Summer Musical Pleases Friday Night Audience; Talent Potential Evident

By WAYNE WOODMAN
Staff Writer, News-Review

The summer musical "Girl Crazy," produced Friday and tonight at Finlay Field is just what a summer musical should be — a pleasant bit of fluff with lots of pretty girls.

Gayle Geddes in the feminine lead made use of her greater vocal and stage experience to turn in the most consistantly good performance of the first night. She had one of the few roles that called for any serious acting and did those scenes naturally.

Jim Powell handled the male lead role well and did a competent job in his songs. His duets with Miss Geddes in "Could You Use Me?" and "Embraceable You" were well done.

One of the best jobs in making the fluff fluffy and pleasant was done by Dave Lyons, the comic. With fine timing and outrageous mugging, he stole scenes from the leads when they weren't signing. He did an equally fine job with some very sharp gag lines adapted to local situations and occasional bits of old corn and slapstick that would have given trouble to a less capable comic.

Jeanie Gibbons and Wayne Wagner with the supporting vocal and comic roles worked quaily well as a team and in scenes alone. They had occasional bright spots in their work that looked quite professional. Miss Gibbons sang well in "Sam and Delilah," "I Got Rhythm," and "Boy, What Love Has Done For Me," but was a little more reserved than the character part might have allowed.

The cowboy chorus had a particularly good song in "Bidin' My Time," and the full chorus always gave good support. Several short dance numbers gave the show a change of pace.

The Gershwin music, though familiar to everyone, gave the cast a chance to do a smooth job. There was just enough plot to keep a musical interesting and give the comics something to work with.

The last show starts tonight at 8:15 on the outdoor stage at Finlay Field. The production is sponsored by the Roseburg Kiwanis Club.

Extra Police Called To Quell London Mob

LONDON (AP) — Extra police were called Saturday to control an angry crowd of 500 outside a courthouse where a metal worker was arraigned for the brutal killing of Allan Warren, 7.

Horace Henry Edwards, 36, was taken from a police car and hurried through the unruly crowd to face a charge of murdering the little boy whose naked and mutilated body was found on a vacant lot last Sunday.

Detectives called it one of the most savage killings ever recorded by Scotland Yard.

Edwards, a mousey-haired little man with an ashen face, was arrested Friday after being found unconscious in a gas-filled room of the house he shared with his widowed mother.

The magistrates court bound him over without bail for a further court hearing next week.

Blank Pistol Found On Prisoner In Jail

down to pull the bedding off his bunk.

Weapon Slips Out

In doing so, the gun slipped from his grasp, and Smith pinned him before the prisoner could reach for the gun.

The officer said the gun is very similar in appearance to a .25-caliber automatic pistol, and could have been used in badgering a jailer in a possible escape attempt.

Smith said the gun had to have been smuggled into the jail. Visitors, he said, always are separated from the prisoners by a screen.

He added that it's possible that some officer had overlooked the pistol when a prisoner was being searched prior to booking. "All officers are human," he said.

He and Jim Addcox, a jailer, said the normal procedure is for the jailers to search prisoners thoroughly before booking. Then most are taken to their cells in their own clothes.

They speculated that the gun may have been taped to one of the prisoner's bodies when he was booked.

Arrest At Music Store

The arrest was made at a local music store last Saturday when Williams allegedly tried to sell the recorder and phonograph.

Acting Roseburg Police Chief Vernon M. Murdoch Jr. said Detective B. J. Johnson, who made the arrest, searched Williams thoroughly at police headquarters before taking him to the county jail for booking. Williams never was lodged in the city jail.

The gun, had it been fired at someone, whould have caused no injury. But Smith pointed out that it's similarity to a .25-caliber automatic probably would have convinced a jailer that a real weapon was being held had the gun been used in an escape try.

In questioning this morning, Williams was asked by Smith if he was thinking about escape.

"I guess anyone like this would be," was the answer.

"Were you thinking about using a gun?"

The answer was indefinite, but later Williams said he might have used it if it had been the real article.

Attorneys Launch Defense Alleging Star Stories True

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Attorneys for Confidential magazine have begun their defense against criminal libel charges by attempting to prove that its stories about celebrities were true.

One of the first defense witnesses Friday testified that a story about actress Maureen O'Hara in the March 1957 Confidential was true. She has denied it and has sued the magazine for one million dollars damages.

The trial is in recess today, to be resumed Monday.

The witness, James Craig, who was assistant manager of Grauman's Chinese Theater in Hollywood in November 1953, said he ordered Miss O'Hara and a Latin-type man, not identified, to leave the theater because they had been embracing too enthusiastically in a back row.

Craig is now an independant movie producer in London. He was flown here for the trial. With him came Michael Mordaunt - Smith, Confidential's European correspondent. Craig said he told the O'Hara incident to Mordaunt-Smith, who wrote it for the magazine and paid Craig about $200.

Mordaunt-Smith is due on the witness stand Monday.

The prosecution closed its case with producer Paul Gregory testifying that Mrs. Marjorie Meade, alleged Hollywood agent for Confidential and a trial defendant, tried to blackmail him to keep a story out of the magazine. Mrs. Meade took the stand briefly to assert she had never seen nor talked to Gregory before.

Plane Hits Housing Development; 4 Killed

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)— A B25 bomber from Vance Air Force Base, Okla., crashed into a housing development Saturday. Four crewmen were killed. No civilians were injured.

Names of the crewmen were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

The plane, flying from Barksdale, AFB, Shreveport, La., to West Palm Beach, AFB, had received clearance from the tower to land when it crashed into the housing development near the field, damaging three homes.

Air Force authorities said the pilot of the plane reported no trouble before landing.

One witness said the plane apparently lost its two engines when it struck one of the houses, then skidded afire onto the base. Families fled in terror.

Young Polish Diplomat Given Asylum In England

LONDON (AP) — A 26-year-old Polish diplomat was granted asylum in Britain today after telling police how he sidestepped a Communist move to ship him back to his Red-ruled homeland.

Mieczyslaw Regula, assistant to the Polish commercial attache here, came out of four days' hiding and the British Home Office said he could stay in Britain.

Regula was to have sailed for Poland tomorrow. He was reportedly recalled after his embassy chiefs had turned him in as a suspected sympathizer with the West.

The London Daily Mail quoted Regula as saying his blonde wife, Melania, was a Communist fanatic who spied on him in their quarters in the embassy.

House Committee Approves Bill On Immigration

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Celler (D-NY) says he will push for House consideration next week of a bill designed primarily to ease personal hardship under the nation's immigration law.

Celler made the statement yesterday after the House Judiciary Committee voted, by a reported 24-1 margin, in favor of the bill. Celler is chairman of the committee.

As it came out of the committee, the measure contained none of the major recommendations of President Eisenhower. The committee voted against granting permanent residence to 25,000 Hungarian refugees admitted on parole.

The bill would admit an unlimited number of orphans for adoption in the next two years without regard to quotas; eliminate quota mortgages on future immigration resulting from admissions under the 1948 and 1950 Displaced Persons Act; make it easier for relatives of citizens and resident aliens to come to America; grant permanent residence to 15,000 Russian-born aliens who face deportation for falsifying their birthplace to avoid repatriation; and keep alive about 18,000 visas unused when the 1953 Refugee Relief Act expired last year.

Five Witnesses Said Missing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal marshals pressed their search today for five witnesses sought by the Senate Rackets Investigating committee. Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) said the five "are on the lam."

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said staff aides and the U.S. marshal's office in New York have been unable to locate any of the five, wanted as witnesses in an inquiry into New York labor rackets.

Kennedy named only two of those sought: Benny (The Bug) Ross, a former Teamsters Union organizer, and Leonard Geiger, vice president of Joint Council 16, governing body of the Teamsters' 125,000 members in New York.

The committee, meanwhile, prepared to call some top officials—including the union's Midwest boss, James R. Hoffa — for questioning about activities in New York.

Elliott told of experiences at the camp site, where 50,000 boys participated. Wilson, senior, related statistics and other facts to indicate the tremendous size of the undertaking. He stressed also how well the scouts self-disciplined themselves, indicating that scouting pays off in character building.

W. German Ambassador To Moscow Called Home

BONN, Germany (AP) — Rolf Lahr, West Germany's special ambassador for German-Soviet negotiations in Moscow, was ordered home again Saturday for consultations.

It was the second time Lahr had been ordered back to Bonn for consultation since the talks in Moscow began July 23.

The latest development threatened to wreck the negotiations once and for all. A complete collapse was avoided after the first break-off because Chancellor Adenauer offered a compromise settlement of the troublesome repatriation issue.

Bonn says there are 80,000 Germans in Russia asking for repatriation. Russia says there are none.

Fire Early Saturday Levels Grain Elevator

PENDLETON, (AP) — Fire early today leveled the Pendleton Grain Growers elevator about 10 miles north of this northeastern Oregon wheat growing center.

Destroyed along with the building were some 250,000 bushels of wheat and 100,000 bushels of barley.

A company spokesman tentatively estimated the building loss at $300,000 and indicated the loss of the stored grain might push the total loss figure up around the one million dollars. Wheat is selling at around two dollars a bushel.

The entire loss is reported covered by insurance.

The flames broke out at about midnight and the debris was still smoldering some 8 hours later.

The grain growers organization's own firefighting division was unable to stop the fast-spreading flames, but concentrated on keeping the fire from spreading to nearby fields.

Unions Pressure Plants For Wage Raises Here

take a vote at Dixonville," one of the workers complained.

Only three or four Roseburg Lumber Co. men normally work at the pond and dump during the summer. The pickets from strike-bound Roseburg Lumber Co. at Dillard have been on the line at the roads which lead to both the Douglas Veneer mill and the pond and dump. The union has no intention of moving the pickets, Weber indicated.

The Douglas Veneer mill, a subsidiary of Roseburg Lumber, was closed by management when the union went on strike at the Dillard plant. The company said the call to work was issued because the veneer plant had taken orders for their product from other companies. The plant normally supplies only Roseburg Lumber, sources told.

Pickets also stopped building of access roads by Roseburg Lumber to timber above Steamboat when they went on duty there Thursday.

The union's original request at Roseburg Lumber was for a 5 cent increase, the same raise they are asking for at other companies. Since they have gone on strike there, their demand has been for a 15 cent boost.

Other union locals in the county are taking no strike action although some are negotiating for raises. International Woodworkers of America locals 9-436 and 7-307 are negotiating on a regional level. Their original request was for a 15 cent raise and a third week of paid vacation. The unions have the option of starting local action at any time.

Lumber and Sawmill Workers Local 2814 which represents men only at Martin Brothers Container and Timber Products Corp. at Sutherlin have taken no strike vote for a wage increase but will hold a meeting Sunday on a grievance case. They have set no wage talks with the company.

U.S. Plywood Corp. and local 2671, which represents workers there, have held no local talks on wages, according to company sources.

Trapped Cave Explorers Making Way To Safety

SAINT GAUDENS, France (AP)— Eight cavemen trapped 1,000 feet beneath the ground phoned early Saturday that they will resume their climb to safety as soon as they have rested and slept.

"We never gave up hope," said one of them. "We stretched out our survival rations and made out all right."

The men, all from the Marseilles area, were trapped by subterranean flash floods Wednesday night in the "Pierre" cave into which they had descended to study behavior of underground streams.

They waited for the streams to subside and since have been making their way to the surface unaided.

English Paper Calls Aristocracy Liability

LONDON (AP) — One of England's largest newspapers, the independent Daily Express, Saturday called the British aristocracy "a liability to the nation."

The four-million-circulation paper leveled its attack in an editorial on criticisms by two nobles of Queen Elizabeth II and her advisers. Headlined "The Useless Peers," the editorial said:

"Once a bulwark of the monarchy, the aristocracy is now a liability to the nation.

"Once the nobles played a useful part in the structure of the British government. Now they fulfill no purpose whatever . . .

"The aristocracy is an institution which no longer counts in the community. It has no longer a just claim to special privilege."

Local Pressmen Accept Contract Without Change

Continuation of existing provisions has been agreed upon by News-Review Co. pressmen in renewing union contract until June 30, 1958. Pressmen employed by The News-Review are organized under the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants Union, AFL.

Despite the general trend throughout the printing and publishing industry for wage increases of from 5 to 10 cents per hour, Roseburg pressmen, taking note of current local conditions, accepted a contract without wage increase.

Both parties, however, agreed to a 30-day reopening for negotiation of wage provisions, which will permit further consideration of scale in the event of business improvement within the contract period.

Air Reservists Survive Crash Of Navy Blimp

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Nine Naval air reservists, rescued from North Carolina's Pamlico Sound after their blimp crashed, arrived here uninjured Friday and told of eight harrowing hours aboard two life rafts.

The men, members of a squadron returning from a training cruise to Cuba, were en route from Glynco, Ga., to Lakehurst, N.J., Thursday night when their Navy blimp ran into a severe thundersquall over Pamlico Sound.

The blimp lost pressure from a rip in its envelope casing and was forced into the water almost immediately, they said. The men piled into two life rafts—seven men in one and two on the other.

Earlier reports from the Coast Guard here put the number of men aboard the blimp at 16. However, there were only 9. There was no immediate explanation of the discrepancy.

Lt. Cmdr. Ross M. Dempsey, Burlington, N. J., commanding officer of the blimp, said the storm kept water pouring into the rafts. The men tried to stay as close to the wrecked blimp as possible. The nose of the blimp, only portion showing above the water, was spotted by fishermen about 8 a.m. A 25-foot fishing boat went to the scene and picked up the two rafts.

Trail Of Trickery Left By Woman, 51, Across Country

ATLANTA, (AP) — The fantastic part of an attractive 51-year-old mother, the FBI revealed, followed a trail of trickery from Hawaii to Georgia and reached a climax when she disappeared after a $100,000 shortage was reported at a medical clinic where she worked as bookkeeper.

J. K. Mumford of the FBI yesterday listed these adventurous details in the life of Mrs. Janet R. Gray, wanted by the FBI on a charge of conspiring to transport stolen property across state borders:

She was born in Tientsin, China, as a British subject and her real name is Margaret Lydia McGashen Burton, though she has been known by 22 different names in all.

She told acquaintances she was the daughter of a U. S. Army general and the widow of a millionaire.

Her police record began 18 years ago and she has had bouts with the law in Honolulu, the Panama Canal Zone, Canada, and in this country in Texas, Louisiana and Virginia.

Three years ago she appeared in Atlanta as bookkeeper and office manager for a group of doctors in suburban Decatur.

On July 30 she made a quick get-away when the doctors found a $100,000 shortage on their books. She left here in a motorcade made up of a pink, air-conditioned Lincoln, several others cars, and a moving van filled with about 30 valuable show dogs.

Her 20-year-old daughter Sheila Joy, who posed as her 16-year-old niece and used nine aliases, presumably accompanied her.
