Mother, Four Children Trapped, Die In Fire

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — A mother and four of her children, trapped in bedrooms, died early Wednesday in a fire that swept their West Side home. Five other members of the family escaped, one with a broken leg.

The bodies of Mrs. Margaret Dacey, 47, and Michael, 19, Robert, 6, Patricia, 12, and Mary Lou, 7, were found lying near bedroom windows. The mother was in one room, the children in another.

Three sons, William, 17, James, 15, and Thomas, 10, leaped from a second-floor window. Another daughter, Margaret, 16, fled down a rear stairway.

Mrs. Dacey's husband, J. Stewart, 47, was in a dazed condition and could not explain how he escaped. He caught James and Thomas as they jumped.
