

GV Garden Club Studies Art Of Flower Arranging

By ADDIE SCHNEIDER
Members of the Garden Club were assisted in correct flower arrangements at the last meeting by Mrs. Kenneth Ford and Mrs. J. M. Boyles.

Hostess, Mrs. Hugh Ritchie, invited all members to bring arrangements which were judged non-competitively by Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Boyles. Purpose of the lesson was to provide home gardeners with ideas that will enable them to use flowers in their home and still apply sound principles of approved flower arrangements for competitive flower shows.

Care must be taken to select the right size and color of container according to size and height of flowers used. Large and bright colored flowers need to be used low in the arrangements. A few flowers are better than a large mass of blossoms.

Mrs. Wallace Wright will be hostess at the June meeting.

Several Garden Valley college students took advantage of the long weekend and spent time with their parents. Henry Booth, a senior of the University of Oregon, arrived to be with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Booth.

DEN-IN THE ROUND — Mrs. Hugh Pope stands by glass studio designed by her architect husband at Kingston Hill, Eng. Pope, his wife and a friend built geodesic in two days.

ROUND TRIPPER? — With the recovery of the nose cone of a Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile the United States has gone a long way in solving the re-entry problem. While construction details are secret, this picture, released by General Electric, shows a fully checked out and operational nose cone (arrow) being repacked in its carrier case at Cape Canaveral, Fla. The blunt front, or "shield," of the nose cone remains seated in the lower part of the case until the nose cone is ultimately mated with the missile. The nose is blunted to produce the high-drag-to-weight design. This would reduce speeds from 15,000 to perhaps 500 miles an hour and reduce 95 per cent of the heat from friction with the atmosphere. A sharp nose cone burns up on re-entry like a meteor or like the spent Russian Sputniks I and II.

ONE-MAN ARSENAL — The 1951 gift of a rifle, that a friend didn't want, started Ray Weing on a gun toad. Fascinated by the 45-70 Springfield, a post-Civil War gun, Ray has added more than 400 weapons to his one-man arsenal. He is shown with part of his collection in the game room of his home in Blackhawk, a suburb of Pittsburgh. The walls of the room are lined with pre-Civil War rifles and muskets, and the cases have little room left for more antique revolvers and pistols.

House Banking Group
Oklays Loans To Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Banking Committee approved Wednesday a bill authorizing a two billion dollar program of federal loans to municipalities for construction of local public facilities.

The committee sent the bill to the House by 16-6 vote in the face of Republican predictions of a presidential veto.

The huge economic pump-priming measure doubles the billion dollar amount voted last month by the Senate and establishes much more favorable interest terms on the proposed 50-year construction loans.
