

Doctors Support Tranquilizers Use

WASHINGTON — Two experts in the field of psychiatric medicine cast a vote of confidence for tranquilizing drugs and the pharmaceutical houses which make and market them.

The psychiatrists told House investigators that although occasional abuses and honest mistakes occur, these do not warrant charges of misleading and distorted advertising against the great majority of drug firms.

Tranquilizers are not the "happy pills" some people think them to be, the doctors said, but "very important new medical tools" about which a great number of misconceptions have sprung up.

This testimony was prepared for a House Government Operations subcommittee by Dr. Frank J. Ayd, a psychiatrist of Baltimore, Md., and Dr. Nathan S. Kline, director of research for the

100,000 U. S. Troops In Winter Maneuvers

STUTTGART, Germany — More than 100,000 troops of the U. S. 7th Army swung into Operation Sabre Hawk this week. It is the largest winter maneuvers ever held by American forces in Germany.

The men rolled across the provinces of South and Central Germany to test their readiness to help protect West Europe from an armed attack.

The troops will maneuver along a 115-mile front that skirts at points to within 10 miles of the Iron Curtain frontier.

Troops of the 11th Airborne and 8th Infantry Divisions will be airlifted during the week and a half maneuver. Two forces of equal strength will launch attacks and counterattacks with armored units.

COMMITTEE TO MEET

The February meeting of the Douglas County Water Resources Advisory Committee is scheduled Monday night at 7:45. It will be held in the Water Resources Survey office in the basement of the county courthouse.
