FREE INNOCULATIONS

PORTLAND (AP) — Free anti-Asiatic flu inoculations are upcoming for employes of Multnomah County under a measure approved here by the Board of Commissioners.

The inoculation program was proposed by commissioner James Gleason, who said the program might save the county $40,000 in layoffs if an epidemic occurs this winter. He said the shots will cost the county about 50 cents apiece.

Garden Area, Landscaping, Theater Added To Grounds

Fairgoers this year will find extensive landscaping, a new pavilion theater, and relocation of several of the attractions among changes at the Fairgrounds.

An outdoor square-dance floor as large as a football field just inside the fair entrance will set the square-dance theme for the entire fair. Dances will be in progress most of the time during the fair.

The Davis Amusement Co. carnival, which occupied that area last year will be set up on the track and infield south of the grandstand. It will include sideshows, concessions, and about 12 to 15 rides.

To bring color to the grounds, the fair staff built its own greenhouse and raised about 30,000 to 50,000 shrubs and flower plants under the direction of Hazel Smith. In future years plantings will be added to and perennials will replace many of the annuals to provide permanent plantings.

The oak grove south of the pavilion has been developed into a display area for garden clubs which will provide an attraction all summer in the future. A waterfall, stream, pools, and a path and bridge have been built in the fenced area.

Twelve garden clubs will compete with plantings in plots about 16 by 20 feet on this year's theme, "Calico Gardens." Plantings will be started each year as soon as the weather is suitable. The plots are irregularly shaped, and each has a different setting. Daily organ concerts sponsored by Ott and Ricketts Music Store will be presented in the garden this year.

A new theater seating 1250 persons has been built in the pavilion for the nightly talent show and the style show. Complete lighting and sound systems and a stage curtain have been installed. The seating capacity has been increased from 700 last year.

A tent measuring 60 by 100 feet will add to the space at the Fairgrounds. It will cover 30 booths for educational and community exhibits.

To accent the square-dance theme of the fair about 10 decorated wagons, buggies, surreys and buckboards will be grouped around the dance floor and filled with potted flowers. A new fence and admission booth will be at the entrance of the fair under a large sign displaying the square-dance theme.

One other change this year is a temporary dormitory to house about 30 4-H girls on the grounds. It is an older building which has been remodeled.

BARRED FROM DRIVING

LONDON (AP) — Prince Henry Kimera, brother of the Kabaka (king) of Buganda, was barred from driving for a year and fined 28 pounds, 5 shilling, 6 pence ($79.19) Tuesday after pleading guilty to drunken driving.

Kimera is a student in Britain on an allowance from his brother, the leader of a tribe within the Uganda Protectorate of East Africa.

RCA Judges Top Cowboys On Cash Won

As there are R.C.A. Rodeos playing all parts of the country at various times there had to be some means figured out that would give all the men the credit that they were entitled to no matter where they might be competing at the time. A system of points was devised that would not entail too complicated a system of bookkeeping. It was decided that the Point Award System would be the most sensible.

One point is awarded for every dollar won in the arena in the saddle bronc, bareback riding, bull riding, calf roping, steer wrestling and team roping contests. All around cowboy is the man winning the most points in two or more of the above events during the year. Points won in any of the other events does not count in this championship contest.

A point award card is kept for each contestant in the rodeo circuit at the association's headquarters in Denver and as the figures come rolling in from the five to six hundred rodeos held in at least 38 states and Canada, the results are tallied and entered on the individual cards.

An estimated quarter of a million entries are made each year to these cards. Every rodeo has to pay a fee to the point award system and all the money taken in goes into part of the fund that is paid to the champions at the end of each year. Thus every one of the more than 500 contests whose results are counted in the point award system can be truthfully called a "world's championship" rodeo.

In 1956 from the point award system alone, about $24,000 was distributed among the champions for that period. As an example of what a top man can earn; in 1956 World's Champion All Around Cowboy, Jim Shoulders, won $43,000 for that year setting a new record. He has won more than $250,000 since turning professional as a high school junior ten years ago. As a warning though, to Rodeo minded youths, his is an unusual case. The average rodeo rider probably does no better, if as well, as the average sawmill worker.
