

Scientist Parries Question About Explorer III Plans

PASADENA, Calif. — While scientists were still trying to figure out whether Explorer II was in orbit—or in bits—somebody asked about Explorer III. The question was put to director William Pickering of the Caltech Jet Propulsion Laboratory yesterday after he broke the news that Explorer II apparently was not in orbit and may have tumbled from the heavens. Dr. Pickering, whose staff built the last three stages of Explorer II, went over the earlier announcement that the Army has been assigned to launch a third satellite. Then he confirmed that Caltech will build parts of it. But when he was asked the date of the third launching, he said only: "Well, not tomorrow."

Reporters Waited
This exchange came at the tail-end of a news conference report-ers had been waiting for five hours. They figured the first announcement of the satellite's success or failure might come from here, and close to 100 turned out. Dr. Pickering was in contact with Cape Canaveral, Fla., by teletype.

At X minus five minutes, he chuckled like a loyal Californian at the report there were overcast skies in Florida. "Tell 'em we're having a beautiful day here," he instructed his Teletype operator. A few minutes later he told his staff: "One minute and 30 seconds, gentlemen. Everything is normal and the missile is cleared for launching now—and I've got a fouled-up teletype."
But the trouble cleared and the countdown continued. "These are long seconds," Pickering said when it got down to 15. Then: "The fire command has been given. The lift-off was at 10:25, Pacific time. . . ."

Bulgarian Sends Eisenhower New Message Today

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON — Soviet Premier Bulganin sent President Eisenhower a new message Thursday. It reportedly dealt with negotiations for a summit conference and Eisenhower's bid to leading Russian citizens to visit this country.
The message was delivered to Secretary of State Dulles by Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov. Dulles asked Menshikov to return to the State Department four hours later and get a U.S. note to Moscow on Russia's proposal for a pre-summit foreign ministers' meeting.
The U.S. note is expected to welcome Russia's agreement last week to hold a meeting of foreign ministers but to reject as totally unacceptable Soviet terms for such a meeting. The United States particularly objects to an advance commitment to hold a summit conference. It also finds unacceptable Russia's insistence that the foreign ministers should be limited to talking about mechanical arrangements.

Menshikov went to the State Department with Bulganin's message immediately before making a speech at the National Press Club.
University Dry Zone Preserved
PORTLAND — The University of Oregon dry zone was preserved as the Oregon Liquor Control Commission Wednesday for the second time turned down an application from the Foodland Market, Eugene, for a package beer sale license.
The commission again said such an outlet was not necessary to the public interest or convenience.
Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Thornton has ruled that the dry zone has no legal basis. The commission has not licensed beer outlets in the area, saying it was judging each application on its merits.
The commission said it has held a hearing to determine if Fisher's Wharf at Florence was a "disorderly operation." The commission took no action on the establishment's license, however, stating it would "preserve its record of criminal action in Lane County."
In other action, the commission changed its regulations to permit sale of beer in taverns in quart bottles at tables of two or more persons.

Bourguiba May Break With Egypt

TUNIS — President Habib Bourguiba threatened Thursday to break diplomatic relations with Egypt over an alleged Cairo-based plot to assassinate the Tunisian chief of state.
Bourguiba said in a broadcast to his nation that he had informed Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser unless a "serious explanation" was forthcoming of alleged plot, "we no longer have any need of diplomatic relations with Egypt."
The pro-Western Tunisian government, in charging the plot Wednesday, claimed it was headed by the exiled Tunisian extremist leader, Salah Ben Youssef, who is sheltered in Cairo by Nasser's government. Ben Youssef replied that the charge was fabricated to divert Tunisian public opinion from pressing Bourguiba into joining the new United Arab Republic of Egypt and Syria.

Would Break With UAR
Presumably Bourguiba meant he would break with the U. A. R., which has taken over the diplomatic relations of both Egypt and Syria.
From the U. A. R. side came charges that King Saud of Saudi Arabia had plotted to kill Nasser and wreck the new Arab union. It appeared that the Egyptian leader had embarked on a campaign to lump Saud with kings Faisal II and Hussein of the Arab federation as enemies of Arab unity.
The chief adviser of Saud was Lt. Col. Abdul Hamid Serraj, Syrian army intelligence chief. Similar charges were made by an Egyptian witness in a Cairo court, and Nasser himself spoke of a Saudi plot.

Liberace Near Collapse But To Resume Tour

SYDNEY, Australia — Liberace was reported near collapse Thursday because of all the fun he is having playing the music from "My Fair Lady." But he's going ahead with his Australian tour.
A spokesman for the promoter of the American pianist's tour indicated any indisposition wasn't serious.
The pianist announced he would stay in Australia an extra two days to make up for shows he angrily cancelled Wednesday. He walked out on a matinee when threatened with six months in jail if he broke an Australian copyright by playing tunes from the musical.
His sister, Mrs. Ann Farrel, told the Sydney Daily Mirror Liberace is on the verge of collapse "after all this acute pressure he has been under."
Dunne told a reporter, "I am apparently caught in the middle of an international copyright war." Music of the hit Broadway musical has not yet been released outside the United States.

Little Hope Held Out Explorer II In Orbit

properly and no orbit was achieved, the missile's speed would have been insufficient to cause it to burn up from atmospheric friction on the descent. They said it might break apart from the stresses of such a fall, however, and return to earth in shattered pieces.
Information from the rocket indicated that, exactly as planned, the Jupiter-C.
Bored up through the sky for two and a half minutes to an altitude of about 30 miles, at which point its rocketry engine gulped the last of its secret, powerful new hydine fuel.
Coasted upward for four minutes to an altitude of about 200 miles, and then tilted over to the horizontal.
Jelled forward with terrific acceleration for six seconds, as 11 rockets of its second stage fired up and as the spent Redstone fell away into the ocean about 300 miles off the Florida coast.
Shot away to new velocities, for six seconds, as the three rockets of the third stage fired.
It was at this point that the final stage, a single rocket mated with the satellite capsule into an 80-inch tube, was to have ignited and pushed the rocket to orbital speed.
And this, said some persons who claimed to know, was where Explorer II failed.
Porter said an effort would be made to start one of the two radio aboard the missing satellite.
He said that triggering radio beams would be aimed at the approximate orbit area planned for the satellite.
If the satellite is anywhere around and the radio equipment is undamaged, it should be possible to induce the radio to start sending signals, he added.

Committee Begins Work On Local School Budget

and not education." He said he believes those taking advantage of the lunch program should be willing to foot the bill.
Federal Help Wanted
Key to the lunch program problem is the federal government's part in cutting off the supply of surplus commodities which formerly subsidized the program.
Most of the committeemen agreed with the lunch delegation that some schools should not be singled out for "discrimination," Harold Hoyt, school board chairman, said. "I feel if we have the lunch program we should have it in all schools. The problem is, should we have the program?"
The answer to his question will be supplied in other budget meetings and ultimately will be found in the 1958-59 budget.
In a brief report before the committee before his administration estimate, Deller said the district may receive $967,000 from the rural school district under the new formula. He hastened to warn that this was purely an estimate which had been supplied him.
Expenses $2 1/2 million
The total expenditures in the rough draft of the budget comes to $2,537,119.81.
Deller pointed out that part of the reason for the budget size was his inclusion of items which had been under discussion by the board and which need to be settled. Some of these may be financed by means other than through the budget. He said he was unable to estimate the millage which would be required to raise the year's money. It came to 34.3 mills for 1958-57 and 60 the year before.
Facing the budget committee, along with hot lunches, is adult education. This program has been subsidized out of basic school support funds, but this state help was ended with the adoption of the new formula.
Program Needs $5,000
After hearing that the adult education director, Richard Boss, estimated it would require about $5,000 to continue the program as it is being conducted, the committee discussed the program and then tabled the matter pending receipt of further information from Deller.
Gordon Smith, chairman of the committee, suggested members devote some thought to the questions of an improved science program, school lunches and warehouse construction prior to the next session.
Deller briefly outlined the plans for the science department and said the architects' estimate for modernizing and enlarging the department comes to $80,000. He said the department "has been practically untouched" since it was built in 1926.

Youth Who Shot Father Put In School For Boys

LAS CRUCES, N.M. — John Boyett, 14, who shot his minister father to death a week ago as he prepared a switch, has been committed to the New Mexico School for Boys.
John was sent to the institution after he is 18 after a hearing in which his mother said she wished she had broken up the home two years ago as she had planned.
The Rev. Leonard J. Boyett, 41, pastor of the Grandview Baptist church, was shot while he prepared to punish John and his twin brother Jack.
"I wish I had followed my first intuition and left my husband two years ago," Mrs. Boyett told Dist. Judge W. T. Scoggin. "But I was afraid a broken family would be hard on the boys."
The distraught mother testified she once told her husband she would refuse to attend social functions if he did not stop "fussing at the boys in public."
Mrs. Boyett said her sons were not allowed to go to the movies or attend school dances.

Carl Cook, 84 Riversdale, Dies

A 25-year resident of this community, Carl William Cook, 84, died early this morning at the home of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Cook, Quail Lane in Riversdale.
He was born at Miller, Ind. Feb. 22, 1874, and was married June 19, 1903, to Hanna Gustava Nilsson who preceded him in death Dec. 12, 1956. He and the late Mrs. Cook celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in 1953. Cook was a charter member of the Riversdale Grange.
The couple took up residence here in 1922, moving from Seattle, and engaged in farming.
Other survivors include two brothers, Clarence of Seattle, and Roy of San Diego.
Funeral services will be held in the chapel of the Long and Orr Mortuary, Saturday, at 10:30 a.m. with the Rev. John Adams of the First Presbyterian Church officiating. Following services here, the body will be taken to Seattle for interment beside his wife in the Washelli Cemetery.

Jessie M. Paddock Of Riddle Passes

Mrs. Jessie M. Paddock, 63, known resident of Riddle, died Tuesday evening at Riddle.
She was born July 31, 1894 at Lakin, Kans., and was married to Ralph M. Paddock, Dec. 19, 1915. They moved to Riddle 23 years ago where they had resided since.
Mrs. Paddock was a charter member of the Tri-City Presbyterian Church and a member of the Myrtle Creek Grange.
Besides her husband, she is survived by one brother, G. C. Whiteraker, Garden City, Kan., and several nephews and nieces.
Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Tri-City Presbyterian Church with Rev. J. Elbert Nash officiating. Interment will follow in the Riddle Cemetery. Ganzz Mortuary, Myrtle Creek, has charge of arrangements.

Brame On Stand Hints Poisoning Possibility

resulted in removal of a kidney in 1948.
He was asked the effect of his wife's disability on his Army career.
"I'd say it ruined my Army career," he replied. He related that he was not able to follow his specialty because he was kept on compassionate assignment due to his wife's health. Compassionate assignment, he said, is a service term meaning military service confined to locations at which immediate medical or other aid is available.
Stationed Near Denver
He said he last was stationed near Denver so that his wife could have access to Fitzsimons General Hospital.
Asked why he retired, Brame said, "due to the poor health of my wife." Brame spent 23 continuous years in the Army and retired as a major.
He said his wife sought a divorce because of religious considerations.
"The subject (divorce) had been broached because of her health," said Brame. "She realized she was going to die shortly and wanted to go back to the church."
He said his wife was Catholic. Under Catholic doctrine, a divorced woman's second marriage is considered bigamy, his wife was not married to him because she had been married before.
"She couldn't go to confession, as long as she was married to me and that was the primary reason she wanted a divorce," he added.
Disatisfied
He said his wife also was "dissatisfied with our meager existence."
The state's final witness was Louis Schultz, Grants Pass attorney who filed the divorce complaint for Mrs. Brame on April 24. He testified that Mrs. Brame sought custody of the couple's two children and support, and that Brame had appeared at a preliminary hearing and had filed an answer.
Mrs. Brame was shot six times as she talked with Brame across the street from her Grants Pass residence. The defense is attempting to prove Brame innocent by reason of insanity.

Friday because "it's just too close to the line."
The 26 returnees, who also included a West German businessman, his wife and 22 South Koreans, were turned over at the Panmunjom truce headquarters after Allied representatives gave the Communists receipts for them.
The release was delayed several hours by a South Korean refusal to sign the release receipts. The South Korean said he felt the phrase that the release was "authorized by the People's Republic of Korea," North Korea's official name, constituted a recognition of the Red regime.
Representatives of the U.S. Embassy and the West German legation signed for their nationals without any objection.
The 26 were taken by bus to the U.N. base camp in the neutral zone for a medical checkup.

Chartered Plane With Six Aboard Reported Missing

KODIAK, Alaska — A chartered airplane carrying six persons vanished over the misty Gulf of Alaska east of here Wednesday and was presumed to have crashed into the sea.
The twin-engine Aero Commander, piloted by Sig Staveland from Cape Chukotka to Anchorage, disappeared after Staveland radioed that both engines had quit.
At the time of last radio contact, Staveland gave his position as 23 miles east-northeast of Kodiak, in the vicinity of Marmot Island.
The Civil Aeronautics Administration at Anchorage said three of those with Staveland were Dale Roetman and George Stiles, employees of the Alaska Aggregate Corp.; and Henry P. Herlyn, a Phillips Petroleum Corp. geologist. All were from the Anchorage area.
At Bartlesville, Okla., A.A. Ben nett of Phillips' foreign department said Bert Poling, general manager and vice president of Alaska Aggregate, was one of the passengers. The plane was under charter to Phillips.
The CAA said Staveland radioed after leaving Cape Chukotka that one engine had failed. The CAA directed him to land at Kodiak, but he radioed before reaching here that the second engine had quit.
The CAA last made contact with him at 11 a.m.
Six Coast Guard and Navy boats started an immediate search. A Civil Air Patrol plane participated in the search until nightfall.

Princess Grace Expects Second Child Very Soon

MONTE CARLO — Dr. Pierre Hervet arrived at the Monaco royal palace Thursday to be in constant readiness for the birth of a second child to Princess Grace and Prince Rainier.
The Paris specialist, who delivered Princess Caroline, told a palace spokesman he thinks the baby will arrive between the 10th and 15th.
Funeral services will be held in the chapel of the Long and Orr Mortuary, Saturday, at 10:30 a.m. with the Rev. John Adams of the First Presbyterian Church officiating. Following services here, the body will be taken to Seattle for interment beside his wife in the Washelli Cemetery.

Snow Reported In Some Areas Of Douglas Co.

Winter has come to Douglas County in the form of hail, snow, fog and freezing temperatures.
Snow was reported falling in Canyonville about 4:30 p.m. Wednesday and at Glendale about 7 p.m. Snow was also reported in Camas Valley this morning.
The temperature dipped to a low of 29 in Roseburg Wednesday night and zero-zero for closed in on the Roseburg airport early today. At 7 visibility was three quarters of a mile and the ceiling was 200 feet. Roseburg Gets Hail!
One tenth of an inch of hail was on the ground in Roseburg between 5:55 and 6:05 Wednesday night, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau station at the Roseburg airport.
Temperatures throughout the state were down to freezing or lower, except on the coast, the bureau said. Redmond had a low of 16 at 4 a.m.
A storm in the Gulf of Alaska is moving in the direction of Roseburg and might hit the area tonight or Friday. The storm will be in the form of showers, the bureau said.
The forecast calls for increasing clouds with occasional rain tonight and Friday, clearing partly Friday afternoon with continuing cool temperatures. A low of 26 is forecast for tonight.

Hawaii Deluged By Severe Storm; Rain Record Set

HONOLULU — Hawaii's heaviest recorded rainfall drenched Honolulu with 17.58 inches of rain in 27 hours up to 3 a.m. Thursday. The downpour was continuing.
The Weather Bureau announced an all-time precipitation of 16.78 inches in the 24 hour recording period (2 a.m. to 2 a.m.). The old record set in 1917 was 13.32 inches for a 24 hour period.
At least one man lost his life. Shinichi Koyanagi, 57-year-old Honolulu fisherman, was swept off the tuna boat Fuji Maru by a huge wave about a mile off Pearl Harbor Wednesday.
Two boys were believed drowned while swimming in flooded Punahoa stream. They had not been found.
Families were forced from their homes. Schools were closed and plane flights were cancelled or delayed.
The Weather Bureau said the storm, moving to the east, probably would ease off Thursday.
The Red Cross set up three evacuation centers.
Small craft sank at their moorings in the Ala Wai yacht harbor. The Coast Guard helped refloat them.
An electrical worker was reported washed into a drainage canal but was pulled out safely.
The storm flooded homes, forced postponement of at least 19 Military Air Transport Service flights, and put a big radio station off the air for 18 hours.
Two FBI Crusader jets crashed after taking off from the carrier Hancock, operating in Hawaiian waters. One pilot was killed, one rescued. Names were withheld. Seven other Hancock pilots landed at Navy or Marine air stations on Oahu.
