Woman To Stand Trial On Manslaughter Count

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A 25-year-old model has been ordered to stand trial on involuntary manslaughter charges following a preliminary hearing at which Glenn Smothers, utility executive from Washington state, told of a party in his hotel room at which two women fought with champagne glasses.

Mrs. Helen Maureen O'Brien, 31, was slashed in the neck and died. The other woman, Artie Elizabeth Bell, was arrested.

Miss Bell is to be arraigned in district court Thursday or Friday. She is free on $2,500 bail.

Smothers is manager of the Grant County (Wash.) PUD with headquarters at Ephrata, Wash.

Driver Of Death Car Charged With Homicide

THE DALLES, Ore. (AP) — The driver of a car that met another head-on Jan. 9 in a collision that caused three deaths was held in the Waso County jail Wednesday on a negligent homicide charge.

He is Jimmy Lee White, 26, of Hood River.

Those killed in the accident were a father and son from Pullman, Wash., Charles T. Webb Jr., 50, and the son, Charles E. Webb. Succumbing later to injuries was Mrs. Rondal Rich, 17, a passenger in White's car.

National Airlines Head Denies Favor On License

WASHINGTON (AP) — President G. T. Baker of National Airlines said Wednesday his firm did not ask or get help from Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower's brother-in-law or FCC member Richard A. Mack in winning a TV license for a subsidiary.

Baker said "pure fabrications . . . vicious lies" had been circulated about the case in connection with the now suspended investigation of federal regulatory agencies by a House Commerce subcommittee.

Baker said newspaper stories attributed to Dr. Bernard Gordon Moore helped swing the FCC (Federal Communications Commission) award of a Miami TV channel to a subsidiary of National Airlines, Inc., and that there are serious charges against FCC Commissioner Mack, including one regarding the FCC award of the TV case to National Airlines' subsidiary.

Moore is married to a sister of Mrs. Eisenhower. Schwartz was fired by the investigating subcommittee, as its counsel, Monday night and its chairman, Rep. Moulder (D-Mo), resigned in protest. Chairman Harris (D-Ark) of the House Commerce Committee then took over the subcommittee chairmanship.

Baker made his denial in a letter to Harris and made it public.

He said allegations about National Airlines and its subsidiary, Public Service Television Inc., are untrue. Public Service Television was awarded a TV channel in Miami by the FCC in a case in which there were other applicants.

Death Rate On Freeways Below That On Other Roads

SALEM (AP) — The Baldock Freeway between Salem and Portland is giving proof that freeways are safer than conventional highways, F. B. Crandall, traffic engineer for the Oregon Highway Commission, said Wednesday.

He said the freeway last year had an accident rate of only 65 per 100 million miles of travel. The rate on the old Pacific Highway between Salem and Oregon City was 2.35, while it was 3.83 between Salem and Albany.

Crandall said, however, he isn't satisfied with the freeway's death rate of 2.8 per 100 million miles of travel. On the Eastern turnpikes, which are comparable to the freeway, the death rate has been about half that.

Rate May Drop

He said he thinks the freeway death rate will drop this year, since the commission has eliminated one major death cause by placing barriers between opposing lanes of traffic at the north end.

There have been 11 deaths on the freeway since it was opened in 1954.

The national death rate on all highways was 5.7 last year, double the freeway rate.

The death rate on Highway 99E between Salem and Oregon City jumped from 3.55 in 1953 to 9.58 last year.

Crandall said the reason probably is that in 1953, when that section carried all north-south Pacific Highway traffic, the highway was congested and people had to drive slowly. Now that the freeway carries most of the through traffic, 99E is less congested and people can drive faster, resulting in more head-on collisions.

Hannah More, famous woman author of the latter part of the 18th Century, always insisted on being called "Mrs. More." However, she never married.

When Asiatic flu bedded professors at Bard College, N.Y., several upperclassmen took over teaching duties in the lower classes.

High School Principals, Ex-Students To Confer

CORVALLIS (AP) — Fifty-nine high school principals will come to Oregon State College Feb. 15 to talk things over with former students of theirs who now are enrolled at OSC.

They will discuss the strong and weak points in the training given in their high schools as it is applied to their college courses.

The principals, after their interviews with the former students, will then confer with college leaders to review the comments.

OSC officials said Monday that the program, now in its sixth year, has brought helpful changes in high school college preparatory work and in the OSC counseling program.

STUDENT EXPELLED

EUGENE (AP) — A 15-year-old South Eugene High School sophomore was expelled from school Tuesday by the Eugene School Board for drinking beer on a school-sponsored ski club trip to Hoodoo Ski Bowl last weekend.

The action came at a special hearing where the boy and his parents appeared. The expulsion will remain in effect for the rest of the school year.

Aly Khan Appointed Representative To UN

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Pakistan has appointed Prince Aly Khan its permanent representative to the United Nations.

An official announcement said the prince — ex-husband of British society woman Joan Yarde-Buller and actress Rita Hayworth—would have the rank of ambassador. He is currently visiting Prime Minister Malik Firoz Khan Noon in Karachi.

The appointment is in the nature of a consolation prize for the 56-year-old eldest son, of the late Aga Khan III. The Aga in his will passed over Aly and named Aly's son Prince Karim to succeed him as head of the Ismaili Moslem sect.

Klamath Folks To Vote On City Manager Form

KLAMATH FALLS (AP) — Residents of Klamath Falls will be asked to vote on May 16, on whether they want to switch to the city manager-council form of government.

The City Council adopted two resolutions here this week, one proposing the charter amendment to pave the way for instituting the manager-council form of government and the other to put the charter change before the voters of the city at the May primary election.

A special committee, headed by Murdo Morrison, local architect and former council member, has been studying the city manager plan for several months.
