Cardinal Stritch's Condition Unchanged

ROME — Samuel Cardinal Stritch rested well for the second night since he suffered a stroke but his condition today remained grave. A brief medical bulletin disclosed for the first time that the 70-year-old Archbishop of Chicago had a slight fever. It said his condition was unchanged. The cardinal's private secretary, Msgr. James Hardiman of Chicago, said the prelate was able to receive communion this morning. Msgr. Hardiman spent the night at the cardinal's bedside. The cerebral thrombosis that hit the cardinal two days ago—three weeks after the amputation of his right arm—left him partly paralyzed and restricted his speech to a whispered "yes" or "no." The stroke canceled plans for celebration today of the 48th anniversary of his ordination as a priest.
