Argentinians Hold Ship Following Collision

BUENOS AIRES — Argentine authorities held the Moore-McCormack Lines freighter Mormacsurf in port Friday, continuing investigation of its collision Tuesday night with an Argentine river steamer. Hope was held for the 94 persons listed as missing after the steamer sank.

The passenger list of the steamer, City of Buenos Aires, did not include children under 6. It was feared several such children were aboard and lost, and the toll actually was above 94. There were no casualties on the Mormacsurf.

The river boat's owners blamed the collision. There was no immediate reply to the charge by Moore-McCormack, and the Mormacsurf's captain, Kenneth Sommers of San Francisco, was being held incommunicado by the Argentines.

Stassen Believes Russia Seriously Negotiating

There is no reason to think that Stassen's private estimate would differ from his public statements in their consistent optimism.

Gunman Holds Up Bank In Portland

PORTLAND — A lone gunman Friday robbed the Sixth and Morrison Street branch of the First National Bank in downtown Portland of $3,800.

Teller Alice Oppenheimer, 35, told bank officials the 47-year-old man approached her window and handed her a note, printed on the bank form, and a shopping bag from a nearby department store. He also drew back his sports coat to display a gun tucked in the waistband of his trousers.

The printed note said: "This is a stickup." Bank Vice President George Henderson said the woman teller took her time about putting the money in the sack while the robber calmly waited for her.

The man then walked out one of the main entrances and disappeared.

There was no disturbance in the bank and several of the bank's officers did not even know the holdup had occurred until reporters called to question them about it.

The robbery occurred at about 10:10 a.m. (PST).

This is the third robbery at the bank in the last 16 months. In April, 1956, a gunman got $3,800 and in February of this year another took $920.

House Approves Law Protecting FBI Files Search

WASHINGTON — The House passed Friday, 315-0, a compromise bill aimed at preventing defense lawyers from searching freely through FBI files. This sent the measure to President Eisenhower.

The Justice Department says the legislation is needed to ward off a law enforcement emergency.

The adjournment-hungry House acted with a minimum of debate. The senate had passed the compromise 74-2 shortly after midnight. Sens. Langer (R-ND) and Kefauver (D-Tenn) voted against it.

American Claim Answer To Soviet Ballistic Missile

WASHINGTON — The Army reportedly believes it has a proven answer to Russia's claimed intercontinental missile — an American missile, ready for production, that could hit key Soviet areas from advance bases.

The Army's proposed counter-weapon is the Jupiter, an intermediate range ballistic missile which soared 1,500 miles over the Atlantic Tuesday in a test flight from Cape Canaveral, Fla. Secretary of the Army Brucker labeled the Jupiter "a spectacular success."

It is understood that only the Pentagon's secrecy lid on missile developments prevents the Army from saying flatly that the Jupiter could be in production within 30 days.

Brucker said in Florida Thursday that the Soviet announcement last Monday of a successful test of a 5,000-mile missile indicated the Russians were talking of a "research test vehicle." That is a long way, he said, from "an operational vehicle."

There have been no known successful U.S. tests of an intercontinental ballistic missile.

The United States has an advantage in land bases — its own plus those in friendly hands around the world. A missile launched from Communist territory would have to travel thousands of miles to reach the United States.

Beck Posts Bond After Voluntary Court Appearance

SEATTLE — President Dave Beck of the International Teamsters Union, under indictment for federal income tax evasion, was free on $25,000 bond Friday after surrendering voluntarily to the U. S. marshal's office.

He previously had been charged with evading $36,000 in federal income taxes for the year 1950. That indictment was handed down May 2.

An emergency alert was declared in Southeast Korea as 7,000 lepers showed signs of unrest. No troops have yet been mobilized, however.

Police said more than 70 lepers were attacked by about 100 villagers Wednesday night after the lepers refused to vacate their settlement near the village of Samchonpo.

The lepers were moved to the island of the first of August to work on uncultivated land. The villagers resented their presence, fearing they might contract the disease.

The lepers were unarmed and were caught unaware by the sudden attack, police said. The fighting raged all night and order was not restored until police arrived next morning.

All the doctors from two provincial hospitals were mobilized to treat the injured at an improvised medical center in Samchonpo.

3 Workmen Hurt When Overpass Is Hit By Truck

SALEM — Three workmen were injured, one critically, Thursday morning when a power shovel being trucked to Portland struck an overpass bridge under construction on Highway 99E about 14 miles south of here.

Frank Jackson of Salem was in critical condition at Albany General Hospital with an injured back after he was pitched 15 feet onto the highway and pinned by two massive timbers.

Treated and released from the Albany hospital were Clarence A. Hunt of Salem and Glenn Mollett, Albany. Mollett grabbed an electric cord and dangled above the accident scene until rescued. Hunt was buried in the debris but escaped serious injury.

The loaded truck, owned by United Trailer and Equipment Co. of Portland, ripped away a 50-foot center section of the bridge. State police said the shovel exceeded the maximum height load by some six inches.

Highway 99E was blocked from 10:30 a.m. until late afternoon and state police routed traffic over an old section of the highway through Jefferson.

Russians Have Fired Several Ballistic Missiles

WASHINGTON — Russia was reported Friday to have fired at least four long range ballistic missiles since June and to have tested many more of shorter range over a longer time.

Moscow withheld until last week any announcement of its claimed successful test of an intercontinental missile. But bits and pieces of the information had been coming into Washington from intelligence sources since shortly after the test operations started.

Apparently the Kremlin's announcement on Monday was timed to make it a contribution to the fierce new Soviet diplomatic offensive against the West. But only the timing was a real surprise here—and presumably in Allied capitals.</
