000 square feet.

Possibly in early fall a nine member commission will be appointed to investigate school district consolidations. Under the school district reorganization bill districts which have separate directors for elementary and high schools can now consolidate. The decision is up to the voters in the areas involved. The nine member commission would be selected by school boards throughout the county.

Some confusion concerning posting of election notices has resulted in the past, Campbell said. A law has been passed requiring a uniform period of 15 days for the posting of all election notices. Before, some notices had to be posted 20 days before the election, and other notices 15 and 10 days. The new law takes effect Jan. 1, 1958.

Money for the yearly operating budget was obtained by PTA's from a school census which they usually took part in. Under a new law the school census is required only on even number years and during odd number years a formula will be applied to determine the number of children in the district. School Districts usually paid the PTA for taking the census.

School elections will now be held the third Monday in June. The elections were held the first Monday in May. The formula which controlled the distribution of the basic school support fund has also been changed and increased.

The minimum salary law was amended so that instructors with a bachelors degree will receive not less than $3,700 and teachers who hold a master's degree will not get less than $4,000. Salary schedules in Douglas County are above those figures, Campbell said.

A law which would have affected the Camas Valley School District during the past year was amended. The fair dismissal law now requires school boards to give a reason why a teacher or administrator is not rehired. The reason must be given upon the teacher's or administrator's request. During the 1956-57 school year recall petitions were circulated in the Camas Valley school district after a janitor and cook were dismissed.

News-Review Plans Teens' News Scene

Youth won't be overlooked in The News-Review coverage this year.

The paper's news department has been planning and making preparations to launch the 1957-58 school year with weekly coverage of teen-age events in Douglas County.

The teen-agers will have their own section in each Monday's edition. It will be called "Today's Youth — Tomorrow's Citizen," a name selected by Linda Carter, a Roseburg High School girl, in a contest earlier this year.

Plans are to cover all major events involving teenagers. Its purpose is to show that a lot of good stems from the teen-age segment of our population.

The section was launched in January on a trial basis. Its reception was so warm, it was decided by the management to continue it as a regular feature.

Focal point of the coverage will be the high schools of the county, but it will also include stories of early college enrollees and anything else involving youth from 14 through 19.

The News-Review is one of the few papers in the state which devotes such attention to teen-agers.
