Key Club Donates New Waste Cans

By HERTA SCHAEFER
The Key Club of Roseburg High, among its other activities, has donated six new garbage cans to the campus.

They were secured and painted by members of the club and distributed over the grounds to further the all-school clean-up campaign, now in its early stages. Having painted the new cans orange and black, the club now plans to repaint all of the older cans around the campus and put emblems on them.

Plans will soon begin for the annual Sweetheart Ball, also sponsored by the Key Club. The date has been set for Saturday, Feb. 22, but no further plans have been made as yet.

After the dance the club is planning to start a new major project, that of organizing Key Clubs in Glendale and Coquille.

The Concert Band will hold its annual mid-winter concert Jan. 21, at the high school.

Myrtle Creek Is Paying Off $500 Bonds

The Myrtle Creek High School student body Assn. held its fifth drawing to determine who will be the bond holders to be paid off from this year's receipts of $500.

The amount is for payment of floodlight bonds. With half of it's indebtedness out of the way, the student body expects to have the balance of the $2,500 paid at the rate of $500 annually until the close of the 1963-64 year.

The student body raises the money to make the payments through gate receipts from football games and other student-sponsored activities.

The following people have been asked to mail the following bond number to the Myrtle Creek High School for payment:

Ashland Speech Tourney Beckons 26 Local Entries

Roseburg Senior High School will send 26 students to the annual Ashland Speech Tournament to be held Jan. 31 and Feb. 1. The speech team accompanied by their adviser, Miss Norton, will leave from the school about 5:30 a.m. Friday and return Saturday evening.

According to Miss Norton, the purpose of the Ashland tournament is to provide experience to students interested in speech competition. Instead of receiving ratings, contestants will be criticized by three judges. These judges are usually college speech teachers.

Roseburg will have entrants in all of the divisions, which include debate, extemporaneous, oratory, impromptu, radio, poetry, and after-dinner speaking.

CANDIDATES NAMED

Officers candidates have been nominated by the J. E. Aides at Roseburg High School for an election at the next meeting.

Youth Center Is Disbanded

Roseburg's Youth Center is dead.

Emil Hamberg, president of the adult committee, announced that the Youth Center group had sold its lease on the building on Southeast Rose Street to Lewis Fullerton, owner of the building.

The center was used primarily for dances on Friday night. That function was turned over to the high school, Hamberg said. He reported that the Youth Center committee had agreed to work with school authorities to stage the dances and other youth activities.

Center Formed

The center was a project spearheaded by Mrs. Charles Brown, who has moved from the city. She launched the project to start a youth center about two years ago. Largely through her efforts, an organization was formed and the youth center was set up in a former bowling alley on Northeast Rose about a year and a half ago.

However, she left recently and when the announcement of her impending departure was made, the center had begun to totter, apparently from lack of interest.

One student at Roseburg High, Wendy Bingham, blamed the failure on what she called "lack of adult-student cooperation."

She said, "It seems, indeed, to be rather ironic to think that parents and teenagers cannot cooperate to successfully build and maintain something they both want."

Yoncalla Students Study Landscaping

The landscape committee of the Yoncalla High School recently visited three nurseries and checked shrubs that could be planted around the school yard.

The nurseries, in Roseburg, Garden Valley and Sutherlin, each offered the school plans which might aid in improving the grounds. Students have discussed the plans, but no selection has been made.

After one of the plans is chosen, the entire student body will pitch in to help level the land before the shrubs arrive for planting.

Members of the landscape committee include: Bonnie Bowman, Ted Bowman, Jim Probstel, Jim Booth, Ricky Booth, Susan Cowan, Gladys Rogers, Virginia Currier and Howard Lloyd.

Basketball Nets $97.56 To Pay For Lost Teeth

The Yoncalla High School student body netted $97.56 at a benefit basketball game held for two students who lost teeth during the football season.

Insurance didn't completely cover dental bills for the two boys, Leroy Noffinger and Ted Bowman, so the student body held the benefit game.

The PTA also helped in the tributing pies, cakes, candy and other items which were sold on the night of the game. To encourage people to purchase tickets for the cause, a turkey raffle was held after the game. Kay Churchill won the bird.

Glide Students To Gather Togs For Underprivileged

Youths of Glide will be helping children this week.

Glide High School has taken on a project as part of a nationwide program to gather clothes for underprivileged children.

The "Save the Children Federation" clothing drive over the nation has been set for Jan. 17. It is called "Bundle Day."

Ray Talbert, principal of the high school says: "Through the Save the Children Federation, a non-profit, non-sectarian organization serving the needs of children, we urge parents and neighbors to bundle up their discarded wearing apparel so that some high school student may bring it to school."

He said clothing no longer needed can become a "new" wardrobe for children in underprivileged areas.

Especially needed are flat shoes, serviceable coats and dresses, dungarees, pants, overalls and rubbers. Infant and adult clothing are also acceptable. Most needed in this area are diapers, blankets, bootees, jackets, knitted caps, boots and underwear.

"Save the Children Federation" had held "Bundle Day" drives in American schools for the past 15 years. This is the first time Glide High has joined in the drive.

Sent To Centers

After clothing is collected, it is sent to federation clothing centers in Tennessee, Kentucky and Virginia where they are processed, sized, repaired and sorted. The SCF then sends the processed clothes to areas near isolated mountain and rural families where they can shop within their meager means, so self-respect can be maintained. Others are donated to families through cooperation of school officials. Still other clothing goes to victims of natural disasters both in this country and overseas.

The Glide operation is a project of the International Relations Club of the high school.

Mock Assembly Debate Staged At High School

France warded off any United Nations interference in the Algerian problem by a close vote at a mock U. N. general assembly debate staged by the Roseburg High International Relations League last Tuesday at the high school.

At the meeting each member of the club represented one country. There was an equal number of representatives from communist nations and western nations with only one neutralist nation represented. All the members followed the policies of the countries they represented in the debate. The debate itself ran according to the procedure used in the real U. N.

The discussion started with bloc meetings where the communist and western nations defined their respective policies and drew up resolutions. Two resolutions were made. The communist bloc proposed that Algeria be liberated from French rule and France protested in a resolution stating that Algeria was part of France and not under the jurisdiction of the U. N.

The scene changed to a U. N. committee meeting on the Algerian program. The committee was to submit one of the two resolutions to the general assembly. After much discussion it submitted the Communist resolution for Algerian liberation. But the resolution fell short of the two-thirds majority vote in the general assembly.

The main purpose of the meeting was to prepare for a state-wide model U. N. conference. In this conference the Roseburg IRL will represent the Ukraine. Learning about the U. N. and studying the Ukraine are the principal projects of the club this year.

$500 Slated To Be Given By Club Here

The scholarship committee of the Roseburg Elks Club has announced its 1958 scholarship award program.

School officials of several county high schools have been notified that $500 in scholarship money will be awarded to deserving Douglas County young people. Two of the awards will be for $200 each and the third for $100.

The contest program is open to all high school seniors in Drain, Yoncalla, Elkton, Oakland, Sutherlin, Glide, Douglas and Roseburg. The application forms can be secured from principal or faculty members in charge of scholarships in any of the schools mentioned.

Must Stay In State
One stipulation for entrance into competition is that the student must enroll in an Oregon college or university.

The date for completion of the forms to be returned to the committee will be Feb. 15. Award winners will be announced about March 1.

The top local boy and girl winner in the contest will then be recommended to compete in the district contest to be held March 10. From there, winners will advance to the state finals. State winners will receive an $800 scholarship to be paid in four yearly installments of $200 for attendance in a school of higher learning in Oregon.

The program as outlined is not a new thing for Elksdom. But it is receiving more emphasis at the state and local levels. Each lodge has been encouraged by the grand exalted ruler to help in building of a "greater America."

Start With Youth

He says this means first starting with young people who are deserving of financial aid in their future education.

The 1956 award winner was Barbara Foye, now attending the University of Oregon. Last year, the winners were Janet Lewis, Peter Amodeo and Kerrie Doughton. They are also presently attending colleges in Oregon.

The scholarship committee may be contacted for further information by the student applicant or by school faculty members who wish more complete data.

The scholarship committee is composed of Warren Woodruff, Warren Ward, Richard Nickens, M. C. Deller and Ralph Snyder. Contact may be made directly with one of the members or through the Elks Club office in Roseburg.

Because of the special speaker, the club will invite members of the International Relations League to attend. Other interested students are also invited. Posters advertising the meeting will be set up in the halls.

It was also decided that the pin and emblem for the club will be determined at a later meeting.

Three University Students From County Go To Kansas

Three Douglas County students have returned from Lawrence, Kan., where they were delegates at the sixth quadrennial conference of the national Methodist student movement held at the University of Kansas.

Making the trip which lasted 10 days were Maxine Vance of Tenmile and Louise Putman of Sutherlin, freshmen and sophomore respectively at Southern Oregon College and Carol Brinkworth, freshman at Willamette University.

The county delegates were part of the Oregon contingent at which made the trip by chartered bus from Eugene. More than 3,400 Methodist students from almost every college and university in the United States gathered for the historic convocation.

The 1957 conference of the Methodist student movement was planned with a view toward celebrating the student's role in the church and university. One outstanding feature of the conference was the presentation of a new oratorio commissioned by the National Council of Christian Students in the U.S.A., an interdenominational body of more than 40 churches, dealing with the life of Charles Wesley, a founder of the Methodist church and Protestantism's most prolific hymn writer.

The oratorio, "The Invisible Fire," was performed by the Kansas City Philharmonic Orchestra under the direction of Thor Johnson, music director of the Cincinnati Symphony, and a chorus of 200 voices.

Broadcast Nationally

It was broadcast nationally on New Year's Eve by NBC and will be released on an R.C.A. long playing record within six weeks. The delegates joined the chorus and orchestra during the singing of two choruses.

The opening keynote address on social concerns of the church was delivered by Norman Cousins, editor of The Saturday Review, who called for a militant program against continuing nuclear tests by the U.S., Britain, and the U.S.S.R.

The conference closed with an address by M. Phillip Maury, executive secretary of the World's Student Christian Federation with headquarters in Geneva.

Nine From County Gain Honor Roll At U of O

Eight students and one from Ridge earned the University of Oregon's fall term honor roll with grades of 3.50 or better. The nine were led by Mary J. Buell who had a perfect 4-point average.

In achieving the honor roll, it was required that at least 12 term hours be taken by each student. The school's entire undergraduate honor roll list totaled 302, 13 fewer than in the fall of 1956. Of the 302, 45 students had an all-A, 4-point mark, three more than in the fall of 1956.

Other local students on the fall, 1957 term honor roll were Dorothy A. W. Baskins, Judith S. Bell, Brian G. Booth, Joseph C. Hallmark, Georgeann, T. Kuhn, Leola C. Lorenzen, David L. Sylvester, all Roseburg; and Evelyn M. M. Mann of Riddle.
