

Water Resources Board Firm Backer Of Maximum Development Of Columbia

PORTLAND — Oregon's Water Resources Board was a firm backer Tuesday of maximum development of the Snake River, calling on Congress to pay for a study of a high Pleasant Valley dam.

All Possible Dams

The resources board called on the Army engineers to include in its 208 study all possible combinations of dams in the middle reach of the Snake "without regard to Federal Power Commission licenses and fish passage problems."

The board, an agency of the Oregon state government, said in its Monday meeting that the middle Snake should be a fish sanctuary until 1965. The years until then should be spent finding a way to get fish over high dams.

It cautioned, though, that ultimately fish survival might not be the important factor, but that rather power and flood control might be found the essential uses for full development.

Its own studies, the Water Resources Board said, show that the very best power and flood control program would be had through a high Hells Canyon and a high Mountain Sheep, plus Crevice, Freedom and Lower Canyon.

And the poorest of seven combinations studied, it said, are the three Idaho Power dams plus low Pleasant Valley, low Mountain Sheep, Crevice, Lower Canyon and Freedom.

It said, though, that its studies were on physical development only and did not take into account cost ratios.

Second best combination, again without considering cost to benefit, the board listed as high Hells Canyon, low Pleasant Valley, low Mountain Sheep, Crevice, Freedom and Lower Canyon.

The Federal Power Commission recently refused to approve a private utility proposal for construction of low Pleasant Valley and low Mountain Sheep. A high Pleasant Valley dam is expected to get federal endorsement but thus far no private utility has proposed it nor has it been incorporated into an approval federal construction program.

While middle Snake River potentials are studied, the board said, construction should be pushed on lower Snake dams and John Day Dam on the Columbia.

Construction aimed at furnishing Company I, 41st Infantry Regiment (USAR), Roseburg, with motor pool facilities began Monday in the chambers of U.S. District Judge F. Dickson Letts. When they came out they said they were under court admonition not to discuss what had taken place.

The judge himself told reporters the situation had been discussed but no conclusions were reached.

Letts said he hoped to be able to make an announcement as to the monitors within two or three days.

Establishment of the watchdog committee was decided upon after a compromise agreement was reached settling a suit by 13 rank-and-file members of the Teamsters, who had sought to bar Hoffa from taking office.

Told there has been speculation as to whether the watchdog committee will have any powers other than advising the top brass of the union, Letts said: "I think they will."

U. S. Rep. Charles O. Porter, who announced the army move, said the land fronts 400 feet of the west side of the VA road off Harvard Avenue. The army seeks the land for a "reserve training center site," said Porter.

The army has used the land since the VA issued a permit for its use in April, 1955.

Construction of the sewer line, and set March 10 as the date the bids will be opened.

Council members agreed to put off action on licensing of coin-operated shuffleboard machines until Sunset Automatic Music Co., which voiced opposition to the regular city fee of $100 per year per machine during the last council session, submits the information requested at that time by the council.

After an explanation of the state unemployment compensation for city employees program by City Attorney Paul Geddes, the council tabled the proposal on grounds the program would be impractical and would rarely be put into effect locally.

Geddes said the state law provides that cities regularly reimburse the state for unemployment compensation, actually paid out to their employees.

At the county's request, the council approved a proposed county move which would make an area south of Harvard Avenue between the highway and Corey Street and the highway and the river part of Laurelwood Ward.

The county is considering the action because of complaints by residents of the area that they must travel all the way to Fullerton School to vote instead of being allowed to vote at the high school.

Oakland Mothers March On Polio Thursday Night

The Oakland Mothers March on Polio will be held Thursday evening instead of Friday, as previously announced.

About 30 women will be on the march in Oakland and vicinity from 6 to 7 p.m. Those who wish to contribute are asked to leave their porch lights on.

The kangaroo court held last weekend brought in $281 for the polio fund. Dick Wilkins and Monk Stearns were judges. Police Chief Turk Manning had a number of helpers.

The annual polio dinner will be Feb. 3 at the Veterans Memorial Building. Beta Pi sorority and American Legion Auxiliary will serve the dinner. Calapooia Ladies Club will sell a quilt for the fund, according to correspondent Edith Dunn.

Hitch Develops In Naming Hoffa Watchdog Group

WASHINGTON — An unexpected hitch developed Tuesday in the naming of a three-member watchdog committee to keep an eye on President James R. Hoffa of the Teamsters Union.

Opposing attorneys insisted there had been no final agreement on any of the three watchdogs, known officially as monitors.

Then the lawyers spent an hour in the chambers of U.S. District Judge F. Dickson Letts. When they came out they said they were under court admonition not to discuss what had taken place.

The judge himself told reporters the situation had been discussed but no conclusions were reached.

Letts said he hoped to be able to make an announcement as to the monitors within two or three days.

Several bids for the contract to furnish the city with new fire engine were opened but the council chose to turn the bids over to the finance committee for tabulation and consideration and act on the matter at the next session.

Pennsylvania Grain and Salt Co. was awarded the contract to furnish the city with chlorine for the coming year. The firm's bid was 12 1/2 cents per gallon.

Man, Wife, Child Found Murdered; Daughter Sought

LINCOLN, Neb. — In shabby outbuildings behind a small home on the door of which was a hand-painted sign warning visitors to "stay away" the bodies of a father, his wife and their 2-year-old daughter were found last night.

Marion Bartlett, 57, and his wife Velda, 35, had been shot in the head. Their child apparently had died of a skull fracture. All three bodies bore lacerations that examining physicians said could be stab wounds. There was no report on the time of the deaths.

Lancaster County Atty. Elmer Scheele said two teen-agers were sought for questioning. He identified them as Carl Fugate, 15, a daughter of Mrs. Bartlett by a former marriage, and Charles Starkweather, 19, a friend of Carl, who lived at the Bartlett home, and her friend were believed to have left Lincoln headed south in a black car.

When Robert von Busch, whose wife is a daughter of Mrs. Bartlett, and Rodney Starkweather, brother of Charles, arrived at the modest home for a visit, they found a hand-painted sign on the door.

It said, "Stay away. Everybody is sick with the flu."

Southern Pacific Train Collides With Crew Bus

A Southern Pacific freight train struck a Robert Dollar Lumber Co. logging crew bus in Glendale Monday afternoon, but no one was injured seriously.

The accident occurred about 5 p.m. at the third street crossing. According to Mrs. Gerald Fox, News-Review correspondent, the bus with its five occupants was carried about 30 or 40 feet down the track by the impact.

The driver of the bus, Johnny Bartle of Wolf Creek, claimed his view of the oncoming train was blocked by a string of box cars standing by the road on an adjacent track.

The train struck the bus just behind the cab, according to Mrs. Fox. Neither Bartle nor his passengers, Ray Patterson, Lyman Johnson, Gaylord Brickey and Don Higgins, received serious injuries, although some were cut and bruised.

The crossing at third street between Pacific and Gilbertson avenues has been the scene of several previous accidents, reports Mrs. Fox. There is no light at the crossing and no guard is posted, she said.

Grand Jury To Get Yoncalla Rape Case

Raymond Walter Harvey, 39, Rt. 2 Box 72, Yoncalla, was bound over to the grand jury Monday after a district court preliminary hearing.

Harvey is charged with rape upon a daughter and was arrested Jan. 15. He is free on bail bond of $5,000.

The only witness called by Bert Burgoyne, deputy district attorney, was the minor daughter whom Harvey is accused of molesting.

Defense witnesses called by Atty. William Jones were Mrs. Harvey, Goldie Kelly and Russell Anderson.

Judge Warren A. Woodruff said that none of the defense testimony refuted that of the young girl and ordered Harvey bound over to the grand jury.

Calvin R. Parry, Infant, Passes

Calvin Ray Parry, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. William Parry of Roseburg, died Monday at a local hospital. He was born Jan. 24, 1958 in Roseburg.

Surviving are his parents; two brothers, Ricky and Ronald Lester; two sisters, Duane Marie and Gladys Kay, all of Roseburg; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Parry of Gooding, Idaho; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dewar Jr. of Roseburg; paternal great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Parry of Portland, and maternal great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dewar Sr. of Reedsport.

Graveside funeral services will be Thursday at 2 p.m. at the Cleveland Hill Cemetery, Melross. The Chapel of the Roses is in charge of arrangements.

Class In Income Tax Set In Adult Education

A special class, "Income Tax Filing," to run for five weeks, is starting next Tuesday at the Roseburg Adult Education Center. Ralph Snyder will be the instructor. Tuition will be $5 and classes will be held between 7 and 9 p.m. in the Social Arts Building at Roseburg High School.

The course contains methods used in figuring the technical aspects of both federal and state taxes. All materials will be furnished. Additional information is available from the center.

Venezuela Rebels Give Ruling Junta Support

CARACAS, Venezuela — Venezuela's ruling junta won the support Tuesday of the civilian group that sparked the overthrow of dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez.

The civilian patriotic junta issued a new manifesto declaring it had confidence in the national unity and was fully backing the new regime.

Order was being restored quickly. Only a few scattered rifle shots were heard in the capital Monday night.

The armed forces earlier promised their all-out support.

Sitdown Strike Prisoners Still Without Food

DEER LODGE, Mont. — Nearly 300 Montana State Prison inmates, hungry and unioned for 24 hours as punishment for a sitdown strike, milled through their maximum security cell block Tuesday.

Guards, tense with the memory of the riot and seizure of hostages guards six months ago, played a waiting game throughout the night, hoping the convicts would go back in their home cells.

No violence has been reported in the 89-year-old prison on the eastern slope of the Continental Divide.

Warden Fay O. Burrell was criticized by Democratic Atty. Gen. Forrest H. Anderson as "no more capable of managing a prison now than he was before the riot" July 30.

Burrell, appointee of Republican Gov. J. Hugo Aronson, blamed the latest demonstration on what he called Anderson's soft method of ending the July 30 rebellion as the indirect cause. Burrell recalled that the attorney general promised the convicts there would be no reprisals for the July uprising when 20 demands were made.

Aronson, Anderson and Democratic Secretary of State Frank Murray comprise the prison's administration committee.

No new demands have come from behind the walls, Burrell said.

State Closes Areas Here To Grazing

The state Department of Agriculture has announced that 13 areas in Douglas County recently have been ruled livestock districts and are closed to grazing.

The department defined a livestock district as a "created area in which cattle, horses, mules, asses, sheep, goats and swine cannot run at large."

The department said a complete description of the livestock districts and are closed to grazing, will be in the formal order at the county clerk's office in the courthouse.

Twelve of the districts were created by a vote of the people. They are designated as the Oak Creek, Little River, Melrose-Flourney Valley, Galesville, Drew, Elk, Ollala-Tenmile, Comstock, Riddle, Sundryale, Glendale-Azalea and East Myrtle districts.

The other district was created by Oregon law several years ago, and consists of the section of the state highway east from Canyonville to the western boundary of Umpqua National Forest.

The department pointed out that no livestock districts exist in public roads passing through federal land or in land subject to the laws of Oregon which is entirely enclosed by federal land, unless otherwise provided by federal laws and regulations.

Colorado Deputy Takes Klatt From County Jail

A Colorado deputy sheriff today took Ernest Charles Klatt, 49, Grants Pass, from the Douglas County jail to return him to the mountain state for prosecution.

Klatt is charged in Colorado with embezzlement and grand larceny, according to the sheriff's office. He had been in the Douglas County jail since arrested Dec. 24, 1957, on a forgery charge which was later dismissed.

Arraigned on a fugitive complaint, he had been ordered held 21 days to allow time for extradition.

Morris, according to the sheriff's office, is wanted in Idaho on a parole violation charge. He was taken into custody Sunday by a deputy and was originally charged with vagrancy.

Witnesses Tell Of Gambling Run By Union

WASHINGTON — A cluster of witnesses swore Tuesday that three officials of the Operating Engineers Union ran organized gambling on a Delaware job site, greying on the pay checks of union members.

There were immediate denials from the three officials—Fred Ferro, Paris (Keggy) DiSimone and Joseph Valentino.

Four witnesses had named them as the men who ran dice, card numbers and horse betting games at the "Tidewater job in Tidewater City, Delaware."

One after another, the three accused told the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee that there was a lot of gambling by workers on that job. But they said they didn't run it and had never considered it was organized gambling. All are lower-echelon officials of the union's Philadelphia Local 542, which embraces much of Pennsylvania and all of Delaware.

The committee, headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), has heard days of testimony about beatings and alleged misconversion of millions of dollars of the local's funds by union bosses who had dictatorial powers.

For years, the local was run under trusteeship by labor racketeer Joey Fay.

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said he expected that Fay would be called to the witness chair later in the day.

Office Building Set At Steamboat Ranger Station

A new office building at the Steamboat Ranger Station will be constructed this spring, according to plans of the U. S. Forest Service.

Bids will be called in Feb. 13 by the regional supply officer in Portland.

Dan Olin, Umpqua National Forest administrative assistant, said the structure will be located across the North Umpqua River from the ranger's residence at Steamboat.

It will be one story with a daylight basement in which engineering facilities will be placed. Olin said about 140 days will be allowed for construction.

The building will be the first in a grouping of all North Umpqua Ranger District facilities. Later, a warehouse, storage shed and crew house will be added.

Present facilities, located on Steamboat Road about 1/4 mile above the river, have been deemed inadequate.

Archie Morris Arraigned On Fugitive Complaint

Arraigned in district court Monday on a fugitive complaint, Archie J. Morris, 26, Camas Valley, was ordered held in Douglas County jail 21 days to allow Idaho time to extradite.

Morris, according to the sheriff's office, is wanted in Idaho on a parole violation charge. He was taken into custody Sunday by a deputy and was originally charged with vagrancy.

Reuther Urges Agency To Probe Price Increases

WASHINGTON — Walter Reuther urged today that Congress require large corporations to justify their price increases in advance before a special government agency. An independent consumers council would represent the public.

The United Automobile Workers president said that such an agency should not have powers to block the price boosts but should be able to lay all the facts before the public in advance of the effective date for the increases.

Reuther made the proposal at the opening session of a hearing on auto prices before the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee headed by Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.).

Auto company presidents are to appear later.

The series of hearings is a part of a broad study of administered prices in major industries which the subcommittee began last year. Administered prices are those set by a company, rather than fluctuating on the basis of supply and demand.

Tough Sledding Viewed For Bill On Education

WASHINGTON — Speaker of the House Rayburn (D-Tex.) indicated Tuesday an education bill like the billion-dollar program proposed by President Eisenhower will have rough sledding in Congress.

Asked at a news conference about chances for passage of a bill to help finance education of scientists and engineers, Rayburn said: "I think it's going to be pretty highly controversial."

In response to a question as to whether Rep. Powell (D-N.Y.) or others would seek to have anti-segregation features written into any education bill, Rayburn replied: "I assume those things will come, if the bill is reported (by the Education and Labor Committee). It has a lot of new features and I think the committee will want to go into the subject thoroughly."

Baghdad Pact Council Okays Long Term Plans

ANKARA, Turkey — The Baghdad Pact Council of Ministers approved Tuesday long term plans for a strategic system of roads, ports, airfields and radio telecommunications. If carried out, the project will cost billions of dollars over a period of several years.

The five-nation conference—with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles sitting as an American observer—okayed the plan in approving the report of the pact's military committee.

Other aspects of the committee's report were not immediately disclosed.

Informed sources said the Council was moving, however, toward turning the military planning group into a full-blown unified command. An Iranian move last year to set up a NATO-type command failed to go through because of proposals that Iran's King, Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, become the supreme commander.

The plans approved Tuesday would provide a communications hookup from the Dardanelles to Khyber Pass, trunk and lateral highways, civil airports which could be used for military purposes and seaports with harbor and storage facilities on the Mediterranean, Persian Gulf and Indian Ocean.

The conference continued a survey of the Middle East political scene.

Rossellini Seeks To Annul Rites

ROME — Roberto Rossellini has asked a Rome court to annul his marriage to Ingrid Bergman. The actress is not contesting the Italian film director's suit.

Rossellini claimed Miss Bergman was "still technically married" to Dr. Peter Lindstrom when she married the Italian film director by proxy in Mexico May 24, 1950. Fraudulent marriage is a legal ground for annulment in Italy, where divorce is not legal.

Miss Bergman received a Mexican divorce from Dr. Lindstrom Feb. 9, 1950, the week after the birth of her first child by Rossellini.

Miss Bergman's brief reply to Rossellini's suit admitted his claim and said she would submit to the findings of the court.

Accused Colonel Waives Hearing

MONTEREY, Calif. — Lt. Col. Melvin Russell Blair, U.S.A. ret., hero of two wars charged with trying to steal $40,000 in Bing Crosby golf tournament receipts, has been bound over to superior court.

Municipal Judge Ray Baugh ordered the 42-year-old veteran Monday to appear in Monterey County superior court in Salinas on Friday for arraignment on charges of armed robbery, assault with a deadly weapon and burglary.

Blair waived preliminary hearing. He holds two Distinguished Service Crosses and three Silver Stars for heroism in World War II and the Korean War. He is held in $50,000 bail.

Blair was captured when a deputy sheriff wrestled his gun away from him after taking a heart attack during the attempted holdup of the Del Monte properties at Pebble Beach.
