

U. S. Ply Expansion Seen Step In Easing Recession

Although unemployment in November showed an increase over the October figures, the Roseburg office of the Oregon State Employment Service noted that the expansion program of the U. S. Plywood Corp. is "a step in the right direction" toward easing the economic situation.

The office reported that the firm interviewed some 1,300 applicants during November. Company plans call for production at the new Roseburg plant to begin in February. Some 200 to 250 workers probably will be hired by the firm next month, said the employment agency.

Estimated unemployment last month totaled 2,932, compared to 2,222 in October. The office reported that most of the increase came from the logging and lumber construction industries.

1956 Figure High
The November 1956 figure was 2,730. The average weekly number of those drawing unemployment compensation in November 1956 was 1,170; it was 1,145 last month.

The list of qualified applicants at the end of the month showed a jump of nearly 400 from 1956 to 1957, from 1903 to 1955.

Employment office records show that only 207 workers were recalled to employment by logging, lumber and plywood firms compared to 626 in October. However, the service noted that there is a definite prospect that this figure will soon upward during December.

Construction permits reported in service, totaled 20 for a value of $40,329 in Roseburg and four for a value of $47,620 for Douglas County, excluding Roseburg. The latter figure includes a $40,000 bowling alley at Tri-City. Two dwellings are included in the Roseburg figure.

October Total Shown
The October figures for Roseburg were 37 permits valued at $38,000 for Roseburg and a value of $36 for the rest of the county.

The service noted that there has not been the demand for extra Christmas help as required in previous years. This purchasing power caused by unsteady employment probably will result in a decrease in retail sales from that experienced in recent years, added the state agency.

County Still Ranks Third In Covered Payrolls In Oregon

Although Douglas County's covered payrolls dropped 16.1 per cent during the first six months of 1957, as compared with the same period in 1956, third place among Oregon counties in total industrial payroll was retained, according to the Oregon Unemployment Compensation Commission.

During the first six months of 1957, Douglas County's covered payrolls were $30,339,956, as compared with $36,161,194 during the first half of 1956. Covered payrolls, it is explained, are those on which payments are made into the state unemployment compensation fund. Thus they are principally industrial payrolls.

Multnomah County holds first place in total payrolls, Lane County second, Douglas has been third in recent years, with Coos and Marion jockeying for fourth. For the first half of 1957 Coos County has a slight lead over Marion.

Despite the drop in lumber prices, one-half the Oregon counties showed some gain in payrolls during the first half of 1957, principally because of dam construction in Eastern Oregon and industrial activities in Multnomah and neighboring counties. Drops in total income were listed for all the lumber counties of Southwestern Oregon.

AFL-CIO Winds Up Conclave After Ousting 3 Unions

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. — A smaller but determined AFL-CIO, its guns aimed at liberal wage increases during 1958, turned to redoubling its efforts today to rid itself of crime, racketeering and corruption.

It had shown during its week-long convention a firmness to deal decisively with corruption even if it meant expulsion of its largest affiliate — the 1,400,000-member Teamsters Union.

Ouster from the federation of the Teamsters and two other smaller unions charged with corruption apparently had restored some of the prestige organized labor lost by disclosures of the Senate Rackets Committee.

In a final act of its second constitutional convention which ended yesterday, the federation pledged to redouble its efforts to eliminate "all forces of crime, racketeering and corruption within the trade union movement."

It felt, however, that too much emphasis had been placed on labor corruption by the Senate committee and called for equal efforts to smoke out any management malpractice.

AFL-CIO President George Meany, re-elected to his second two-year term as head of the federation, said a high standard of living can be maintained only by a high level of purchasing power.

In addition to the Teamsters, the box score of ousted unions included the 132,000-member Bakery Workers Union and the 72,000-member Laundry Workers Union.

Given a clean bill of health after promising a complete cleanup was the 44,000-member United Textile Workers. The Disillery Workers Union was spared expulsions by promising compliance with cleanup orders. It remained on probation.

With the authority of the AFL-CIO Executive Council, Meany chartered a new bakery union within the federation.

Road Dept. Employees To Have Dues Deducted

The court clarified a misunderstanding which had arisen over vacation. Employees said there was confusion about vacation order and that many believed vacations at present pay rates must be taken before Dec. 31 to qualify at the higher pay scale.

Higher Rates To Apply
The court said the higher rate would prevail if vacations were started before the deadline when many men will be out on lower paying winter jobs.

The use of pickup trucks to get to and from job sites came in for discussion. Workers pointed out that many cases the following of hard-and-fast rule of getting trucks at the county shops was costing the county unnecessary money.

Examples of waste in transportation were cited by employees. Judge Jackson agreed that it was often necessary to make exceptions to the rule and that common sense should prevail.

The county is to be reimbursed for costs of deducting dues from paychecks. A letter requesting such deduction is to be written by the court to county clerk Charles Doerner.

A written request was asked by the clerk, Butts told the court. The court expressed interest in unemployment insurance but wants further information before taking any action. Butts asked for and was granted another audience with the court on the topic.

He said the employees would like to have it settled by Jan. 1 because it would be a relief to any worker who is employed, county workers.

Several questions plans for health and hospitalization were laid before the court by Butts. The district attorney is to be asked to rule on the county's participation and to what extent.

Gov. Williams To Head Civil Rights Group

NEW YORK — Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams has been named head of a new continuing governor's conference on civil rights.

Purpose of the conference, attended here Thursday by governors and other officials from 12 Northern and Western states, is to "expand interstate cooperation to protect and strengthen the rights of the individual."

The conference, which met on the 10th anniversary of the founding of former President Harry S. Truman's committee on civil rights, criticized the federal government for what it called inadequate efforts to combat discrimination in employment.

It charged that the President's committee on government contracts is underbudgeted, understaffed and too limited in its objectives.

Gov. Williams and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York sponsored the meeting.

Among states represented in Colorado, Oregon and Washington.

ELKINS — Multnomah County Circuit Judge James W. Crawford Thursday denied motions to dismiss 10 logging charges against Portland gambler Big Jim Elkins.

Elkins asked dismissal of the charges, contending that the indictments returned by last year's vice probe grand jury violated his rights. He claimed immunity from prosecution offenses about which he testified before the grand jury.

Elkins was the principal witness for the state in its investigation of charges vice and corruption here. Three grand juries returned life indictments as a result of the probe. Twenty-seven, including those against Elkins, now remain.

Elkins and his employee, Raymond (Lari), were convicted on a federal wiretapping charge. They have appealed.

Ambassador Lodge Says U. S. Wants To Work For Peace

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge said Friday the United States wants to work with the Soviet Union for peace. But he declared "mere coexistence while one side tries to bury the other is not the answer."

Lodge told the U. N.'s 82-nation political committee he welcomed any hopeful sign from the Russians, but the world could not accept one mild speech as proof that 40 years of Soviet policy had been discarded.

This was a reference to a speech Thursday night in which Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Muznetsov called for a friendship pact with the United States. Lodge said the United States welcomed the difference in tone adopted by the Russians.

Big Gap Noted
He added, however, that "there is quite a gap between what he (Muznetsov) says and what the Soviet Union does."

Muznetsov's speech was believed aimed primarily at the upcoming NATO summit meeting in Paris. It was considered unusually mild although it contained veiled warnings that the West should remember Russia's intercontinental ballistic achievements.

Muznetsov proposed that Russia, the United States and Britain renounce the storing of nuclear weapons in East and West Germany.

If both German governments would agree to ban production and use of nuclear weapons on their territory he added, Poland and Czechoslovakia would do likewise.

"A vast one populated by more than 200 million people, will emerge in central Europe, excluded from the sphere of atomic armaments," Muznetsov said.

Few operators in the Roseburg area are affected by the log assessment — only those who collect logs to keep mills operating through the winter months. They are taxed on the stored logs on hand Jan. 1, with the tax levied on the logs' value at that date.

Charles Ogle, Associated Forest Industries, Salem, conducted the Roseburg meeting. He pointed out that in similar meetings already held in other areas operators voted to ask for substantial reductions in appraisals.

That lead was followed by Douglas lumbermen who prepared a list of recommended log prices for Fred Sohn of Sun Studs, Inc., a member of the Industry Committee on Log Values. It is that committee which is to meet with the tax commission.

Sohn was unable to attend the Thursday meeting but will be arranged for the Salem session with price list carrying healthy log on hand Jan. 1, with appraisals. In addition, operators are gathering facts and statistics to enable Sohn to back up the Douglas requests.

Attending the Roseburg meeting were Joseph McCracken and Leonard Ostberg, Western Forest Industries Assn., Portland. The session was arranged by W. O. Kelsey, partner in the Paul B. Hult Lumber Co., Dillard.

Hoffa Produces Alibi Witnesses

NEW YORK — Four defense witnesses have offered an alibi for James R. Hoffa, on trial here for conspiring to tap telephones.

The witnesses testified Thursday they saw Hoffa at a Seattle Teamsters' convention between July 6 and 10.

This is the period in which a government witness, Rudolph L. Doelcke, testified he helped install wiretapping equipment in the Detroit Teamsters building on Hoffa's orders and saw Hoffa in his Detroit office July 9.

The defense witnesses were Martin T. Noffinger, controller of the Olympic Hotel in Seattle; John F. O'Brien, Chicago, a Teamsters international vice president; John W. Filiboff, Los Angeles, a vice president of the and Richard W. Slocum, a Seattle commercial photographer.

Noffinger produced hotel records that he said showed Hoffa and his wife registered July 5 and checked out July 10. He added, however, that he had never met Hoffa and did not know personally whether he attended the convention.

O'Brien said he saw Hoffa half a dozen times daily at the convention and also at a party given by Dave Beck, retiring president of the Teamsters, at his Seattle home July 8.

Filiboff testified he also had seen Hoffa at the Beck party. Slocum produced negatives of pictures of Hoffa and others he said were taken at the party.

Preliminary Hearing Asked By Accused Man

Arraigned in district court Thursday on a charge of obtaining property by false pretenses, Clifford Harris Chaney, Jr., Indianapolis, Ind., asked for a preliminary hearing which has been set for Dec. 20.

The 24-year-old Indiana cook is accused of buying a radio at Weisfield's Inc. with an allegedly worthless $25 check. He was represented in court by Paul Geddes, who was appointed by the court.

Missiles Chief Reports U. S. Can Launch Satellites

WASHINGTON — Pentagon missiles director William M. Holdaday told investigating senators Friday this country will be able to launch "large satellites" whenever it wants to do so.

But Holdaday told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee he could not go into detail at its public hearing because "it would be helpful to the Russians" to know exact U. S. plans.

Edwin L. West, counsel for the subcommittee, asked Holdaday about this statement. Holdaday made in a public speech before the American Rocket Society on Dec. 5.

"We have hardware today which is easily capable of launching large satellites. We will be able to have large satellites whenever we want them."

Says Statement True
"This is true," Holdaday said. "I would like to amplify that in executive session."

Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) asked Holdaday why he could not amplify his remarks publicly, wondering the Russians do not know about U. S. capabilities.

"I don't know what the Russians know," Holdaday replied. "It would help them considerably to know our plans."

Johnson assured him the subcommittee would hear his detailed testimony in secret and that it would be screened for possible publication later.

Initial Witness
Holdaday was called as the initial witness at the reopened hearings in place of Dr. Sterling Livingston, Harvard Business School professor, who the subcommittee said was to testify on elimination of bottlenecks.

Johnson, Senate majority leader, said the United States will face continuing "international blackmail" by Russia unless it speeds the development of "weapons of survival." And he added: "We have a logjam to be broken, and the quicker it is broken the better."

A spokesman for the Army Corps of Engineers in Albuquerque, N. M., reported new missile facilities in New Mexico and El Paso, Tex., had been stepped up to what he called "crash basis" after what he called months of delay.
