The spectacular battle between Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox and Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees in the American League batting race overshadowed the pennant races today.

The Yankees stretched their American League lead to 7 1/2 games after a double-header sweep over Baltimore yesterday and Milwaukee's National League leaders held to an imposing 6 1/2 game edge despite two losses to St. Louis. But the baseball spotlight centered around the duel between Williams and Mantle.

Mantle had three hits in seven times at bat as the Yankees defeated Baltimore 7-0 and 3-2. He boosted his average to .385. Williams had one hit in four times at bat as Washington defeated Boston 6-4. His league-leading average dipped a point to .392.

400 Feet Possible
With a little over a month of the season remaining, the chances of one or both finishing with 400 are far brighter than they were a month ago when both were hitting about 30 points below their current mark. Not since 1941, when Williams batted .406, has any major leaguer achieved the magic 400.

Stan Musial took over the batting lead in the National League, cracking two hits in each game as the Cards swept a rain-delayed double-header from the Braves 8-6 and 6-0. Musial's two-run homer in the 10th inning decided the opener and Vinegar Bend Mizell's four-hit feat in the nightcap.

Brooklyn's third-place Dodgers advanced within 7 1/2 games of the Braves despite splitting a twin bill with Pittsburgh. The Pirates snapped a second-game 4-1 tie with four runs in the eighth for an 8-6 victory after Duke Snider's two-run homer had given the Dodgers a 2-1 edge in the first game.

Cubs Stop Redlegs
The sizzling Chicago Cubs prolonged two streaks by whipping the Cincinnati Redlegs 8-2. They stretched their winning streak to six in a row and tagged the Reds with their sixth consecutive defeat. Hank Sauer's two home runs in the first game and Red Worthington's three-hit pitching in the second gave the New York Giants a 5-4 and 4-0 sweep of their double-header in Philadelphia.

Dick Donovan's eight-hit pitching enabled the Chicago White Sox to salvage the final game of their four-game set from Detroit 4-1 after the Tigers had won the first game of the double-header 5-1 behind Frank Lary.

A grand-slam homer by Roy Sievers enabled the Senators to overcome a 3-0 Boston lead and make it two in a row over the Red Sox. Cal McLish pitched the Cleveland Indians to a 9-2 triumph over Kansas City with a six-hit performance.

Tom Sturdivant's five-hit pitching in the opener and Yogi Berra's five hits in both games highlighted the Yankees' twin victories. Berra drove in five runs, including all three in the second game. Bob Grim saved Don Larsen's seventh victory in the nightcap.

Beavers Split With Seals; PCL First Division Close
In the third inning was the big blow in the Portland victory. Six-foot, five-inch bonus rookie Don Kaiser, on option from the Chicago Cubs, picked up the Beaver pitching win and shut out the margin of Seal Tom Umphlett's homer. The Seals' Bob Chakales won the seven-inning nightcap, in which Portland used five hurlers.

Vancouver also sent five pitchers to the mound in the first game trying to stop an 18-hit Hollywood attack. The Stars sent 10 men to the plate in each of two innings. Home runs decided the second game for the Mounties as Owen Friend and Kai Segrist each parked one.

Los Angeles' Bert Hamric put on a batting show against San Diego, driving in eight of the Angels' 11 runs with three homers and a single. John Jancse allowed four hits in winning the nine-inning opener for Los Angeles. In a triple steal with Tom Saffell taking home.

Seattle String Broken
Seattle's opening game victory was its fifth straight and was won on a two-run ninth inning rally. In the seven-inning closer, the Seals' Marshall Bridges held the Rainiers to three hits and Jim Greengrass hit a three-run home run for the winners.

Saturday Portland beat San Francisco 10-1 behind the three-hit pitching of Bob Alexander; Vancouver defeated Hollywood 7-3; Seattle downed Sacramento 6-5 in 10 innings as the Seals scored their first runs in 24 innings against Seattle; and San Diego edged Los Angeles 6-2, both Angel runs coming on Steve Bilko's homer.

The Umpqua Valley softball race continues to be nip and tuck between both Hanna Nickel and Yoncalla Athletics as both clubs came through with weekend victories.

Saturday afternoon, the Yoncalla team defeated the Riddle Lions 6-5 at Yoncalla, but it took 10 innings before the stubborn Riddle team would bow down.

A home run by Riddle catcher Shorty Racher in the top of the seventh inning had given Riddle a one-run lead, but Yoncalla came back to tie the score in their half of the inning and then win it in the eighth.

Leroy Noffsinger started the eighth for Yoncalla with a double to right field, but then was held up third on a single by John Lewey. Harvey Bragg then drove in the winning run with a smash down the first base line that scored Noffsinger with the winning run.

Top batter for Yoncalla was Noffsinger and Bob Risteen, both with 2-4, while Bob Cole also with 2-4 was tops for Riddle.

Hanna Nickel shoved the Roseburg Jaycees further down into Umpqua Valley League basement with a lopsided 10-0 victory in a game played on the fairgrounds diamond Sunday afternoon. The win for Hanna still leaves them one-half game behind the league-leading Yoncalla squad.

Hanna wrapped up the game in the top of the first inning as they pushed across two runs on two errors, a single by Dick James and three stolen bases. The final run of the inning was scored by James on a steal of home on the throw back from the catcher to the pitcher.

Hanna added a single run in the third inning, three more in the sixth and then a final four in the seventh and final inning. James started the scoring in the seventh by doubling down the left field line and then stealing home in the same manner as in the first. That was followed by a three run home run off the bat of winning pitcher Doug Watson.

The three sixth-inning runs for Hanna also came on home runs as Bob Cearley homered with one man on base, followed by a bases empty blast by Layton Dietz.

This was the fifth straight win for Hanna over the Jaycees with only two remaining games left on the schedule, both of them against league-leading Yoncalla Athletics. Hanna Nickel 201 003 4-10 11 3

Eugene, Salem Set Series For Second Place IN NWL
The Eugene Emeralds, fighting to stay in the Northwest League race, do battle with the Salem Senators for second place Monday night after taking a scalping at Kennewick over the weekend.

The Emeralds, who won the first half of the split season, dropped all three of their weekend games with the Tri-City Braves to fall into a second place deadlock with the Senators, six games behind the pace-setting Wenatchee Chiefs.

Tri-City dumped the Emeralds 14-6 Sunday night while Salem was splitting a pair with the Chiefs. The Senators won the opener 3-2, then dropped the nightcap 3-1.

In other league action, the Yakima Bears trounced on Lewiston's Broncs twice, 3-2 and 9-3. While Salem and Eugene argue Monday night at the Emeralds' home park, the Chiefs play at Lewiston.

The Braves chewed Eugene pitching into little pieces, blasting out 15 safeties off five enemy hurlers. Frank Amaya got two homers for the Braves and Bob Hoehn, Don Ray and Danny Carr each chipped in one. Don Frailey homered for Eugene in the third.

The Senators won the opener with two runs in the fifth frame on an error, two singles and a sacrifice fly. Chico Alvarez homered for Wenatchee in the Chiefs' half of the fifth.

Alvarez won the second game for the Chiefs with a three-run homer in the first inning, accounting for all of Wenatchee's tallies. A bases-loaded walk gave the Senators their lone run in the sixth inning.

State Tests Turbine Effects On Fish At McKenzie Site
What effect do the spinning blades of power turbine wheels have on fish passing through them? This question long has been of concern to both power and fishery interests and the subject for a great deal of testing at various power sites. Although information on this question is available, an accurate answer has been difficult to obtain because of the inadequacy of testing equipment. A huge funnel net constructed by the State Game Commission may provide the answer.

The newly designed net has been tested in recent days at the Leaburg power plant of the Eugene Water and Electric Board. The net, weighing in excess of 1,200 pounds, screens all the water issuing from a single turbine outlet. The net is sufficiently long, approximately 80 feet in length, so that the fish passing through the turbine are carried downstream into a collection box located away from the turbid water area.

Net Captures Fish
The net is hung on a massive aluminum frame, adjustable to fit various size draft tube openings up to over 20 feet square, and funnels down to a 1 by 2 foot opening attached to a floating live box. Fish passing through the net are retrieved directly from the live box. The frame of the net fits snugly down in front of the turbine port so that everything that passes through the port enters the net.

Cooperating with the Game Commission in the tests have been the Eugene Water and Electric Board and other interested agencies including the Fish Commission, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, and the Army Engineers. Charles Campbell, Monty Montgomery and William Pitney are in charge of the operations for the Game Commission.

The experiments at the McKenzie power site are designed in the first place to test the mechanical operation of the net itself, this being the first time that a net of this size has been used for this purpose. In addition, information is being obtained on possible fish mortality. Various lots of fish held at the Game Commission's McKenzie station, are being used in the experiments. Several lots of fish were tattooed with different colored dyes, so that the fish in each lot could be identified at the collection point.

Injuries Determined
A typical experiment involves putting one lot of marked fish directly down the intake tube and through the turbine while at the same time another lot of differently marked fish is placed directly into the entrance of the net below the turbine outlet. In this manner, net-caused injury or mortality, if any, can be differentiated from that caused by the turbine, if any.

Accurate records will be kept of mortalities and injuries and fish surviving the tests will be held at the Game Commission's McKenzie hatchery for several days for observation and further recording of any additional mortalities. Results of the tests will not be available until after these observations have been completed.

Preliminary testing of the net has proved highly successful, and should further tests provide similar results, such nets will be used at other power sites to help provide some of the answers to this perplexing problem.

Eugene, Corvallis Take Softball Wins
OREGON CITY — Eugene and Corvallis each won its second game in the Oregon State Softball Tournament here Sunday.

Lakeview and Umatilla were eliminated after suffering their second losses.

Veteran Bob Willis pitched a no-hitter as Eugene blanked Salem, 6-0. Eugene scored all of its runs in the seventh and final inning.

Corvallis had to go 11 innings to defeat Oregon City, 3-2. Earlier, Hubbard had beaten Lakeview, 3-0, and Coos Bay had taken Umatilla, 4-2.

Three games are scheduled for Monday night in the double-elimination tournament, which opened Saturday.

Hubbard will meet Salem and Coos Bay will play Oregon City. Hubbard and Coos Bay defeated these same rivals Saturday.

Eugene and Corvallis will meet in the final game.

Giant Directors Study S. F. Deal

NEW YORK — The board of directors of the New York Giants went into closed session today to vote on whether to accept President Horace Stoneham's proposal to move the team to San Francisco.

Their approval was expected to be virtually unanimous, thus leaving the way clear to iron out details.

Only last month, Stoneham said that if any of the nine directors attending the meeting was against moving westward, he would not try to persuade the dissenters to vote with him.

The Giants are said to have offered the Red Sox $125,000 for the Frisco franchise. Stoneham also is said to be willing to trade the Red Sox San Francisco for Minneapolis, even-up. The Giants own the Minneapolis franchise in the American Assn.

If the Red Sox accepted the latter proposal, the Giants would be likely to place a club in Salt Lake City in the realigned PCL.

California Team Wins Western Baseball Title

SAN FRANCISCO — LaMesa, Calif., will represent the West in the world's series of Little League baseball.

LaMesa earned its shot at the title series in Williamsport, Pa., Aug. 21-23 by winning the two-day Western regional Little League playoffs here Friday and Saturday.

In the regional final, LaMesa edged out Ephrata, Wash., 18-0 behind the no-hit pitching of 12-year-old Joe McKirahan, who struck out 15 in the six-inning game.

In the consolation final, Portland's Rose City team scored without benefit of base hits and beat Tucuman, N.M., 4-3.

Senior Canadian Nabs Crown From Sarazen

SPOKANE, Wash. — Fred Wood, a lean 50-year-old Canadian, took a $2,000 check to a lake vacation Monday as conqueror of America's Gene Sarazen and winner of the first U.S. Seniors Open Golf Tournament.

Wood and Sarazen finished the 72-hole tournament with identical 10 under par 270s, then fought fiercely to a dramatic sudden death finish and joined later in agreeing:

The new North America Seniors Golf Assn. they helped organize Saturday will make this tournament a salable and important summer fixture in the future.
